

MacArthur Denies Charge Of Disobeying

British Editorial Raps Action Against Chinese

TOKYO, Nov. 11 (UP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur denied through a spokesman today a charge that he "deliberately disregarded" his superiors in fighting the Chinese in Korea.

The British Socialist publication New Statesman and Nation made the charge in a front-page editorial entitled, "MacArthur Rides Again."

The editorial said Gen. MacArthur deliberately ignored "the clearly-expressed purposes of his superiors" to avoid contact with the Chinese in Korea and seemed "intent upon turning the Korean War into a world war."

Not True, Says Mac

Gen. MacArthur broke with precedent to authorize a reply to the attack. His spokesman said there was "no truth to any part" of the editorial.

"Such an article is sheer propaganda at its very worst following the form of all Communist propaganda which invariably presents the truth in reverse," the spokesman said.

"In this case, it provides aid and comfort to an enemy savagely attacking United Nations forces, including a gallant British Commonwealth contingent, in the battle for freedom in North Korea."

He said Gen. MacArthur had received no instructions of any kind from his superiors about the charge. He said Gen. MacArthur's only orders have been to destroy the North Korean military forces and restore order and peace to the country.

Contact Inevitable

The spokesman implied that there was no effort by United Nations forces either to make or avoid contact with the Chinese, but contact was inevitable if the Chinese entered Korea while United Nations forces were carrying out their orders.

The New Statesman and Nation called Gen. MacArthur an "insolent military politician" and demanded that he be replaced if British troops are to remain in Korea.

The New Statesman and Nation has no official connection with Britain's ruling Labour Party, but it is regarded widely as reflecting the views of its left-wing members.

Distillery Products Fattening Livestock

TERRE HAUTE, Nov. 11—Distillery products which formerly went down the drain are now fattening American livestock, the Wabash Valley section of the American Chemical Society was told last night.

The byproducts contain three times the concentration of protein, fat, minerals and vitamins than the original grain does, said Philip J. Schable, executive director of the Distillers Feed Research Council, Cincinnati.

Thirty to 40 gallons of the waste, known as "stillage," is obtained from each bushel of grain mashed. Formerly thrown into streams, the stillage now is pressed and dried into cattle feed, he said.

Each bushel of grain yields from 17 to 18 pounds of such feed, he reported.

Closing tomorrow will be the Shadeland Outdoor, Westlake and Zandeton Pike Drive-Ins. Tuesday, the big Theatre Twin will fold up its screens.

COLUMBUS, Ind., Nov. 11 (UP)—Two men burned when a 50-gallon tank of oil exploded here today in a serious condition.

George Jines, 39, and Walter Simpson, 31, were burned when the oil, which had just been delivered to Mr. Jines' home near Amelia, exploded. Mrs. Jines was burned when she put out her husband's blazing clothes, but she was treated and released.

Columbus firemen, who put out the fire before it destroyed the Jines home, could not learn immediately what caused the fire.

Allies Advance On 55-Mi. Front

Reds Pounded by Planes, Artillery

They ran into a Communist battalion out reported the situation "well under control." About 1500 enemy troops were reported sighted west of Kasan.

The British Commonwealth Brigade struck across rugged hills to within 1000 yards south of Pakchon where they set up a road block and then dug in for the night.

The American 24th Division had elements anywhere from six to eight miles north of the Chongchon, and next to them the U. S. 1st Cavalry was striking from the Kunu Ri area against the heaviest resistance.

ROK Pushes Ahead

A force of about 1000 of the enemy was reported on high ground between the two American divisions and there was a chance they could be surrounded and cut off.

The ROK 6th Division, back in action after being badly cut up two weeks ago, advanced along the Kunu Ri-Tokchon road.

The U. S. 24 Division sent patrols into Yongwon east of Pakchon and some 2000 yards north of Tokchon. They met no resistance.

The 2d had linked up with elements of the ROK 8th moving eastward along the Tokchon-Yongwon road.

Large concentrations of the enemy were reported in Huichon, north of Kunu Ri, but the key rail and highway area was under constant attack by F-80 jets and Mustangs and the city was reported afloat.

Bombs Away—Plane in Trouble Jettisons Load in St. Lawrence

U. S. Air Force Bomber Gives French Canadian Farmers Case of Air Raid Jitters

ST. ANDRE DE KAMOURASKA, Quebec, Nov. 11 (UP)—French Canadian farmers shook off a case of air raid jitters today after a disabled U. S. Air Force bomber jettisoned a deadly 1500-pound load of bombs over the St. Lawrence River.

