

IT'S PERSONAL BENEFIT ADVANTAGE

to be certain that there is no cavity in your teeth. The deceiving appearance of decay, often gives people a misleading opinion about their teeth. The little unseen decay growing undisturbed, causes a sensational surprise when it is discovered. The hindrance of just such decay saves teeth as well as dentists' bills.

You will have an assurance of good teeth for a small cost and an absence of pain, if you will have me do this work at once.

FOOTBALL CRIPPLES' ARRAY

Los Angeles Suburb, Horrified at Modern Ideas of Educational Pastime, Calls Halt.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 14.—Gridiron casualties this year have put a ban on football at the Hollywood high school for the future. This season's schedule of games will not be completed. There will be no team next year.

Five players are in the hospital now, the result of a game with the Pasadena high school last Saturday. Three may be crippled for life. Neil Hill was carried off the field with a broken thigh. Arthur Priester had the tendons of his neck injured. Charles Knowles, it is feared, will suffer permanent paralysis of the lower limbs.

These and other football injuries of Hollywood's youth stirred this fashionable suburb of Los Angeles to revulsion against the pigskin. Parents protested, the school board voted against football, and the teachers of the high school enforced a new order.

EVEN SUICIDES UNCERTAIN.

You can't always tell what will happen. For instance here is a story of a man who determined to commit suicide. He went up town and purchased a rope, can of oil, box of matches, dose of arsenic and a revolver. He went down to the river, pushed his boat from the shore and paddled down to where a tree hung out over the water. He got up in the bow of the boat and tied one end of the rope to a limb and the other around his neck, saturated his clothing with coal oil and set fire to them, took a dose of arsenic, put the muzzle of the revolver to his temple and pulled the trigger. But the bullet glanced and cut the rope above him and he fell kerplunk into the water and put the fire out; he got strangled and coughed the arsenic up and rose up and waded out and declared himself a candidate for office on the Anti-Saloon League ticket.—Ex.

Mrs. James Hemphill and two little daughters, Bessie and Edna of Danville, Ill., came Friday for a few days visit with the family of Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Honan and the latter's mother, Mrs. S. A. Hemphill. They expect to return home to-morrow.

The remainder of the Wildberg clothing stock was boxed up Saturday night and shipped to Duluth, Minn., having been sold to J. P. Shore of that place. L. J. Lane, proprietor of "The New Racket Store," also sold his stock to the same parties and it was being boxed up yesterday for shipment.

WANTS FOOTBALL STOPPED.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 13.—Chas Daugherty, druggist and ex-prize fighter, of Arlington Heights, Ill., came here today to attend the funeral of his brother Albert Daugherty, who was killed in a football game at Henderson, Ky., last Saturday, and announced that he would demand the arrest of the players on both teams in the hope that the game might be stopped. Charles Daugherty was formerly a member of the local Y. M. C. A., and several years ago, when it was announced that he was to meet Peter Maher in the prize ring, he was warned by the association to keep out of their quarters. His brother was playing with the local Y. M. C. A. when he sustained fatal injuries. William Daugherty, the theatrical man of New York, and a brother of the dead football player, and a sister, Miss Jeanette, are both in a serious condition as the result of the shock of Daugherty's death, and it is feared the brother will not recover.

OH ME, OH MY!

When Graves Has a Dollar in Hand He Sees Two, and Even "Schooners" Double Up.

New York, Nov. 13.—When John Edward Graves, of Arlington avenue, Jersey City, sits down to breakfast in the morning he sees two wives instead of one before him. When he has only $1 in his hand he sees $2. All that is delightful. But it isn't so pleasant when he sees two grocers and each with two bills, when only one grocer should be. The fact is, says Graves, he sees everything double, and that is due to the fact that on June 18 last, he was knocked down in Exchange place, Jersey City, by a truck belonging to the Dynacke-Marrow Trucking Company. He has begun suit against that company for $5,000 damages in the Hudson County Circuit Court.

After Graves was injured he was treated by specialists. They did everything they could to his injured eyes. At first he did not see double. That condition first became manifest October 15 last. He looked up to say something to Mrs. Graves, and was astounded to see two of her sitting before him. Alarmed, he tested his eyes on other objects, with the result that he discovered that he saw two of every object at which he looked, even to a "schooner" of hops.

A friend of the trucking company members hinted to-day that if they lost it would be a good scheme to hand over only $2,500 to Graves.

"If he really sees double," said the wise man, "that'll stand for the full $5,000."

CAPE COD TO KEY WEST

Deep Waterway Scheme for an Inland Passage Along the Atlantic Coast.

BOOSTERS MEET AT BALTIMORE

Head of the Movement Is Representative Moore, of Pennsylvania.

Among Its Advantages Are Great Saving of Human Life; Also Property, and Vast Commercial Benefits.

Baltimore, Nov. 17.—Five hundred accredited delegates gathered here today to attend the first annual convention of the Deeper Waterways convention. The convention will last three days and is expected to be productive of good results in the promotions of American maritime interests.

J. HAMPTON MOORE.

Its primary object is the advocacy of the movement to build an inland waterway connecting Boston with Key West, practically the entire length of the Atlantic seaboard of the United States. More than 200 associations are banded together to promote the movement.

Predicts Success for the Cause.

The president of the Deeper Waterways association is Representative J. Hampton Moore, of Philadelphia, who delivered the address welcoming the delegates and outlining the objects of the association. He predicted a successful outcome of the association's work, declaring it to be one in which the entire American people are vitally interested.

WHAT THE ENTERPRISE MEANS

Saving of Hundreds of Lives One Thing—Commercial Aspects.

In speaking of the association's work Moore said: "If the opening of a waterway from the north side of Cape Cod to Long Island sound means the saving of a single life employed in the shipping trade, why should we not strive for the completion of it? When we know as a matter of record that hundreds of human lives are lost upon the shoals of Cape Cod and that millions of dollars' worth of valuable property is wrecked because there is no inside passage, why should we hesitate to put our engineers at work and make a short cut inland that will provide a safe harbor for shipping and a haven for the men who are engaged in that important occupation?"

"If the deepening of an inland channel between the Delaware river and the Chesapeake bay will give to American ships of war a safe inside passage and a harbor for repairs or for stores in times of peace or in times of war and will save an outside sailing distance of hundreds of miles, with all its perils, why should a great nation like this hesitate to provide such a deep channel?"

"If again—and I regard this as of greater concern to the common people—the deepening of such a waterway between any such ports along the Atlantic coast or from any point of production to any point of shipment will enable the farmers or the manufacturers to do more business than they hitherto have done or will provide facilities that will attract trade and encourage the development of American shipping, why should we not provide such waterways and thus strengthen the hands of the breadwinners of our country?"
