

Benton Dares McCarthy To Tell All

Wants Senator To Go Before Grand Jury

GOP Colleague Calls Him Midget

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Sen. William Benton, (D. Conn.) today indirectly dared Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy to present his disloyalty charges against government employees to a federal grand jury.

Mr. Benton, author of a resolution seeking an investigation to determine whether the Wisconsin Senator should be ousted from the Senate, made the dare in a letter to Attorney General J. Howard McGrath.

Mr. McCarthy told the Veterans of Foreign Wars at New York Thursday that he would resign if he could not prove in "any court before an American jury" the charges he has made in the past against Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Ambassador-at-Large Philip C. Jessup.

He made the condition that if a jury found him right, "then the whole motley crowd will resign."

Tells McCarthy How

Mr. McCarthy, a former Wisconsin circuit judge, said he didn't "know how to get Philip Jessup into court."

Mr. Benton provided an answer. He suggested to Mr. McCarthy that a federal grand jury might investigate Mr. McCarthy's charges.

Informed of Mr. Benton's letter by telephone, Mr. McCarthy told a reporter:

"I'm much too busy to even bother reading or answering the thing put out by Connecticut's odd little mental midget."

Mr. Benton also raised the question whether Mr. McCarthy is a citizen and Senator if he has not volunteered to turn over to a U. S. attorney the evidence he claims to have.

Law Covers 'Felons'

Mr. Benton asked whether a grand jury could subpoena Mr. McCarthy and demand all his information on federal employees whom the Wisconsin Senator has described as security risks.

He said that provisions of the Subversive Control Law and other laws might make Mr. McCarthy's security risks subject to prosecution as "felons" if there is evidence against them.

Religion Sets Keynote At State Fair Today

be held to the music of Jimmy Dorsey's orchestra. It will open with a parade of 4-H beef and dairy champions.

Indiana-owned 3-Gaited and 5-Gaited Stakes will be run off as well as hunters, course B, and jumpers, course F.

It will be opening night, also, for the State Fair Follies in front of the grandstand.

Johnny Mack, comedian and dancer, and Preston Lambert, master of ceremonies and singer, will head a program which includes nine variety acts and four production numbers.

Youth activities topped yesterday's events, and the Fair Grounds was jammed with children admitted free.

The first day of harness racing, a sheep-shearing contest and the annual 4-H dress review held the spotlight yesterday.

Harley Sutherland of Cloverdale was first in the junior division of the sheep-shearing contest; William Honer, a New Zealander studying chiropractic here, won the professional category; and Stanley Anderson of Madison took the "Champion of Champions" crown.

Mr. Horner had the best time of the day. He won the professional title in 2:05 minutes.

Nancy Lou Horney, 17-year-old Westfield club member, won the Dress Review and will represent Indiana at the National Dress Review Congress in Chicago Nov. 24.

Carl Yohey, Muncie, won the first round of the state brick-laying contest which was opened yesterday by Gov. Schricker and will continue through Thursday.

The Date Is Sept. 15—Choice Prizes Pouring in For Times Fishing Rodeo

By ART WRIGHT

Plenty of prizes again will be given to anglers who make the best catches at the Times Fishing Rodeo Sept. 15 at Yellowwood Lake, south of Nashville.

Leading manufacturers of fishing equipment are loading the fishing rodeo prize bin with new items every day.

Classifications for catches will be set up in a manner to give everyone an opportunity to win, regardless of whether they're men, women or children and regardless of whether they're beginners or veterans.

The Indiana State Conservation Department is co-operating with The Times in starting the all-day event.

Fishing will start as early as the anglers get to the lake bank. The official weigh-in stations to record the prize catches will open at 9 a. m. They will close at 3 p. m.

All fishing must be done from the shoreline. No boats will be permitted on the lake.

The Times Fishing Rodeo, as in the past, will be free. Children and women annually take part in the fishing along with the men.

Here are the firms that have donated prizes so far:

Fred Arbogast & Co., Akron, O., assortment of Arbogast lures.

Ashaway Line & Twine Mfg. Co., Ashaway, R. I., bait-casting lines.

Cortland Line Co., Cortland, N. Y., CAM-O-FLAGE nylon casting lines.

John J. Hildebrandt Co., Logansport, assortment of Spinning Lads.

Horrocks-Ibbotson Co., Utica, N. Y., fishing plaques.

Louis Johnson Co., Highland Park, Ill., tackle assortment.