Residents of a 30-mile area were frightened yesterday by the explosion of three 500-pound demolition bombs. Witnesses reported that they saw "big white balls" drop into the river and heard the roar of a plane just before the explosion.

The plane was identified hours later by an Air Force spokesman in Washington who said the pilot of a four-engine B-50 made an emergency bomb run over the river because of engine trouble. He said the plane would have been blown "sky high" if it had made a forced landing with the bombs aboard.

Plane Lands Safely

Unwilling to risk the lives of his crew, the pilot picked out a 12-mile wide stretch of the St. Lawrence River, dropped down low, and gave his bombardier the order "bombs away."

The plane flew on to the Limestone, Me., Air Force base and landed safely.

The Air Force said the plane was on a "routine" training flight from Goose Bay, Lab., to its base at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Tucson, Ariz. B-50s usually carry 12 crewmen on training flights.

Residents of the thinly populated French speaking region were alarmed when the bombs went off with an echoing roar, throwing a dense white cloud of smoke and churning water. They flooded police and newspaper offices with telephone calls.

Practice Bombs

The bombs, dropped into the river at a point about 90 miles northeast of Quebec City and 30 miles from the Maine border, Federal transport officials in Quebec City, Que., said only one freighter was in the general area at the time but was nowhere near the spot where the bombs dropped.

Maj. Reed Tilley of the Strategic Air Command in Omaha, Neb., said the bombs were a much smaller load than the big modified B-29 Superfortresses would carry in combat. He said the bombs sent up a smoke blurb because they were practice bombs with reduced explosive content.

Mary Kamouraskians said they saw the plane, but no one was able to give an accurate description of it. American Air Force planes are free to fly over Canada under the terms of a reciprocal agreement between the two governments.

Miscellaneous Crime Loot: Cigarettes, Cash and Purses

Armed with revolvers, they entered the market last night. One pointed a revolver at the cashier, Dorothy Heishman, 412 Alton Ave., and took $50 from a cash drawer, while the other man guarded the door.

Three customers and another employee were not molested.

Otis Hart, 40, of 513 E. St. Clair St., a truck driver, reported he was robbed of his wrist watch and $20 early today. He said three boys slugged him at Missouri and Washington Sts. He was treated at General Hospital for minor injuries and released.

Grover Carter, 36, of 570 E. Fall Creek Blvd., told police he was robbed of $40 early today by two men he had met in a tavern. The men offered to drive him home, then threatened him and took his money, he said.

Mrs. Mary Kent, 3722 N. Emerson Ave., was robbed of her purse containing $3, by a man in front of 333 N. Delaware St. yesterday.

Hint Rebel Leader Dead In Air Raid

Indo-China Red Commander Reported In Bombed Hideout

SAIGON, Indo-China, Nov. 11 (UP)—French warplanes may have wounded or killed Ho Chi Minh, goatee-bearded leader of Indo-China's Communist rebels, in a searing raid on his secret rendezvous yesterday.

The French high command described as "pure supposition" the reports that the fragile, brilliant Ho definitely was dead.

But a French spokesman said there was a "degree of probability" that Ho and his "foreign advisers" were down below when bombers and fighters rained bombs and bullets on his reputed hideout.

Attending Conference

French authorities were rather sure that Chinese Communist advisers, who have been giving Ho's expanding forces both arms and training, were attending a strategy session at Danxa, 132 miles northwest of the northern capital of Hanoi.

But they declined to comment on reports that Russians also were present when the planes interrupted the reported conference and left the village wrecked and in flames.

The wizened, tubercular Ho, who is about 58, organized the first Indo-Chinese Communist party after receiving some five years' training in Moscow.

Mission Successful

The spokesman said: "A bombing and strafing mission took place on Friday, the objective being the small village of Dongxa near Hagiang. According to information from reliable sources, we know that a military meeting of considerable importance was being held at this village, and it is thought that foreign military advisers were attending."

"We know that our strafing mission was successful because our aviators reported that a great part of the village was destroyed and in flames. The reported presence of Ho Chi Minh at this meeting has a degree of probability but by no means any degree of certainty."

The bombardment mission included planes which are making daily raids on the Communist-dominated parts of Indo-China. The high command attaches the same importance to this mission as to any other.

The spokesman said intelligence reports indicated that the rebel conference was "in process at the time of the bombardment."

Yugoslavia Breaks All Albanian Ties

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Nov. 11 (UP)—Yugoslavia broke diplomatic relations with Albania today, sealed the Albanian legation in Belgrade, and ordered the expulsion of Albanian diplomats.

