

24-Hour Traffic Toll Rises to 7 as Crash Kills 4 Near Union City

Injuries Fatal to Night Watchman Here; 2 Undertakers Die as Ambulance Hits Bus

Four persons were killed today in a Randolph County collision, bringing the Indiana traffic death toll of the past 24 hours to seven. Six others were injured in the early morning crash at U. S. 36 and Ind. 227, about 12 miles north of Union City, state police reported.

Sixteen others were hurt, some critically, in an ambulance bus crash and other highway mishaps yesterday and last night.

Dead in this morning's crash were Mrs. Ida Brinkman, 60, of Minster, O., and Mrs. Hedwig Hanold, of Wapakoneta, O., both en route to California with their husbands, and Captain J. Hazler, 43, and John Clark, both in Richfield, Ind.

The women's husbands, Harry A. Brinkman, 60, and Clark Hanold, were both injured seriously and taken to Greenville, O., hospital.

3 in Hospital
Dick Kantner, 25, Norman Nottingham, 20, and Charles Rose, 43, all of Union City, were also injured seriously and taken to a Union City, Ind., hospital. Robert Hartzell, Union City, O., sixth man in the workers' car, was treated and released.

Police said the accident occurred when the workers' car apparently failed to stop for a through U. S. 36 and crashed into the California-bound vehicle.

Three others were dead, including an Indianapolis man, and 16 more injured as the result of accidents yesterday.

Another traffic victim died yesterday as the result of injuries.

The dead:
Cassius M. Kyle, 79, 1016 E. Palmer St.

Lamont Hufty, 45, and son, Robert L., 23, of Kentland.

Mrs. Dorothy Bennett, 60, of Fowler.

Mr. Hufty, a Kentland funeral director, and his son were killed instantly last night when their ambulance crashed into a Great Lakes Greyhound bus on U. S. 52, just south of the junction of U. S. 41.

Thirteen Injured

The bus driver, Roland J. Plummer, 402 Congress Ave., Indianapolis, and 12 passengers were injured, some of them critically.

Mr. Plummer told state police the ambulance, running at a fast rate of speed, failed to negotiate a curve in the highway and crashed head-on into the bus.

Police said it was impossible to determine which of the dead men had been driving the ambulance. The front of the vehicle was crushed by the impact as was the left front and side of the bus.

Confined to St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Lafayette today were Mr. Plummer; Mrs. Elizabeth R. Lewis, 86, Chicago; Miss Therese Ann Sweeney, 21, 3546 Balsam Ave., Indianapolis; Mrs. Ivey E. Crites, Winston-Salem, N. C., and Mrs. Thomas Brown, 54, of Sparta, Tenn.

Night Watchman Killed

Those treated and released at the hospital were Mrs. Maryanne Dierich, 20, Chicago; Pfc. Joseph Anderson, Ft. Knox, Ky.; Mrs. Leonard Kivit, 65, Clearwater, Fla.; Walter Elkins, 20, Gary; Mrs. Elmer White, 38, and her son, Billy Wayne, of Hammond.

Mr. Kyle, night watchman at the Fountain Square State Bank, was killed instantly when struck by two automobiles while walking across Virginia Ave. at Grove Ave.

Police said Mr. Kyle was first struck by a car operated by Walter Daupert, 29, of Clermont and then knocked into the path of another automobile driven by James Renick, 38, of 1802 Troy Ave.

Mr. Renick told police he attempted to swerve away from the pedestrian when he saw him struck by the other car but was unable to avoid passing over the victim's body.

Doctors on a General ambulance attributed death to a fractured skull.

State Granted Right to Scan Death Evidence

Sander Defense Told To Produce Section Of Vein in Court

By H. B. QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
MANCHESTER, N. H., Mar. 8

The prosecution today won the right to examine medical evidence on which Dr. Hermann N. Sander's defense bases his claim that his patient was dead when Supreme Judge Harold E. Westcott recessed court until 1:30 p. m. to give defense counsel Robert P. Booth time to bring the vein section to court.

Try to Shake Story

The state's demand for the evidence came as prosecutors tried to shake the story of Harvard Pathologist Richard Ford, the star defense medical witness. Dr. Ford testified previously that his examination of the vein indicated Mrs. Borroto did not die of the air injection.

He based this on puncture wounds and discovery of a blood clot in the vein.

Attorney General William L. Phinney demanded to know why the two prosecution medical experts were not given a chance to examine the vein, and Dr. Ford said he hadn't agreed to give the state everything he discovered when he performed a belated autopsy for the defense.

Chief Defense Attorney Louis E. Wyman rose and said the state had made no request for the vein which had been left at the home of his associate, Mr. Booth.

"There's a request for it right now," Mr. Phinney snapped, and Mr. Booth agreed to produce the vein.

Police said a car operated by Norman Kitts, 26, of 1316 Carrollton Ave., apparently skidded on the street and into the standard.

Mr. Kitts, his wife, Margaret, 26, and William F. Kitts, 31, of San Francisco, Cal., were all admitted to General Hospital with multiple injuries. All were reported in fair condition today.

Mrs. Bennett died in a Lafayette hospital of injuries received Sunday.

Police said an automobile operated by her husband, John, rammed into a parked car in the driving lane of U. S. 52 northwest of Lafayette.
