SAW COMET 30 YEARS AGO.

Mrs. Sadie E. Galbraith Writes From Kinderhook, Ill.

Kinderhook, Ill., May 5.
Editor Democrat:—I will drop a few lines to the paper this morning in regard to Halley's comet, as it has been visible here for several mornings. I saw it Wednesday morning at 3:30 a. m., and Thursday morning at 4 o'clock. Just 30 years ago I saw the same kind of a comet but the streak or tail from it run downward instead of upward. I lived near Wabash, Ind., at that time. People were greatly excited over it and said it was a sign of war, but the war didn't come for a good many years after that, the Spanish American war.

The weather is fine out here at present. We have had some very cold weather. All the fruit is killed, the farmers say. We haven't had water enough to run the dredge boat, and will be hung up all summer unless it rains.

Yours truly,

SADIE E. GALBRAITH.

The Coupon and Dr. Shoop's new book on Health Coffee sent to any lady requesting them. You can trick any one by secretly serving Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee at meal time. Your visitor or your husband will declare he is drinking real coffee—and yet there is not a grain of real coffee in Dr. Shoop's Health Coffee. Pure grains, malt, and nuts give Health Coffee its exquisite taste and flavor. No 20 to 30 minutes tedious boiling. "Made in a minute." Try it from your grocer and get a pleasant surprise. 1½ lb package 25c.—John Eger.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

I want to say to anyone needing anything in the Blacksmithing line, that I have employed Mr. Wm. Lowry, an expert horseshoer of wide experience. Also have added a trip-hammer to our machinery department, and guarantee that it will do better work than can be done by hand. We also have a new disk sharpening machine, the best there is made. We have now 18 labor-saving machines in our shop, which enables us to do first-class work on short notice.

We are located on the river bank, near the river bridge, or adjoining the Rensselaer Garage. Good hitching place in rear of shop.

Respectfully,

M. L. HEMPHILL & SON.

Horse Notes.

During the first days of plowing the collars should be raised often to cool the shoulders.

Bathing the shoulders with plenty of cold water after the day's work will help to harden them.

Go slow the first days of plowing. It will make a gain in the end.

A soft, fat horse will shrink during the first days of hard work, so look well to the fit of the collar.

A collar ill fitting and a little too large may cause sweency, and your valuable horse may be ruined.

Always remove the harness at the noon hour and dry the collars.

Clean the team after work and before bedtime.

They will do a bigger day's work on the morrow with less loss of condition. Don't let the work team run down. It is money lost.—Farm Journal.

Cause of Stringy Milk.

Stringy or sticky milk is due to an infection of the udder and is quite difficult to overcome. Keep the cow in the barn where it will be convenient to milk her often. Bathe the udder two or three times a day with water that is as warm as the cow can stand and milk the udder dry. In fact, she should be milked dry six or eight times a day in order to free the udder from the infection.

Udder troubles are very difficult to treat, and probably the very best treatment is to rub the udder with hot water and keep all accumulations of infected milk removed often and completely.—Hugh G. Van Pelt in Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

Tonic For Sheep.

A mixture of copperas, sulphur and salt makes a good tonic for sheep, one which many no doubt will need at this season of the year, says the Kansas Farmer. It tends to purify the blood and help the animal in its fight against worms and other troublesome parasites. About six parts of salt to one each of copperas or sulphur make the right proportion. If this is kept constantly before the sheep inside the barn, where the moisture cannot reach it, they will eat freely of it and will undoubtedly be greatly benefited by it.

Old Way Not Profitable.

It does not seem necessary at this late day to urge the necessity of a silo on the dairy farm, yet there are many farms without a silo, their owners preferring to go along in the old way, feeding their cows timothy hay and western grain feeds. It is not strange that dairymen is unprofitable even at this time of high prices for both butter and cheese.

HINTS FOR THE BUSY HOUSEWIFE

Embroidery Hoop That Saves Wear on Fabrics.

The merit of the embroidery hoop illustrated above is that the two rings are quickly and easily separated, and that without exerting any pressure on the fabric between them. The inner ring is solid, as is usual, but the outer one has a segment out and is joined by a strip of metal bowed outwardly so as to form a spring. By pressure of the thumb on this spring the outer ring is widened and removed without any strain on the cloth between the two. Often this cloth is of such a fine texture that the rubbing of it between the hoops causes tears or at least spoils the weave. A woman who has put weeks or even months on a fine piece of embroidery will appreciate the advantage of having a pair of hoops that eliminate the danger of having her work damaged at the last moment.

Codfish Soup.

