"One of the Finest"

Blue Coat, Brass Buttons—and the world was his! He springs at 'em, not from 'em! He's a mounted policeman—and one of the finest! How handsome Larry won an heiress in a day. Cupid at the bat! The pride of the force arrests Dan Cupid. The story of a traffic cop and a love burglar. The story of a traffic cop and a girl with money.

"A Little Brother of the Rich"

Featuring

Frank Mayo, Kathryn Adams and
J. Barney Sherry

Did you ever see "A Little Brother of the Rich" on the stage? Then you'll doubly enjoy it in this great picture. Here's one of the supreme joys of picturedom. From the pen of the great Joseph Medill Patterson. This is the play that created a furore in hundreds of cities as a stage play. To miss it means missing one of the biggest photoplays of the season.

Dainty, Adorable

May Allison

"Fair and Warmer"

She had never mixed a cocktail. Never. Nor tasted one. And then one night Jack went to lodge—at least he said he did—and Blanny found somebody else's cellarette. Such a thing as a perfect husband? Of course. And they're terrible. You can't find fault with them. Laura Bartlett knew that Billy was just the maddening kind. It was the outlandish goodness in Billy that started all the complications in "Fair and Warmer," the funniest of Avery Hopwood's farces, in which May Allison is starring.

The play that made the weather famous.
A sunny comedy with showers of laughter.
The farce with the Elevator Cocktail and the sky the limit of joy.

A comedy with a cocktail, complication and a kick.
