PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Instead of causing, it relieves. It's so simple, so safe, so sure, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. If it's painful periods with women, same cause. If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Brace your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply common sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

SLAIN BY ARMED POSSE AFTER ROBBING A BANK

Ex-Convict Flees With $565 Kills One of His Pursuers.

White Bear, Minn., Aug. 6.—In a pitched battle with rifles and revolvers following a bold robbery of the First State bank of White Bear, Henry Pohl, said to be an ex-convict, and Edward Larken, chief at the Five Forks, a Bald Eagle Lake cottage, were killed. Several others were wounded, William Butler, a White Bear fisherman, perhaps fatally.

As the robber dashed out of the bank with $565 the cashier raised the alarm, and citizens pursued the man to the lumber yards, where he hid. Larken entered the yards and was shot through the heart. The robber then ran to a pile of lumber a short distance beyond the yard, and hid under it.

A desperate battle with the self-constituted posse, during which at least 500 shots were exchanged, followed. John Brachvogel, one of the posse, who was armed with a repeating rifle, finally winged the robber in the arm. The man dropped his weapon, but picked it up again, and as he turned to fire, Brachvogel shot him dead.

Fifteen bullet wounds were found in the man's body.