Ocean City Mfg. Co., Philadelphia, Pa., Ocean City Reels.

Montague Rod & Reel Co., Montague City, Mass., Montague solid glass bait casting rods.

P. & K. Inc., Muncie, Ind., assortment of Bright Eyes, Walkie Talkie and Amazing Maiesies.

Stratton & Terstegge Co., Louisville, Ky., Air Breather minnow bucket.

True Temper Corp., Geneva, O., True Temper Cast Master tubular steel bait casting rod.

Head of Bourbon Plant Levels Charges at UAW

By United Press

BOURBON, Ind., Sept. 1.—The president of a small strikebound radio and television parts plant today accused the CIO United Auto Workers Union of making a mockery of the courts and laws of Indiana.

Charles Joyner, head of the Joyner Corp. plant closed since Aug. 15 in a contract dispute, said in a telegram to Governor Schricker that the union "controls this state and its law enforcement machinery."

He pleaded for continued state police aid to enforce a court restraining order.

Gov. Schricker said he had not yet received the telegram. He said enforcement of the injunction is the job of the sheriff of Marshall County.

"The main thing we're interested in is that there is no violence and no disorder, and there hasn't been any," he said.

Troopers Withdrawn

The Governor ordered 200 troopers to the plant Thursday, but had them withdrawn yesterday as union and management met in Indianapolis to settle their grievances. Negotiations will be resumed Tuesday in Rochester.

Mr. Joyner charged that withdrawal of the troopers meant that the temporary injunction restraining picketing at the plant would not be enforced. He said the local sheriff "admitted he had done nothing to enforce the order."

"If you refuse to give us the help of the state police at this time," the telegram read, "you are admitting that the Indiana laws and orders of our courts are a sham and a mockery, and further that the UAW-CIO controls this state and its law enforcement machinery."

Returned GI Finds Traffic 'Confusing'

It's the traffic, not the heat that bothers Pvt. Burle Fisher, who returned this week from Korea.

Burle, the son of Mrs. Mary Warren, 1429 E. Vermont St., can't get used to driving on the right hand side of the street instead of the left.

Home on a 30 day furlough after 13 months in Japan, the Korean veteran, who was wounded last September, said all traffic is to the left "over there."

"It's plenty hot in Korea," he said, often 105 degrees.

Pvt. Fisher, who was a member of the 7th Cavalry, was assigned to protect the peace talk near Kaesong before he was returned to the states.

He will report to Ft. Knox, Ky., Sept. 29 for reassignment.

dead and their aunt slowly succumbing to gas.

Yesterday morning they knocked, then tried the doors again. About noon, the milkman, Conrad Tomlinson, Brownsburg, came to make his delivery. Certain that someone was inside, Mr. Tomlinson broke open the back door, discovered the bodies, turned off the gas and called police.

Mr. Davis said that Miss Greeson had been an invalid all her life, unable to walk. According to neighbors Mrs. Greeson, although 75 years old, was able to carry her daughter up the stairs in her arms.

Neighbors said she had last visited the Greesons a year ago and that Mrs. Greeson was not suffering from any diseases to his knowledge. Their closest relative, according to Mr. Davis, is Mrs. Greeson's brother, Thomas Davis, Jonesville, Va.

Neighbors said the Greesons had rented the downstairs portion of their house until about two months ago when the tenants moved out. Mrs. Greeson and her daughter occupied two rooms upstairs.

Back Mayoralty Candidate On Independent Ticket

JASPER, Ind., Sept. 1. (UP)—The Dubois County election board has voted to certify the candidacy of Edward Lorey for mayor on the independent citizens ticket it was announced tonight.

Mr. Lorey, a Democrat, was defeated in the primary last spring and filed his candidacy on the independent slate.

An opinion by Attorney General J. Emmet McManamon three days ago said the Indiana law prohibits defeated regular-party candidates from organizing their own independent parties and running on independent tickets as individuals without a slate of candidates for other offices.

The three-member election board, composed of Democratic county clerk Adam Blessinger, Democrat John T. Rumbach, and Edward Jones, a Republican, was advised by one member of the state election board in Indianapolis yesterday to put Mr. Lorey's name on the ballot unit and unless a court test, removed it.

Another member disagreed with Judge McManamon's ruling.

"It is obvious that the law in dispute is a very ambiguous one since the opinions of high state officials, some of whom aided in compiling the election code, differ sharply," the board said.

