Remember the Farmers' Institute Friday and Saturday in Austin Hall.

Mrs. Blake has returned from England, where she spent the summer with relatives.

Earl Sayler, wife and children of North Dakota, visited Clyde Reeve and family last week.

The Epworth League of the M. E. church will hold a "market" Saturday at the Whitehead & Harmer furniture store.

Blanchard Elmore has purchased the Mrs. Jacks residence property, and the latter with her son, Brit Hawn, will move to Oklahoma.

M. A. Gray, V. C.; L. B. Elmore, W. A.; Bert Edwards, Banker; and Bert Cowgill, Clerk, are the new officers of the local M. W. A. Camp.

The people have found it to be true, just as we advertise, to be the cheapest place to buy in Jasper county at the Farmers and Workingmen's Friend Store, Remington, Ind.

The old hay barn and lots 5 and 6, block 9, owned by the Parker bank estate, have been sold to Joseph Wealing for $525. Mr. Wealing will tear the barn down and re-erect it on his farm south of town, it is said.

Fowler Republican: The plaintiffs in the Hawkins will case will plead insanity on the part of Mrs. Hawkins as one of the reasons why the will should be set aside. The case comes up for trial in Williamsport next Tuesday and will be followed with interest by the people of this community.

Goodland Herald: L. B. Elmore came over from Remington last Saturday and closed up a deal with Ernest Hart, who came into possession of the Elmore property on Jasper street. Consideration $2,125. G. D. Clymer, who has been visiting for the past two months with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Clymer, at Lowell, Wyoming, returned home Tuesday bringing his father and mother with him who will spend the winter here.

Mr. Louis M. Raymond, a jeweler of St. Ann, Ill., and Miss Floy Beal, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Beal, were married at the home of the bride's parents in this city last Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, Rev. Lookabill of the Christian church officiating. There were quite a number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties present, among whom were the following from out of town: Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Raymond, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, daughter Sylvia and son Glen, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Dick and Mrs. M. C. Davis all of Watseka, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond left the same evening for St. Ann, where the groom had a home already furnished for his bride. Your correspondent joins the friends of Mrs. Raymond in congratulations.

Otto correspondence to the Basin, (Wyo.) Republican, has the following mention of our former well known dentist and citizen, who is now living at Otto, and shows that "Doc" is still a pusher even in church matters: "This certainly is the town to do things with a rush when we have some one to push, and we are all truly thankful to Dr. Traugh in this case for pushing ever since the Baptist church was organized. We have been sadly in need of an organ but it had been rather slow work and up to last Sunday the ladies only had ten dollars toward an organ fund. Last Sunday just before the services Dr. Traugh, in a few well chosen remarks, laid the matter before the congregation and they quickly responded nobly, for in a few minutes the necessary amount was raised by subscription. A committee consisting of Dr. Traugh, Dr. Morris, W. B. Gould, Mrs. Massey and Mrs. Jim Gould were appointed to select and order the organ and it will be a matter of a few weeks at the longest until we will be in possession of the much needed instrument."

Coughs that are tight, or distressing, tickling coughs, get quick and certain help from Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. On this account druggists every where are favoring Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy. And it is entirely free from Opium, Chloroform, or any other stupefying drug. The tender leaves of a harmless lung-healing mountainous shrub give to Dr. Shoop's Cough Remedy its curative properties. Those leaves have the power to calm the most distressing Cough, and to soothe, and heal the most sensitive bronchial membrane. Mothers should, for safety's sake alone, always demand Dr. Shoop's. It can with perfect freedom be given to even the youngest babes. Test it once yourself, and see! Sold by all dealers.

Foley's Kidney Remedy corrects irregularities, builds up worn out tissues and restores lost vitality. It will make you feel well and look well. A. F. Long.

All you hear is: "I am bound for the Farmers and Workingmen's Friend Store at Remington, Ind., to get some of those bargains."

GIFFORD.