The Yugoslav foreign office said Albania's conduct had become "unbearable." The only purpose of the Albanian legation here was to conduct "offending and provocative activities," its communique said.

The Yugoslav action marked a new round in Marshal Tito's battle with the Soviet-bosomed Cominform.

The foreign office sent a note to the Albanian legation informing it that Albania "henceforth could communicate with Yugoslavia through the 'top countries' legations in Budapest, Hungary, or directly by regular mail."

The foreign office spokesman said last week there were five diplomats and two clerks at the Albanian legation. Sealing of the legation automatically expelled them from the country, he said.

His All for a Princess—Californian Would Forsake Citizenship for Royal Mate

Happiness of Moslem Bride, Sister If Iran's Shah, Is Concern of American

LONDON, Nov. 11 (UP)—Californian Vincent Lee Hillier said today he is ready to renounce his American citizenship, if necessary, in order to live in a Persian palace with his Moslem bride, Princess Fatima.

Mr. Hillier forsook Christianity so he could marry her, he said. He is the son of a prominent American family.

He said the Communist underground in Iran is making political capital out of the princess' marriage to a foreigner. The handsome 24-year-old American hinted the Shah himself may not have forgiven Fatima for marrying him. They met when she was a student in the U. S.

Although the Shah invited them both to his impending wedding to a noble Iranian nobleman, he said the princess' marriage to a foreigner has been officially restored to them, Mr. Hillier said.

"I have a feeling the question of citizenship may arise," he said. "And I definitely have decided to renounce my citizenship for the happiness of my wife, who is Persian."

The princess, who stood beside him during the interview, said, "I don't know what to think of the decision—I like Americans."

The couple arrived in London from Paris yesterday to the popping of flash bulbs and headlines in the British press. Mr. Hillier, who embraced the Moslem faith to gain the Shah's approval of his wedding last May, said he wants to divide his time between Iran and California, spending a half of each year in each place.

Fatima said they would leave for Iran in a few days. She said that although following their Moslem marriage, the Iranian embassy in Paris said "all is for itself," this remains unofficial under Iranian protocol until the Shah makes an announcement to that effect.

LaDuron Tells Of Blackmail Threats, Fear

Muncie Physician Asserts He Paid Brothers $2870

LaDuron denied ever performing such an operation.

After a short fight in which Seibert was subdued, the doctor questioned him and discovered Ralph was waiting outside in the car. Dr. LaDuron sent his son, Jack, out to call Ralph into the office.

The bloody struggle began, during which Dr. LaDuron struck both brothers with a wrench, one of several he had placed in his office as weapons, the statement said.

Meanwhile, police suspended temporarily their efforts to find evidence in a churchyard which might explain the disappearance 13 years ago of Freda LaDuron, second wife of the well-known physician.

Dug in Churchyard

Police yesterday dug in the frozen earth of a country churchyard in northwest Delaware County, on a tip that Freda's body was buried there.

Chief Nelson today said nothing had been found in the churchyard cemetery so far. Digging will be resumed Monday, he stated.

Says $2870 Paid Out

Jacque LaDuron, arrested Thursday, was identified by an unnamed witness as having "knocked or pushed" one of the Carter brothers through a window during the fight. Chief Nelson said.

The doctor's 21-year-old son, previously had claimed his only part was to hold one brother in a chair while Dr. LaDuron struggled with the other.

Both father and son are held on open charges pending calling of a Grand Jury for further investigation and possible return of indictments. The Grand Jury probably will be called Monday, Chief Nelson said.

Gov. Williams Lags In Michigan Vote

DETROIT, Nov. 11 (UP)—Harry E. Kelly jumped to a 666-vote lead over incumbent G. Mennen Williams today in the most confused gubernatorial election in Michigan history.

The latest tabulation, with all but 11 counties reporting official canvasses, showed: Kelly 934,305; Williams 933,639.

But that total was far from conclusive. A recount was certain and if a court fight developed, Michigan might find itself hard-pressed to decide just who is governor by inauguration time in January.

Shiawassee County's official canvass slipped another 99 votes to the Kelly column, increasing the lead he established last night after trading Mr. Williams for almost 24 hours.

Mr. Kelly's razor-edge lead was based on official canvasses of 72 counties reported either directly to the United Press or to the Secretary of State's office in Lansing.

The car, going south on West St. without lights, did not stop, police reported.

William Gibbs, 59, of 630 N. New Jersey St., was taken to General Hospital in fair condition with a broken hip.

He was struck at Alabama St. and Massachusetts Ave. by a car driven by George E. Kirklin, 27, of 2135 N. New Jersey St., police reported.
