

The other day, a captain of a vessel had a quantity of coals to go on board, and as a great number of them lay scattered about the wharf, he thought it would be better to get a rake, that he might more speedily collect together; he went into a counting-house, and inquired of the merchant, whether he could have the loan of a rake for a few minutes? The merchant smiled, and looked significantly round at his clerks, said, I believe I have a number of them, but not one who will readily answer your purpose; the captain comprehending the pun, very wittingly replied, I think you are quite right sir, for neither of them I suppose, would wish to be "hauled over the coals."—Phil. pa.