Mr. Byerly was seen in our town the other evening, seemingly for the purpose of obtaining something that will tickle the palates of about 37 little urchins that he keeps posted in "ciphering," etc., etc., at Buck Horn school.

Chester Caster and family, who have been living in Missouri, and where Mr. Caster has been overseeing one shift on a dredge boat for the past summer, have moved back here for the winter. They will return to the west in the spring.

The results of last Saturday's hunt determined a contest between several of the boys of Gifford and surrounding country. Five were chosen on either side, and the side getting the least number of rabbits were to pay for an oyster supper. The result was 36 to 38, in favor of 38. "C."

The writer saw hitched to one of the school hitch racks, a horse, and upon investigation was found to be the township official's, Mr. Davison's. He states that it is his intention to get around to all the schools before his retirement from office. He expressed himself as being well pleased with the school and said that 53 pupils were too many for one teacher. Mr. Hayes expressed himself also as being well pleased with his school.

A very interesting and instructive "spelling school" was had at our school Saturday night. A goodly number was present and most all participated. It isn't our whole purpose to make these spelling matches an entertainment but to make ourselves more proficient along this line. There will be others from time to time during the winter, but remember you are to come for the purpose above mentioned, otherwise stay away. There are to many "howling successes," says the teacher.

We are not all lost, here at Gifford, and to prove it just visit us, each family that compose the inhabitants is a real factor that goes to make a permanent town, and some day these same people will have lived here long enough to be a member of a thriving city. Mr. Gifford has but one house in this already thriving place, otherwise all residences are owned by private individuals. There will soon be a depot constructed here which will add immensely to the dispatch of the surprising amount of freight brought in and sent from here. Almost daily one can see cattle, sheep or hogs pass going to Chicago and other large cities over the progressing W. V. R. R.

GUILTY OF COUNTERFEITING.

Passing counterfeit money is no worse than substituting some unknown worthless remedy for Foley's Honey and Tar, the great cough and cold remedy that cures the most obstinate coughs and heals the lungs. A. F. Long.

The Democrat is prepared again this season to print the best looking bills turned out in Jasper county. A free notice of sale, in full, embellished with stock cuts, printed in The Democrat without extra charge.

FOR THE CHILDREN

A Clever Performance.

Would you like to do sleight of hand? Most children like to fool their friends, so you are not the exception. Here is a good trick and easy to do: All you need are a little soft wax and a dime. When your audience is not looking, stick a small piece of white wax on the nail of your middle finger and you are ready to rage the music.

"Ladies and gentlemen," you begin, "I have a silver coin, a dime, which I will place in the palm of my hand. At the word of command from me it will vanish. You will observe me carefully and note that the coin does not go up my sleeve. I will even turn up my cuffs to convince you."

Then you close your hand in such a manner that the waxed nail touches the dime and the dime will stick to it. Next you quickly open your hand and show that the palm is quite empty.

"Now I will command again, and lo,"—this you say as you bring the coin back in the palm—"the dime has returned."

Be sure to scrape off all the wax before you pass the coin around the audience.

Guessing My Thought.

A good guessing game is called "guessing my thought." The leader thinks of an object in view, and then each player in turn has a chance to tell what he thought the leader thought. When they have all given their guesses the first player tells his thought, and then each in turn must show how his thought was like it.

Another way of playing the game is to give each player a slip of paper and a pencil, telling him to write the name of some object on the slip and fold down the writing. Then put the slips into a hat and mix them, after which each player should take a slip from the hat and write the name of some object different from what he first wrote below the fold. Again the slips should be folded down and put into the hat and mixed, each player taking one slip out. He must then write a few lines of doggerel, connecting in some way the two objects named on the slip he holds, and when all are ready they are read aloud. It will be strange indeed if this does not raise many a laugh.

Friends and Foes.

Said the smile to the kiss, "I'm sure I shall be delighted to have you live always with me."

So they live and they love, and neither offends.

They're always together and always are friends.

Said a frown to a word: "Now, don't look so sour."

