James A. May and son's sale, held last Tuesday, was attended by a large crowd of anxious buyers, and horses and cattle sold at good figures.

Leonard Dickinson of Iowa is visiting with his parents this winter. This makes the second year he has been in Iowa, and he thinks of locating there permanently.

Thomas Shew called on Albert Dickinson Wednesday, and by the way "Tommy" is a jolly fellow. He is thinking of locating in North Dakota after this coming year.

James Bogan had a narrow escape Wednesday. His team came in contact with a mail box and upset the buggy, but as providence had planted a tree by the roadside, the team was instantly stopped without doing much damage.

Where Bullets Flew.

David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., a veteran of the civil war, who lost a foot at Gettysburg, says: "The good Electric Bitters have done me worth more than five hundred dollars to me. I spent much money doctoring for a bad case of stomach trouble, to little purpose. I then tried Electric Bitters, and they cured me. I now take them as a tonic, and they keep me strong and well." 50c. at Long's drug store.

FAIR OAKS.

We are having fine winter weather yet.

Our schools are preparing to have exercises Thursday eve.

There is quite a bit of corn being marketed here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Pruett and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clinton visited Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Dunn and family Sunday.

The old fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the Heart or Kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative—is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments—the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart, or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail, then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by all dealers.

LEE.

Ann Zable went to Rensselaer Wednesday.

Mike Peregrine's are having a new well drilled.

Doctors

say take Cod Liver Oil—they undoubtedly mean Scott's Emulsion.

It would be just as sensible for them to prescribe Quinine in its crude form as to prescribe Cod Liver Oil in its natural state. In the oil is emulsified and made easy to take—easy to digest and easy to be absorbed in to the body—and is the most natural and useful fatty food to feed and nourish the wasted body that is known in medicine today.

Nothing can be found to take its place. If you are run-down you should take it.

Monday David Culp's moved to their new home, where Dave Noland used to live.

Mrs. Kate Parcels got some new chairs. They were shipped on the train Tuesday.

Word was received here Tuesday that Grandma Mellender was under the doctor's care, and was real poorly.

Last Sunday there was quite a crowd at Mr. Zable's, and they had their Cerman minister and held meeting.

Christmas day Mrs. Holman's children met at her home and enjoyed a Christmas turkey and other good things.

Last Sunday the Sunday school had a surprise on Cal Anderson, the superintendent. They presented him with a nice large print Teacher's Bible.

Next Friday evening there will be a social at the hall, a good supper and entertainment. Everybody invited to come and have a good social time, on the first night of the New Year.

Mr. Cowger, the teacher of our school, gave a nice treat to his pupils for Christmas, and they had a good entertainment and quite a few visitors were present. The pupils surprised him with a nice book of Carleton's works, which he appreciated very much.

Arthur Parcels loaded his car Wednesday and Thursday, and Roy Stiers went with the car Thursday on its trip to Texas. They are expecting it to be a week or more on the road. The family will not go till Monday or Tuesday. They stayed Wednesday at J. H. Culp's and Thursday night at Frank Overton's.

CONNECTICUT COMPLACENCE.

Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Kansas—all those very self-complacent prairie giants out there with cornfields so big that a man can get lost in them—will kindly take back seats and keep quiet while we present to the American public N. Howard Brewer, of Hockanum, Conn., age twenty years, who brought away from the great corn exhibition at Omaha the "world's prize" for the largest number of bushels grown on a single acre, and the prize for the best flint corn grown anywhere this side of the Mississippi. Yet plenty of people out West have a belief that the soil here in our Connecticut valley is hardly visible for the stones and all worn out at that. We inform them that the Connecticut farm containing the acre from which young Brewer got his 133 bushels of corn and his world-beating record has been in the Brewer family and under cultivation for 250 years. Any of them who happen this way should take a look at it. Hockanum is accessible by trolley from Hartford, and the cars cross Hartford bridge—which is worth looking at, too. They don't have bridges like that in the West.—Hartford Courant

STOCK FOOD FOR PIGS.

Some Experiments With Commercial and Homemade Feed.