"Consequently, the Dubois County election board feels that as an administrative body chosen to conduct elections and administer the election laws in this county . . . it cannot be expected to render an infallible decision concerning a section of the law on which some of the state's outstanding election law experts disagree."

The board said it believes the question of interpretation of the law "is one for the courts to decide and not for an administrative body such as the election board."

Use Bricks to Free Boy Under Truck

Common housebricks were used yesterday to effect the rescue of a 13-year-old boy pinned under a milk delivery truck.

John Watt, 1427 Ruth Dr., was trapped when the truck overturned at 79th St. and River Rd. Also injured was Henry Carr, 11, of 5321 Sunset Ave. Both are in fair condition in General Hospital.

The two were riding with Richard Younger, 25, of 3319 N. Capitol Ave., driver for Banquet Ice Cream and Milk Co. Mr. Younger braked coming into a curve. The truck skidded and turned over.

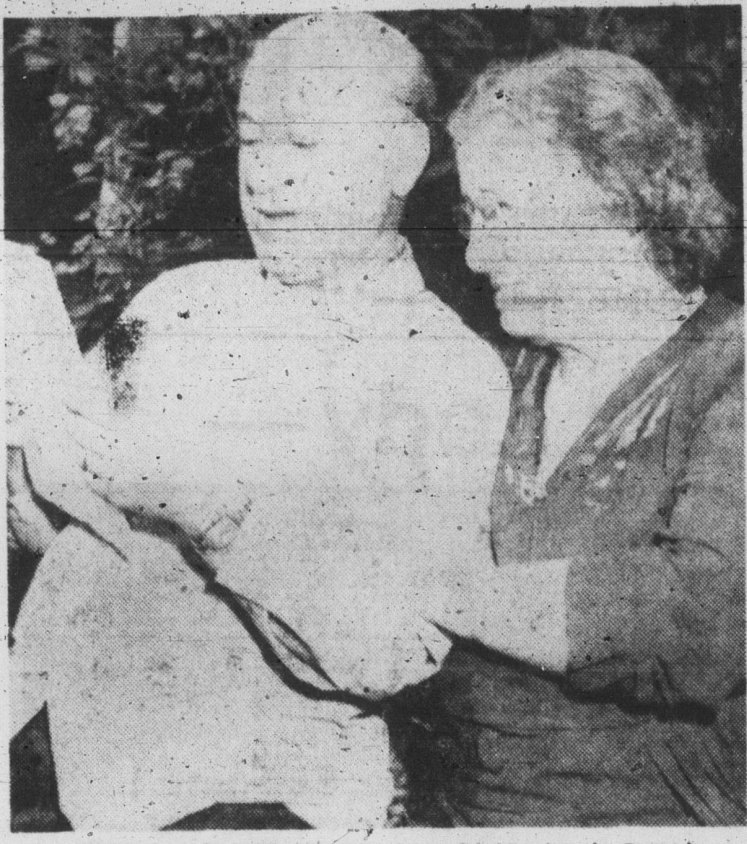

Six passersby took 20 minutes to free young Watt by jacking up the truck a brick at a time.

Polio Outbreak Delays Sailing of 2 Carriers

VALETTA, Malta, Sept. 1. (UP)—An outbreak of poliomyelitis forced the cancellation of the scheduled sailing of a Canadian and a British aircraft carrier to day.

Seven cases of polio were reported aboard the 14,000-ton Canadian carrier Magnificent. The 13,190-ton British carrier ocean reported three cases.

The carriers, due to sail Monday on a training cruise to Cyprus, were isolated in the bay a mile from shore and their crews were held aboard in quarantine.

AFTER ALL THESE YEARS—Mrs. Ida Bechara, Providence, listens to a letter read by her husband George, telling her that her son, kidnapped from her in 1904 is alive. The boy, Jorge, was kidnapped in Beirut, Syria, just as Mrs. Bechara was boarding a boat for America, and is now a prosperous baker in Mendoza, Argentina. The 64-year-old mother hopes to have a reunion with her son soon.

'It's Baseball All the Time'—Queen to Finish Season Despite Wife's Suicide Try

By United Press

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 1.—Pitcher Mel Queen decided today to continue his baseball career after comforting his young wife who attempted suicide because he would not quit the game.

Queen flew here from St. Louis when his 27-year-old wife, mother of three children, broke off a telephone conversation early today and threatened to commit suicide.

After visiting her at Southside Hospital, Queen said there were reasons, other than his baseball career, contributing to his wife's actions.

