Bishop Receives Hoosier Welcome

clergymen's wives, from all over the country to Indianapolis. Sessions were scheduled to close today.

Bishop Moore Speaks
Bishop Arthur J. Moore, always heralded as a fine orator and authority on foreign missions, gave the main address. Bishop Moore spoke on "Methodism in a Bewildered World."

The DePauw University Choir, robed in maroon gowns and directed by Prof. George Gove, sang Negro spirituals.

Students enrolled on scholarships in Methodist colleges, who live in all parts of the world, were introduced. They gave an international flavor to the meeting. For they represented various races and nations and some were in native dress. They recalled that the Methodist banner flies in 50 different lands.

Kinsey N. Merritt, vice president of the Railway Express Agency, New York, spoke from the layman's viewpoint. Mr. Merritt besought the Methodists to make this an age of faith. "Let us so live that future generations will think of ours as the age of faith, not the atomic age. Let us make this a Christian America," he said.

Bishop William C. Martin of Dallas presided. Bishop Richard C. Raines of the Indiana area responded to Bishop Martin on behalf of local church folk.

Bishop Moore's address reflected his trip to Asia this year. He described the times as "incoherent and chaotic." The bishop expressed no pessimism, but rather a stout belief in the "ultimate supremacy of righteousness."

Bishop Moore spoke of eating southern fried chicken with Gen. MacArthur and Mrs. MacArthur in their home in Japan. The bishop relayed to the audience the general's urgent request for hundreds of additional missionaries. "The old gods of Japan are dead," Gen. MacArthur was quoted as saying.

A miracle has taken place in Bishop Richard C. Raines of Indiana gives Bishop Arthur J. Moore of Georgia the "right hand of fellowship" on behalf of Hoosiers.

Japan under Gen. MacArthur's millions to stop the spread of communism in Europe and then desert the only government in China favorable to democratic ideals and the Christian faith. An Asia dominated by Russia is as sad a case as Europe dominated by Russia.

Praises Chiang, Too
Tribute of just as high an order went to Chiang Kai-shek from Bishop Moore, who has lived both in China and Japan and now holds the office of head of the Methodist Board of Missions and Church Extension.

"China is the key to Asia, and the capture of all Asia is the goal of Russia," he commented. "Please do not ask me why America should spend multiplied

Hunt 3 in Pekin Bank Break-In

PEKIN, Oct. 5—Three men believed to have broken into the Citizens Bank here shortly before dawn today were being sought by southern Indiana police.

The burglars ripped a screen from a window leading into the bank lobby and pried open the window. It was believed they were frightened away before they could disturb anything in the bank. H. H. Baker, bank cashier, said:

The men made their escape in a car apparently stolen from the home of Loren Miller, Pekin barber, about four blocks from the bank.

State police reported Mr. Miller's car was found later today a few miles away. A 22-caliber rifle and a box of shells were found in the car.

Dental Society Plans First Fall Meeting

U. of Alabama Paper Backs Negro Students

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 5 (UP)—The Crimson-White, student newspaper at the University of Alabama, said in an editorial in this week's issue that it failed to see "what would be so terrible" about Negroes attending classes there.

"We southerners think nothing of riding through the same buses or shopping in the same stores," the editorial said. "We doubt if the violent proponents of segregation leave the room when a Negro janitor comes in to sweep. We don't think students will have to leave the room when a Negro student comes in to learn."
