tion is done as a precaution for the safety of those in the camp proper. In quarantining you are not permitted to go beyond a certain limit. You are not allowed to associate in any way with others than those under quarantine. In order to keep you from getting the blues you are kept busy. You are taken out of bed at six in the morning. In six minutes you must dress and fall in line for roll call. You are then sent back in the barracks to make up your bunk and clean up the barracks inside and out. At six-thirty you eat. You must get back to your barracks, put on your leggings, shine your shoes, roll your pack and fall in for drill at 7:30. You are drilled until 11:30, and drilled hard. You are then taken off of the field and back to the barracks where you must clean up and prepare for chow, and you must be clean, hair combed, shoes shined, body clean, finger and toe nails trimmed and clean, clothes brushed and all buttons sewed on etc. At twelve you go to chow. At one you have inspection. On Monday body inspection to see that you are clean. On Tuesday clothes and bunk inspection, and other days other inspections, such as different kinds of packs, to see that you know how to roll them correctly and inspection of other equipment.

At one fifteen you again go to drill. At four you come off the field and are given until five to bathe, wash clothes, black leggings and clean up around your building. At five you again go to chow. At six roll is called, colors are lowered while you give them the military salute. You are given until six thirty to clean up your rifle, your bayonet, equipment and wash your mess gear, frying pan, canteen, cup, knife, fork, spoon, etc., and they must be polished until they are shiny.

At six thirty you are taken to the movies. You must go whether you care to or not. Arriving at the theatre you are lectured to until seven thirty. Then the movie begins, partly regular movies and partly military instructive pictures. Back to the barracks at nine thirty where you must make your bed, undress and if your rifle and bayonet are not thoroughly cleaned they must be cleaned. At ten you are inspected to see that you are stripped of everything, underwear and all and in your pajamas, to see that your bed is made up correctly and your rifle and bayonet are inspected. The clothing you wore the day before is inspected to see that you are not wearing dirty clothing. At ten taps are sounded and all lights go out and you had better be in bed and quiet or—something is going to happen. So I did not have any time which was my own while in quarantine.

I will have more time and will write often now. We will now spend two weeks on the range with rifles and revolvers and will have bayonet practice. We will soon be sent away from here and it is no telling where we will go.

I went to church this morning as I have ever since I enlisted. All men here are made to attend church of some denomination. I do not have to be made. The K. of C.'s have a very pretty little chapel about a mile from where mass is said. After catholic services protestant services are held. There is a priest on the island all the time.

I will write to you often and to dad. (Dr. Maloy of Chicago) and sis.

All my love to Gumpey, Bro.

I would like to call especial attention to the number of cows with calves at foot. The majority of these are re-bred. These cattle are the large beef type, good quality and in good breeding order. This offering should be an especial attraction to the breeder and to the young man who wants to start a herd, because it makes a difference in the value of the cow you buy if she is bred to an outstanding sire, or to a fairly good bull. These cows are bred to the highest type of Shorthorn bulls, among them being an imported bull, a very attractive roan, has a beautiful head and general outline, his breeding is of the best, and his sire one of the best bulls in Scotland. This bull is being retained in the herd of Floyd Amsler. The other bull is a Canadian bred bull, a dark roan, thick bodied, straight, level bull with good head. His calves will show for himself in the sale. (He sells.)

Dear Sir:
After covering 160,000 miles during the past four years, a Hudson Super-Six was sold recently in San Diego, Calif., for only $400 less than it cost when new.

This car had seen the hardest kind of usage over mountain roads in the usage business. Its usual trip was 125 miles a day carrying eight persons and 300 pounds of baggage. Often this journey was made twice in the same day.

"I drove this car 60,000 miles before taking up the bearings or grinding the valves," says James Adrian, its former owner. "At 120,000 miles I put in new wrist pins, oversize pistons and a new high gear, but the rear end was never touched."

The wonderful record made by this car is nothing unusual for a Hudson as more than 80,000 owners will testify. It does, however, show that the same supreme endurance which has enabled Super-Sixes to capture more worth while records than have ever been held by any other stock car, is to be found in every Super-Six built.

This superior endurance is the result of an exclusive and patented principle of motor construction which can be obtained only in the Super-Six. By minimizing destructive vibration, this principle has not only increased the power of the