Let's see if we cannot be friends for an hour."

Said the word to the frown, "I'm willing to try."

Although I'm afraid of the look in your eye."

In less than a minute a quarrel arose.

They fought, and they parted, and now they are foes.

Something About Peafowls.

India is the real home of the peafowl. There the fowls are hunted, and their flesh is used for food. As they live in the same region as the tiger, hunting them is dangerous sport. The long tail of the peafowl is really not its tail, but feathers that grow out just above it and are called tail covers. This bird has been known for ages. It is mentioned several times in the Bible. The ancient Romans considered the brains of the peafowl a dainty tidbit and used to kill thousands of the birds to get the brains for their emperors' feasts.

The Salic Law.

The laws of the Salic or Salian Franks, committed to writing in the fifth century, are known in history as the Salic law. One of the provisions of this law relates to the succession to the Salic lands, which "as restricted to male heirs, the object being no doubt to secure the military service of the chief proprietors. The rule of succession to the lands was afterward extended to the French throne, this principle becoming firmly established during the fourteenth century, so that women and girls were rigidly excluded.

Riddles and Answers.

Which is the most peculiar animal in the farm yard? A pig, because it is killed before it is cured.

Why is an elephant very different from any other animal? Because if you cut his head off from his body you don't take it from the trunk.

Why are poor jokes like monkeys?

Because they are farfetched and full of nonsense.

What is the difference between an auction and seasickness? One is a sale of effects, the other the effect of a sail.

The Life of a Tree.

How long will a tree live? Have you ever thought of that? An eminent French botanist said recently that, barring accidents and the ravages of insects, a tree will live on indefinitely. Gray, also eminent authority, says that a tree is virtually immortal. It annually renews its youth, new layers being regularly formed at its circumference. While this new formation goes on it matters not that the old central part of the tree decays.

Riddle and Answer.

Come, read me this riddle without any bother:

Five legs on one side and three on the other:

Two eyes in the forehead and four on the back;

One tongue that is silent and two that can clack.

GOOD HORSES.

The Preservation of Our Best Native American Types.

By GEORGE M. ROMMEL.

Pedantic persons may express some astonishment at the idea of looking to breed of saddle horses for carriage horses, but the records of horses with pedigrees are sufficient proof of the claim that the American saddle horse register contains some of our best carriage blood and that breeders who are using that blood judiciously are acting wisely.

There are certain lines of breeding found in the saddle horse register which can be relied upon to produce carriage horses. In Kentucky the breeding of horses for individual excellence of conformation, quality and action is carried to a greater degree than in any other state, and, contrary to popular opinion, the most of the men outside of the thoroughbred establishments who make their living from horse breeding in Kentucky—in the blue grass counties at least—are breeding not for speed, but for type. This has been going on for years, and for this reason the good, handsome horses of Kentucky have usually been appreciated, their history traced and their descendants accounted for.

If the same careful attention to points of conformation and action had been shown fifty years ago by Morgan breeders in New England and had there been displayed the same enthusiasm for and loyalty to a valuable local type of horses there would now be no necessity for government aid to save the Morgan from destruction. If horsemen in the limestone sections of the corn belt had paid less attention to the speed records of the stallions in their localities and more to their individuality the carriage horse work of the department of agriculture would be out of place.

Specific work in horse breeding by the United States government was first made possible by the inclusion in the appropriation act for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1905, of an item of $25,000 for experiments in animal breeding and feeding in co-operation with state agricultural experiment stations.

The reasons for taking up the breeding of carriage horses have been fully set forth in various publications, in articles for the press and in public addresses, but a recapitulation here may not be out of order. Briefly stated, they were: That carriage horses are, as a rule, the most valuable class on the market, that as a result of the strong demand the supply was gradually diminishing and that, notwithstanding all the importations of the carriage type from abroad, the preferred horse was the American horse.

Most important of all, however, was the feeling that steps should be taken to correct the practice of castrating valuable stallions and selling valuable mares for other than
