From Amelia we learn, that a disturbance of a very serious na- ture has taken place between com- modore Aury and and governor Hubbard—the former wishing to place his black troops over the he- roes of Irwin which would not be allowed; in consequence of this, Aury has drawn up his troops and threatens to put his orders into effect by force of arms. Colonel Irwin, it is said, will resist every thing of the kind. It is feared blood will be spilt before the matter can be ad- justed. Several prizes were of off Amelia bar—business in con- sequence of the difference be- tween Aury, and the governor & colonel Irwin was completely at a stand. Saw. Repub.
