

Backs World Federation Resolution

N. D. Professor, Senate Candidate, Presents Petition

By DAN KIDNEY
Times Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Mar. 9.—A petition supporting the World Federation resolution was presented to Congress today by professor Charles E. Price of Notre Dame University, announced

The petition was signed by 180 Gary citizens and urged a federal government of the world as the one way to preserve peace and prevent the devastation of an atomic-weapons war.

Mr. Price, who heads the Notre Dame chemistry department, said his Senate candidacy is based on his hope of fostering world federation and not personal aggrandizement. He terms the plan the one best hope for world peace. He is a Quaker and graduate of Swarthmore college. He is Indiana chairman and a member of the executive council of the United World Federalists.

Presented to Senator

The Gary petition was presented to Rep. Brooks Hays (D. Ark.), one of the original sponsors of the World Federation resolution introduced in the House June 7, 1949, by Mr. Hays and Rep. Walter Judd (R. Minn.) on behalf of over 100 House members. An identical resolution also is sponsored by 22 Senators.

Mr. Price explained that the Gary petition supplements a similar one signed by 800 citizens from other parts of Indiana previously presented to Democratic Reps. Andrew Jacobs, Indianapolis; Thurmaw Crook, South Bend; Winfield K. Denton, Evansville, and James E. Noland, Bloomington, who are among the resolution sponsors in the House.

Resolution Wording

The resolution reads: "Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate concurring, that it is the sense of the Congress that it should be a fundamental objective of the foreign policy of the United States to support and strengthen the United Nations and to seek its development into a world federation open to all nations with defined and limited powers adequate to preserve peace and prevent aggression through the enactment, interpretation and enforcement of world law."

"World federation is the price we must pay for peace and freedom," Mr. Price maintains.

At the moment it seems as remote as the possibility of his obtaining the Democratic senatorial nomination he admits. This is his first try in Indiana's politics. He is 37, born in New Jersey of Pennsylvania Quaker parents.

Sander's Counselor

Pleads Tearfully

Asks Acquittal in Summation to Jury

"There's more than a reasonable doubt that 40 cubic centimeters of air ever in any way affected the life of Mrs. Borroto; more than a reasonable doubt far more — that this man, respected in his community, devoted to this family, conscientious in the treatment of his patients, should have committed such a wicked and malicious act as to take a life no matter how short a time the woman had to live."

"I ask you to consider his past life and the possibility of his future life in the service of his family, his community, his people."

"We ask that when you come back here you bring in a verdict of not guilty."

As he talked, Dr. Sander sat stoically, watching his every move.

Occasionally the sunlight streaming in the yellow-walled and hushed courtroom would glint from his steel-rimmed spectacles.

"We think the evidence is overwhelming that this respondent is not guilty, that in whatever he did that he is charged with by the state, there was no malice and at least there is reasonable doubt," Mr. Wyman said.

Speaks in Low Voice

The white-haired lawyer said the defense did not have to prove Mrs. Borroto was dead when Dr. Sander injected air into her left arm.

"It is for the state to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that the woman was living and that whatever he was charged with doing caused the death of a living person and that it was done with malice aforethought.

Speaking extemporaneously and in a low voice, Mr. Wyman said: "A verdict of not guilty is required because of all the evidence." Mr. Wyman said the jury will have four possible verdicts.

The possible verdicts, Mr. Wyman said, are:

ONE: First degree murder (with capital punishment).

TWO: First degree murder (with life imprisonment).

THREE: Second degree murder (up to life).

FOUR: Acquittal.

"The state will not ask you for capital punishment, I'm sure, Mr. Wyman said in the hushed courtroom. "This is not that kind of a case."

Ukuleles Coming Back

NEW YORK (UPI)—The ukulele standard equipment of the really "hep" college boy in the 1920's is making a comeback. Jay Kraus, president of a company which makes ukes, says about 300,000 instruments will be manufactured this year compared with 40,000 to 80,000 before the war.

RADISHES A TONIC

One reason that people like radishes in the early spring, it is said, is because they act as a spring tonic due to their sulfur and bromine content.

"It is considered important," State Department spokesman Michael J. McDermott said, "that any misunderstanding of the Soviet government in regard to the Gubitchev case should not have the consequence of prejudicing the situation of American citizens now in eastern Europe, including diplomatic officers and other government officials."

Files Candidacy For Judgeship

Paul B. Clark, attorney and president of the Marion County Council, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for judge of Superior Court 5.

A graduate of Indiana University, Mr. Clark has practiced law here for 24 years and is a member of the Indianapolis Bar Association and the Indianapolis Lawyers Association.

A native of the West Side, Mr. Clark has been active in many civic affairs for many years. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge and the I. M. Men's Association, a group of Indiana University letter men.

He lives with his family at 432 N. Riley Ave.

Trends In Transportation For Toddlers—Sleigh-Buggies And 'Tot Rods'

Travel tips for the 3-year-old and under are contained in the pictures above. At Glenview, Ill., Dr. K. Wessely (left) supervises an old-fashioned sleigh ride for his 2-year-old son, Billy. Wrinkly, the Great Dane, supplies the power for Billy's converted buggy.

The same idea—making the baby carriage into a sled (center)—was shown recently by a carriage manufacturer in New York. The "baby skis" are raised and lowered by a lever on the back wheels. For travel indoors, airline pilot Capt. L. I. Powell of Denver (right) invented this "tot-rod" to please his two sons, Bradley, 3, and Rex, 2.

The "tot-rod" answers the problem of finding a steerable vehicle without pedals for toddlers. The boys register approving interest in the three-wheeled speedster.

Deportation Order Cancels Red's Term

was arrested illegally, tried on a "artificially manufactured case," and that the FBI subjected him to "many hours of examination . . . in order to get from me information about USSR industrial and military affairs."

Gubitchev stood calmly checking Dr. Guinzburg's translation. The interpreter, head and shoulders taller than the short, dapper Russian, stood beside Gubitchev through the rest of the proceedings, interpreting for him.

Following the presentation by U. S. Atty. Irving Saypol of the government's request for deportation, Judge Ryan told Gubitchev that he had had a fair trial under the protection of U. S. laws, "with all the privileges it offers to those accused of crime," including the services of counsel of his own choosing and the advice of a representative of his own country.

"You came here as an emissary of peace," Judge Ryan said. "You were accepted among us in the role of a friend, you violated your office in the secretariat in the United Nations of the world. . . . You betrayed the cause of peace. You stand convicted before the world as the betrayer of all human mankind. . . . By your acts you attempted to destroy the hope of all mankind to avoid war and establish peace. . . . You do that with arrogance, with a smile on your lips and face as you stand here before me for sentence."

Judge Ryan then sentenced Gubitchev to the maximum prison term for each of the two counts for which he was convicted and increased the severity of the sentence by decreeing that the five and 10-year terms be served consecutively rather than concurrently.

He then remanded Gubitchev to jail and said that when arrangements for his deportation were completed he could be brought back to court for suspension of sentence.

Act to Prevent Russ Retaliation

WASHINGTON, Mar. 9 (UPI)—

The State Department hinted today that Valentin A. Gubitchev is being offered a chance to leave the United States to prevent Soviet retaliation against American citizens in Russia and other eastern European countries.

"It is considered important," State Department spokesman Michael J. McDermott said, "that any misunderstanding of the Soviet government in regard to the Gubitchev case should not have the consequence of prejudicing the situation of American citizens now in eastern Europe, including diplomatic officers and other government officials."

Todd Eligible for Parole Again

Charges Not Substantiated

The Clemency Commission rec-

Commutation of the Clark sen-
