Tyrone Seeks Alimony Relief

Wants Cash Settlement In Place of $200,000

By Erskine Johnson

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 5—Exclusively Yours: Tyrone Power is trying to make a cash settlement with Annabella to relieve him of staggering alimony payments. The figure, I hear, is $200,000. . . . Polly Moran, the veteran comedienne, will try for a movie comeback after a long hospital siege. . . . There's a buzz around town that Ann Hadley, pretty stepdaughter of Vice President Alben Barkley, is up for a screen test. . . . Libby Holman's friends are saying she'll retire from show business. She's been living with a sister in Ohio since the tragic death of her son on Mt. Whitney.

INFLATION NOTE: George Raft dipped a half dollar piece in the famous "Scarface." Comes now Howard Keel as the gambler, Ravanel, in "Show Boat." He'll stack and restack four half dollar pieces throughout the film.

GLORIA SWANSON and Parke Levy, who writes "My Friend Irma," are getting together for a movie and radio show. The film will again have Gloria playing a movie queen—but this time a comedy.

PAULETTE GODDARD, with Cy Howard at Toni Arden's opening at the Mocambo, says she's eager to return to the screen but hasn't been able to find the right script. She still owes Paramount five pictures.

INDIAN girl extra to a friend on the "Jim Thorpe, All-American" set: "These moccasins are killing my feet. I'm used to high heels."

UI WILL RUSH "Prisoner of War" into release at the suggestion of the Defense Department. It's a strong reminder to civilians to keep their lips zipped. . . . "Fancy Nancy" Chaffee is about to give out with a sample of her singing pipes at the Alice Marble on television. . . . Joan Davis' medics are telling her to take it easy. Her recent hospital visit was one of those stitch-in-time actions to ward off a nervous breakdown. . . . Arline Judge is wearing the "I Wanna Get Married" look again. He's airline executive Bob Ricksen.

THERE'S no salty liquid from the Dottie Lamour tear ducts over MGM's decision to overlook her in the frantic casting for the role of Julie in "Show Boat." She told me: "I'll survive it. Anyhow, it was more my idea than anybody else's."

Economic note: Margaret O'Brien dolls are now selling at half price at a Beverly Hills toyshop.

INSIDE on Mike Romanoff moving his eatery to another site is that Garbo owns the present property and won't lower the rent. . . . The London Palladium's Val Parnell has stopped crying the blues over the cancellation of their vaudeville stints by Hollywood stars. Rose Murphy, the "Chee-chee" girl, is one of his biggest hits since Danny Kaye.

RED-FACED NOTE: There's a full-page picture of Evelyn Keyes and John Huston in a current British movie mag. They were divorced last Feb. 10.

IT WORKED in Wisconsin and now it's being tried in Chicago: Free admissions to theaters to people who save enough popcorn bag labels. . . . Orson Welles will play Vincent Price's murderer in "The Mad King."
