Keep Many Cards in Your Hand

Makes Getting Pile Easier

By OSWALD JACOBY

AFTER YOU have played canasta a few times, you understand the importance and the value of keeping a large number of cards in your hand.

This is particularly important when you are trying to pick up a frozen discard pile.

For example, suppose you have 20 cards in your hand. It might be fairly simple for you to hold eight pairs and four odd cards. Since there are only 11 denominations altogether (aces, kings, queens, . . . down to fours), you are a heavy favorite to get the pack quickly when you hold as many as eight different pairs.

Your opponent can discard safely only from three denominations; and the odds are that he either will not hold enough safe cards or will not know which cards are safe.

Other Extreme

Now consider the other extreme. You hold only three cards in your hand. At most you can have but one pair, and you may not have even that.

It is almost impossible for you to try to get the pack since even if you are lucky enough to have a pair, the opponent at your right is not likely to hit upon that particular denomination to discard.

The advantage of holding many cards applies also when you are trying to find a safe discard. With 20 cards in your hand, you are bound to have a wide choice.

Assuming that you know what is safe, you will probably be in a position to throw a safe card. With only three cards in your hand, you may be helpless even though you are quite sure which cards are safe and which are unsafe.

You may hold only dangerous cards, and you will be compelled to throw one of them.

I have taken extreme cases to show the general principle. Usually you will not hold as many as 20 cards or as few as three.

But the general principle holds good. The more cards you hold, the better chance you have to get the pack and the easier it is for you to find a safe discard.

Summer Plans Set by Teens

By JOAN SCHOEMAKER. SUMMER PLANS cover a wide range for three Manual High School students. Two teenagers plan vacations and visits with friends and relatives. A third hopes to include working in the schedule.

Etta Preston, senior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Preston, 318 E. Minnesota St.

"There's a lot to do this summer," says Etta. "I've gone to summer school for the past three summers, so this year instead of going to institutes, etc., I hope to work."

"The first step, I guess, is to go to the YWCA and try to learn to swim. Then I can go to a lake. Right now I can just about save myself, and that's all. Last year I spent a couple of weeks in Chicago with my aunt. I'd like to do that again this year. We go to the lake for a couple of days and see all the shows there, too."

Louise Layden has one big ambition for this summer—that's to learn to be a life-guard. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Layden, 638 Prospect St.

"The first step, I guess, is to go to the YWCA and try to learn to swim. Then I can go to a lake. Right now I can just about save myself, and that's all. Last year I spent a couple of weeks in Chicago with my aunt. I'd like to do that again this year. We go to the lake for a couple of days and see all the shows there, too."

Louise is a member of the Senior Choir, Baton Club and Pep Club. She hopes to work in a department store, possibly as a hairdresser, when school days are over.

Etta hopes to teach English in the upper elementary grades after she finishes college. She is editor-in-chief of the bi-weekly school paper. She received the award for the senior girl most outstanding in speech, and won the extemporaneous speaking contest for the history department. She is a member of the Dramatics Club, Mask and Wig, and the Latin Club.

"I'm going to have a good time," says Raymond Gran. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Gran, 1529 Markwood Ave.

"I usually stay most of the summer in the Bronx with my grandmother. I lived there about 12 years, and I still have lots of friends there. Most of the time I'll just mess around. It's too crowded and hot to go to the ball games, but I belong to a junior league. I'll be a member of the intermediates this season and we'll play quite a few games. I'll also do a little swimming and bike riding."

Miss Joan Davis, pianist, will give the afternoon musical program.

New officers for the coming year will be installed after the 12:30 p. m. luncheon.

They are Mrs. V. S. Lamerson, president; Mrs. Fred Allen and Mrs. Howard Day, first and second vice presidents; Mrs. Harry Burton and Mrs. Arlie Morpheus, recording and corresponding secretaries; Mrs. Raymond Fox, treasurer, and Mrs. Lester Day and Mrs. C. R. Maple, directors.

Miss Joan Davis, pianist, will give the afternoon musical program.

Wedding Scheduled for Today

Wanda Hobson to Become Bride

A trip to Washington will follow the 2:30 o'clock wedding today of Miss Wanda Lee Hobson and Lynus Kendall Hickman.

The couple will exchange vows in the Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church. The Rev. Frederick Daries will officiate.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Hobson, 1475 Roosevelt Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. John Hickman, 3131 N. Eastern Ave., are the bridegroom's parents.

Miss Marcia Bratton, maid of honor, will wear blue organdy. The bridesmaids, Miss Frances Oden and Miss Willa Jean Hickman, will be in yellow organdy. They will carry blue and yellow roses.

Wears White Satin

The bride will wear a white satin and tulle gown. The fitted bodice has a sheer yoke and tulle bertha accented with satin rose buds. The bouffant skirt is edged with ruffles and extends into a cathedral train. A tulle of Chantilly lace will hold the fingertip illusion veil. The bride will carry white flowers.

Jean Paul Christy will be the best man. Ushers will be Robert Parker and Charles Shank.

The reception will be in the church. For her trip the bride will wear a pink linen dress with pink and white accessories.

The couple will be at home in Terre Haute. The bride attended Indiana Central College.

9th Grader Wins Safety Poster Contest

Nancy Popper, 14-year-old ninth grader from New York City, recently won the grand award in the 6th annual school safety poster contest. The contest was sponsored by the American Automobile Association.

Nancy's poster, one of 4400 entries from parochial and private schools in 37 states, illustrated the safety rule, "Keep From Between Parked Cars."

Hibben School Ends 33d Year This Week

The Hibben School for Young Children, 5237 Pleasant Run Pkwy., S. Drive, will close its 33d year of work with East Side children Friday. Parents of children attending the school are invited to visit classes from 9:30 to 11 a. m. that day.

School will follow its usual routine of work and play, music, art and dramatics and will complete a project during the morning. Miss Helene Hibben, school founder and director, will address the visiting parents at 11 a. m. in the reception room. Parental problems will be discussed.

The summer outdoor sessions will open July 10. Enrollees will be limited to children from 3½ to 8 years of age including former students, "Hibben graduates."

Miss Hibben will teach the group.