"I am definitely going to finish out this season," the 33-year-old righthander said after talking with Mrs. Queen.

Mrs. Queen told police she turned on a gas jet in the couple's apartment, because baseball was cutting into their family life.

"It's baseball all the time," she said, "and I'm sick and tired of it."

Blames Operation

Queen said he thought "Goldie's condition" was due mostly to an operation she had about three years ago.

"The doctor told me she was likely to be in a nervous state for a while," he said.

Queen said his wife "gets along great for a while and then gets a streak when she's nervous and irritable."

"It's baseball all the time," she said, "and I'm sick and tired of it."

Explosions Rip Texas Gas Plant; Nine Injured

By United Press

BORGER, Tex., Sept. 1.—Explosions and fire ravaged a square-block area of the government-owned Plains butadiene plant four miles west of here today, injuring nine persons and driving an estimated 1000 families from their homes.

The blaze began with a chain of 12 or more blasts which rocked this Panhandle industrial city and caused flames seen 40 miles away.

The fire raged through the day in at least five of 16 towering columnar tanks filled with the highly-volatile butadiene, a natural gas by-product used in synthetic rubber manufacture.

It was believed a team of engineers and explosives experts might be asked to snuff out the flames by deliberate explosive detonations.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation began an inquiry into the cause of the blaze, but Special Agent H. O. Hawkins of Dallas said there was no indication of sabotage.

He said the probe was ordered because the sprawling plant, operated for the government by Phillips Petroleum Co., through its subsidiary, Phillips Chemical Co., is engaged in defense production.

The plant, in the Bucavista industrial community, was manned by a crew of about 60 men when the explosions began near a control room which gauges the flow of chemicals for mixing with butadiene, a process called "step four," the production of synthetic rubber.

Plant Manager A. D. Leonard suffered minor burns and eight workers were hospitalized, with first and second degree burns, at the Phillips-owned Casa Serena Medical Center.

Truman to Launch Defense Bond Drive

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1. (UP)—President Truman will launch the biggest defense bond selling drive since World War II Labor Day.

President Truman and Secretary of Treasury John W. Snyder will speak over five radio networks at 9:50 p. m. Indianapolis time, to carry the appeal to every American home. The President speaks from San Francisco, Mr. Snyder from Grand Rapids, Mich.

The drive is the first since the Korean War started 14 months ago and produced the mobilization drive, a spiral of inflation and a period of mounting defense costs.

Unborn Baby Heard to Cry 2 Months Before It's Due

HANFORD, Cal., Sept. 1.—An unborn baby's faint but audible cries have been heard repeatedly for the past four days even though the child's birth is not due for another two months.

The baby was heard today.

Mrs. Beatrice Aviles, 24, showed up at the Sacred Hearts Hospital Wednesday at the insistence of her husband, Frank. He said he had heard the baby cry out that morning and "it scared me."

The prospective mother's doctor and other physicians and nurses at the hospital have heard the wailing since then on several occasions. A tape recording of the phenomenon has been made.

Fresno obstetrician, Dr. Stanley Lee, said the crying is made possible because certain membranes have broken, permitting air to reach the baby. He said the condition "is not dangerous."

Hospital officials said on rare occasions sounds from babies have been heard a short time before birth, but it is "extraordinary" for the crying to go on for several days and so long before birth.

Sister May Plus, superintendent of nurses, said the wailing is much the same as heard when a baby is in an incubator. She said Mrs. Aviles' baby cries only when the mother lies prone, and that it has not affected her health other than to make her "nervous."

"Mrs. Aviles insists on sitting up most of the time. It makes hills run up and down my back," Sister May said.

Mrs. Aviles' doctor said the baby probably will be delivered in a normal birth, but that he has ordered X-rays just in case.

Missing Boy, 3, Sleeps All Night in Corn Field

FREPORT, Ill., Sept. 1. (UP)—James Miller, 3½, whose disappearance brought out airplanes and an estimated 400 volunteer searchers, was found in a corn field today, safe but hungry.

James said he had slept in the field all night. He was spotted by two women searchers only a few feet north of the Wisconsin Illinois state line, road, where hundreds of searchers trekked last night and today shouting his name. The boy had been gone 18 hours.

Train Rams Into Truck

LEBING, Kas., Sept. 1. (UP)—The Rock Island Oklahoma Rock et hit a sand truck a mile south of here today. No one was killed.