In a report from South Dakota to the Experiment Station Record, Washington, the subjoined about stock food for pigs appears:

In the first of the two series of tests reported, which included two years, five commercial stock feeds with ground corn and barley were fed in comparison with ground corn and barley one to one. The feeding period in the first year covered ninety-two days and in the second sixty-three days, and the lots included from eight to ten pigs. In every case the pigs had access to rape pasture.

On the check ration the average daily gain per pig for the two years was 1.1 pounds, the feed required per pound of gain 5.19 pounds and the cost of a pound of gain 4 cents. On the ration including stock feeds the daily gain ranged from 1.17 pounds per head to 1.34 pounds, the grain eaten per pound of gain from 4.54 to 4.96 pounds and the cost of a pound of gain from 4.10 to 4.58 cents.

In the second series of tests cornmeal was compared with cornmeal and a commercial stock feed and with cornmeal and a homemade stock feed, using three lots of eight pigs each, fed for sixty-one days. All the lots had the run of blue grass pasture in addition to the grain or grain and stock feed. The total gain was 514 pounds on cornmeal alone, 483 pounds on cornmeal and commercial stock feed and 551 pounds on cornmeal and homemade stock feed. The feed required per pound of gain in the three cases was 4.91, 5.49 and 5.11 pounds and the cost of a pound of gain 3.85, 4.69 and 4.4 cents.

From the above table it will be seen that it required more pounds of feed for 100 pounds of gain in this experiment than it did for the average of the lots in the previous experiment. This can be accounted for from the fact that the rape pasture furnished a more succulent feed than did the blue grass pasture.

From the data presented in this bulletin the reader must draw his own conclusions as to the value of any of the stock foods tried.

The homemade stock feed, according to the authors, was made up as follows:

Gentian, two pounds, cost 50 cents; ginger, one pound, cost 40 cents; sodium bicarbonate, one pound, cost 10 cents; fenugreek, five tenths of a pound, cost 10 cents.

Purchase these materials at a drug store and have them mixed into fine powders. Then mix with five pounds of common salt and twenty-five pounds of shorts. This compound will cost about 4 1/2 cents per pound. For the pig mix a pound with every forty-eight pounds of grain.

Pasture for Pigs.

Thirty shoats averaging fifty-two pounds in weight were divided as nearly equal as possible into three lots of ten each. Lot No. 1 was fed on a grain mixture of shorts one-half, cornmeal one-fourth and Kafir cornmeal one-fourth in a dry lot. The other two lots were fed the same grain ration, but one received rape pasture and the other alfalfa pasture in addition. Each lot was given what grain the hogs would eat up clean, and each had access to water and ashes. The gains of the three lots were very nearly equal. The dry lot consumed 567 pounds, or 70 pounds for every 100 pounds of grain, more grain than the pasture lots. The lot on rape required one acre of pasture, while the alfalfa lot used a trifle less than one-half acre.

Farm Labor in New York State.

The American Agriculturist contains brief statements from several farmers in different parts of New York state relating to the farm labor problem. The general trend of the replies indicates that good farm labor is scarce, that wages for day labor range from $1.25 to $1.50 per day and monthly wages from $20 to $33 with board for ten hours' work per day and that the scarcity of work in cities is bringing back to the farm those who were born and brought up thereon. The encouragement of the immigration of farm labor from the United Kingdom, Germany, Sweden and other European countries is advocated as a remedy.

Jack For Raising Buggy.

To make the implement shown in the accompanying illustration use two pieces of oak 22 by 4 by 1 and one piece 15 by 4 by 1. Nail the smaller piece between the larger ones at one end. To the lower end nail two pieces of 12 by 4 by 1, one on each side of the three pieces already joined for a supporting base.

Three inches from the top of the boards bore a half inch hole. Take another piece of wood 28 by 1 by 1 1/2 and bore a hole in it seven inches from one end. Place it between the two boards and bolt with a four inch bolt. Tack a notched piece of wood about five inches long to the short end of this lever. About eight inches from the other end fasten loosely a piece of strap iron nineteen inches long which has a hook on the opposite end. Drive two nails in the upright boards to regulate the height, and, says Prairie Farmer, you have a convenient, light and inexpensive buggy jack.
