

Family Blasts Report On GI's Peace Bid

Charges by Russia's Jacob Malik that an Indianapolis Army officer signed a so-called "petition for peace" in Korea is "too ridiculous to even talk about."

This was the response of the family of Lt. William F. Jester, a prisoner of war of the North Koreans, to Mr. Malik's report that Lt. Jester signed a telegram calling for withdrawal of U. S. troops from Korea.

Mr. Malik exhibited the telegram in yesterday's session of the United Nations Security Council. The names of Lt. Jester and 38 other captured Americans were "signed" to a telegram which stated:

"There is no sense, no need for continuation of this war. Further intervention by the United States will result in great and needless loss of young American life.

"U. S. Must Withdraw"

"While there is yet time, while many are still living who may otherwise fall dead, America must and should withdraw its forces from Korea."

"I think it's too ridiculous to even talk about," commented the captured Hoosier's mother, Mrs. Anna M. Jester, 9510 E. 10th St. Anyone who can read or listen to the radio knows what line of thought the Russians follow."

"We do feel grateful for the telegram in one respect," she added. "The fact that they used his name reassures us that he is still all right."

Reported Missing

Lt. Jester was first reported missing in action in Korea and reported a prisoner of war Monday. The family has had no additional word about him until Mr. Malik's telegram yesterday.

Veteran of 27 months service in World War II, Sgt. Jester fought in the African, Sicilian, Italian and European battles.

Two weeks ago Moscow's Literary Gazette labeled Sgt. Paul Robert Sanders of Shoals as a "typical Indiana gangster" and identified him as the son of a "rich Indiana farmer" in a story purporting to show the "uncultured" aspects of American fighters. So-called "quotes" from the Hoosier youth were repudiated not only by his family but the very facts themselves.

Actual cash income of his parent, Mr. and Mrs. John Sanders of rural Shoals, last year was a little more than $80.

With their son's $40 monthly allotment they are now building with their own hands a home for "Bob," a typical Hoosier farmer boy, to come home to when the war is over.

Plan Aid for the Handicapped

Helping the handicapped help themselves is the aim of these four civic leaders, who met yesterday to launch plans for Employ the Physically Handicapped Week, Oct. 1-7. Discussing plans yesterday for the week's "kick-off luncheon" Oct. 2 were (left to right) Miss Irene C. Boughton, president of Indianapolis Business and Professional Women's Club; Miss Ruth M. Hoover, president of Indianapolis Altruists Club; Tom Hasbrook of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Paul Schmidt, president of Lodge 122 of the American Federation of the Physically Handicapped.

Fund Hearings May End Today

Because few citizens have appeared at the Marion County Council's public hearing on appropriations for next year, the hearing were expected to end today.

Originally scheduled to last through Friday, the hearings with the exception of those on the Welfare Department budget, have been almost unattended.

Today hearings were on budgets for Building and Plan Commissions, offices of the Recorder, Surveyor, and Prosecutor, Juvenile Court, Juvenile Center, Probation Department, and the County Agent's office.

Budgets which would allocate funds totaling more than $2 million were up for discussion yesterday, but no one was there to hear except councilmen, representatives of the Indiana Taxpayers

Association and the Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce.

Council candidates for next year were invited to the meetings, "to get an inside peak at the workings of the council," but only one candidate appeared for the hearings. He was Howard S. Morse, Republican candidate for councilman.

City Garbage Workers Strike

Wildcat Walkout Halts Collection

One Indianapolis district, from 21st St. to 10th St. between White River and the eastern city limits, had its last collection a week ago.

City Controller Philip Bayt said striking employees will be asked by telegram to return to work tomorrow morning on regular schedules.

Plan Driver Shift

If they refuse, plans are to shift drivers from other city departments to temporary collection duty. Mr. Bayt said no more than one day's collection loss was expected.

City officials said they were unable to grant higher pay increases for the strikers because the demands were made after the 1951 budget proposal was advertised for public hearing. This prohibited legal change in pay rates, they said.

City Council approved the budget and new pay scales Monday. The union was notified yesterday and followed with the walkout today.
