SHAKESPEARE wouldn't have said, "Life is but a walking shadow a poor player that struts and frets his hour across the stage and then is heard no more," if he had known Mrs. Jerry Adcock, 1835 N. Rural St.

Mrs. Adcock, who was with the Earl Carroll Vanities in California before her marriage, moved to Indianapolis in November. With the show, using her maiden name of Patti Lane, she had earned a notable reputation in solo acts.

During the past five years, she traded this public limelight for marriage. But "being heard no more" won't apply to her. Tomorrow, she will begin studying a new role—that of a Red Cross Gray Lady.

Versatility marks the best actress.

WILL DICKSON, 413 Park Ave., is a grandfather any child would love to have. In fact, there are undoubtedly many grownups who also would welcome a tie with him.

For the past 20 years, Mr. Dickson has been carving model stage coaches, boats, covered bridges and totem poles. His guides are pictures of the original objects.

Recently, he carved a circus complete with cages and lions' den for his grandson and now, he's working on a doll house for his granddaughter.

The doll house, completely hand-made, will be furnished throughout with colonial period articles, also constructed by the artist.

This hobby has gone outside the Dickson home, too. The craftsman has made models to use in the Children's Museum.

He'd be a handy person, have around.

"YOU CAN'T HAVE YOUR CAKE and eat it too" are words of wisdom observed by Mrs. Kurt Pantzer, 4310 N. Meridian St.

During the recent Park School Garden Tour, one of the guests admiringly commented on the valley lilies Mrs. Pantzer was wearing, asking, "Are those from your yard?"

Proudly, the hostess answered, "Yes, I just love them. They're the only flowers I can pick from my garden."

Inside the Pantzer home was banked with a variety of bouquets—all from a flower shop except for a small vase of valley lilies.

After all, someone has to support the flower business.

IF YOU DON'T BELIEVE in nervous bridegrooms, here's something that should change your way of thinking.

JIM MARKEY, 420 E. 33d St., who is typical of most husbands-to-be, claims he hasn't been the least bit nervous despite the fact he will be married to Miss Phyllis Clements Saturday.

Last night, Jim sat at his vegetable soup. In his hurry to eat, (he was to be honor guest at a stag party last night), he picked up a fork and managed to consume all the vegetables before

PARTY PROSPECTIVE—Duke Nolan (left) received both congratulations on his qualifications for Decoration Day's gala 500-Mile Race at Speedway and an invitation to the Indianapolis Country Club's annual gala Decoration Day dance yesterday. John Ramp (right), member of ICC's party committee, issued the bid to the famous driver. Many of the 500-mile drivers and celebrities attending the race that day will be at the club. A tea dance will start the festivities. Dinner dancing and supper will follow.

Another prominent Indianapolis artist said she would base her work on ideas obtained from candle drippings on transparent paper.

You'll really need a modern eye to interpret this.

Business Women to Have Breakfast

Indiana Alpha Chapter, Zeta Phi Chi, national business women's sorority, will have a post convention breakfast at 10:30 a. m. Sunday in the Warren Hotel.

Mrs. Vivien Hill is chairman, assisted by Misses Mary Ellen Doughlin, Gail Burt and Edith Abbott. Mrs. Georgia Hannew was elected national vice president at the sorority's convention recently in Toledo.
