

POETRY.

From the Baltimore Patriot.

Oh, happy! blest of all his race,
The man who tills the soil, Whose spring and harvest hopes, in place,
Come sweetening every toil.
Were mine the field of waving grain;
A mead with "cattle sprinkled o'er,"
A wood, to tempt the warbling train, Before my house a grassy plain, Descending to some shore;

In joyous ease I'd spend my life;
In spite of fortune's frown; Nor e'er like Lot's undutious wife, Regret the noisy town.
Far from the counting-house and store,
Amid the city's din;
My eyes and ears be vex'd no more,
With, "Lend me, sir," without the door,
And, "Sir, your note," within.

Lord help the man who spends his days
In borrowing and lending; Dogged here and there a hundred ways, Yet times are never mending.
Be mine the waggon, plough and spade,
'Tis man's first destination; With health and plenty more than paid, I'd take my cheer and shake my head
At fools of rank and station.
PINDER HAYLOFT.

MATRIMONIAL RULES &
MAXIM.

1. When courting your mistress, never miscall her by the name of angel or goddess, lest she mistake it for truth, and forget that she is a woman.

2. When putting the question, (as it is termed) be careful not to allow her to suppose that your happiness, or even comfort, depends on her assent: recollect that you are making a proposal, not begging a boon.

3. Teach her beforehand, that the marriage ceremony is not a mere matter of form; and explain fully the meaning of the word obey.

4. Be careful at church, that she repeat every word distinctly after the clergyman, that she may afterwards have no excuse for acting in opposition.

5. When you take her home, tell her that she is to command your servants, you but are to command her.

6. Be not imperious, but decided, and always speak as if it were a matter of course to be obeyed.

7. Be not backward to blame, lest she attribute it to fear; if once she knows that you are afraid of her, your authority is at an end, and you become a poor, degraded, dependent, miserable creature, as some are.

8. If pleasure or business takes you from home expect cheerful looks on your return: the surest way to secure them is to give them.

9. If she be of an obstinate or sulky temper, do not proceed to extremities, lest you fail, but show her that you do not mind it.

10. If she be passionate and violent be you cool and collected in proportion; if she irritates you, she has mounted one step of her thorne, and you descended one step of yours.

11. If she be fond of reading, let her have no novels; if she must read, give her the memoirs of Roman wives and matrons; if she prefer light reading, put before her the works of the fathers of the church.

12. Be careful that she does not think too well of herself in point of learning, lest she should fancy herself your superior.

her that the best mode of showing it is to conceal it.

14. If you take her to places of public amusement, make her know that it is the reward of, and not a bribe to good conduct.

15. Finally, LOVE HER, but do not show it too much, lest she take advantage of it as all wives desire power, it should be the business of all husbands to prevent their obtaining it.

C. POSTLEY'S Patent Cooking Stoves, or Portable Kitchens.

MANUFACTURED & sold by H. MILLER & Co. in Second street, two doors from the corner of Wood street, Pittsburgh; and also at their store, corner of Main and Columbia streets Cincinnati.

This stove with fixtures complete, comprises every necessary article of apparatus for an extensive cooking establishment.

The different sizes are calculated to do the cooking for small and large families, public houses and steam boats, and are so extremely simple in their construction, as to be managed with ease by a child, twelve or fourteen years of age.

With this stove may be cooked by baking, roasting, boiling, and by steam, a sufficiency of meat, fish, fowls and vegetables, to make a dinner for from 5 to 100 persons, while at the same time may be baked from one to eight good sized loaves of bread.

A wooden vessel containing from twenty to fifty gallons of water, can also be kept boiling, for the purpose of washing, &c. all these are done simultaneously and with one small fire!

The circumstance of these stoves having got into very general use at the eastward within two or three years past, particularly in the cities of N.
York and Baltimore, with the rapid sale and general approbation they have met with since their first introduction last winter, west of the mountains, are sufficient testimonials of their utility and advantage.

The subscribers having purchased of the patentee, the right for making and vending said stoves in the western country, are ready to execute with punctuality and despatch all orders, at their manufactory, as above, where also may be had CAST and SHEET IRON STOVES, boilers may be attached if wanted.