One-half turnip, one or two parsley roots (or leaves if not roots) and three onions. Slice all these and boil until done in two quarts of water, then add a cupful of shredded codfish and boil a little longer. Take a cupful of milk, an egg and a tablespoonful of flour. Beat these well together and add to the above. Let thicken and then season with a little ginger and pepper. By cooking fresh fish until it can be removed from the bones you can make same as codfish soup, only add a little salt and butter the size of an egg.

Hot Chicken Salad.

Two tablespoonfuls of butter, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-half saltspoonful of pepper, one pint of cream, one pint of cold chicken cut into dice, one pint of oysters washed and drained, one cupful of chopped celery. Melt butter in saucepan, add flour, salt and pepper. Pour in the cream slowly. Add chicken and oysters and cook until oysters are plump. Add celery and serve on toast. May be made on chafing dish also.

Lima Beans.

Soak overnight and parboil a quart of lima beans in salted water for twenty minutes. Drain well. Place them in a pan with a piece of butter the size of an egg and a pinch of pepper. Cook until tender, but not broken. Then add a cupful of cream or milk and a pinch of chopped parsley. If a thick gravy is liked stir a teaspoonful of flour into the milk when it is added. Serve hot with crackers.

Cheap Bedroom Curtains.

Buy a good grade of cream scrim and make one inch hems and sew imitation cluny inside the hem and cut the scrim from beneath. Edge the curtains with imitation cluny edging one or one and a half inches wide. Hang the curtains on thin brass rods, allowing the curtain ends to reach the casement. A wide window with valance of scrim, the curtains drawn to each side, will be artistic.

Filling For Cracks in Floors.

Soak newspapers in a paste of half a pound of flour, half a pound of alum and three quarts of water mixed together and boiled. This mixture, which should be as thick as putty, may be forced into cracks in floors with a case knife. It hardens like papier mache, neatly and permanently filling any crack to which it may be applied.

Gossamer Gingerbread.

One cupful of butter, two cupfuls of sugar, a little salt, one cupful of milk, three cupfuls of flour, two tablespoonfuls of ginger. Cream butter, add sugar and milk slowly, add flour and other ingredients. Spread very thin on a buttered, inverted dripping pan and bake in a moderate oven. Cut and roll while hot.

Buttermilk Pie.

Beat to a cream half a cupful of butter and two cupfuls of sugar. Add two well beaten eggs and four tablespoonfuls of sifted flour. Beat until perfectly smooth, and then add one pint of freshly churned buttermilk. Mix thoroughly and bake in two crusts.

Remedy For Croup.

For croup get some spirits of turpentine and when the child begins to whoop and gasp pour some turpentine on a rag and hold it to the mouth just as it gasps for breath; also lay a saturated rag on the pillow.

Humor and Philosophy

By DUNCAN M. SMITH

PERT PARAGRAPHS.

ALL the world's a stage, and the box office receipts are as disappointing as those of any other mediocre stage.

The only men who ever know all about women fail to be born.

Women aren't really afraid of mice. They only let men think they are because men want to think so. It gives a man a chance to be brave and heroic in his own eyes without the slightest personal risk. Clever women!

Conscience may be a handicap, but it seldom works to hurt anything.

Man born of woman is of few days and often sees them double.

The trouble about the biggest bargains is that they are so apt to be those things that we don't want at any price.

Consider the cost of legal proceedings before you permit yourself to do anything rash or foolish.

The trouble is that we are so apt to think that most of our kindness is unappreciated and misplaced.

The meek in these days inherit the vacuum where desirable things used to be.

A baseball game is designed for the special effervescence of the genus homo.

A thoughtful person is the type that is apt to get under the epidermis when we aren't looking.

Stumbling Along.
The line of least resistance.
We constantly are seeking.
And whether we are working
Or whether we are speaking,
We take the cut that's shortest
To where we may be going
And in the meantime trying
To make the largest showing.

We do some nimble guessing
And constantly are shifting
To where a chance seems offered
To do less heavy lifting.
At times we are mistaken.
And at our luck we grumble
When where we thought smooth sledding
We only take a tumble.

Because when in the seeking
Our second sight is lacking
We have to reconsider
And do a lot of backing
And later to discover
As our mistakes grow clearer
The way that seemed the longer
Was in the end much nearer.

And so we blunder forward
In blind, unsteady groping,
But always for the better
In optimism hoping.
We think that we are going
Straight forward as a rocket,
And when we are not looking
We drop into a pocket.

As He Could Testify.
"I'd like to see a bold holdup man."
"I see one every day."
"Mercy! Do you?"
"The same one."
"Why don't you have him arrested?"
"That would never do."
"Why?"
"Because it is my wife."

Precaution.
"Ma."
"Yes."
"I wish you would tell Santa Claus that I have some of those cigars left that he brought me last Christmas."
