$9,000 DAMAGES FROM HOTEL

Indianapolis Man and Wife Win Suit Against Detective Who Ousted Them While They Were on Honeymoon in Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., March 26.—Damages of $9,000 were awarded Cassius C. Smiley and his wife, Mrs. Harriet Presser Smiley of Indianapolis, against the Hotel Morrison by a jury in Federal Judge George T. Page's court in a suit filed because they were ousted from the hotel by the house detective, J. C. Brock, on April 19, 1918, on the suspicion that they were not married. The evidence set forth that the couple were properly registered, which the hotel management admitted in court, and that the detective forced his way into their room, embarrassing Mrs. Smiley, who was in negligee, and fought with her husband, finally ordering them to leave. His suspicion, according to the evidence, was based on hearing Mr. Smiley call his wife "sweetheart." Mr. Smiley is an official of the Diamond Match company and Mrs. Smiley is the proprietor of an Indianapolis millinery shop.

W. P. Wilder Shot by Thief.

Brazil, March 26.—Marshal P. Wilder of this city was shot and slightly wounded in the breast by a burglar at the home of Jack McGregor, a friend. McGregor was preparing to retire when he discovered a burglar entering his home. He went to the top of a double porch, and, pointing his finger at the intruder, told him he had him covered and to hold up his hands. The man complied. Wilder passed by on the street and stopped to investigate the trouble. McGregor asked him to search the man and he did so, finding several saws, files, keys and other burglar tools, but overlooking a revolver, which was concealed in a coat pocket. McGregor then instructed Wilder to hold the thief until he came downstairs. In the meantime the burglar freed himself, fired two shots at Wilder, one bullet striking him above the heart, and escaped. Wilder is widely known throughout the state and for some time was a football coach at Purdue university.

READY TO RANSOM SON

KENTUCKY FATHER OFFERS TO PAY $25,000 DEMANDED.

Eleven-Year-Old Son of Lexington Man Is Lured From Home by Kidnaper.

Lexington, Ky., March 26.—Although E. R. Little, Lexington capitalist, had announced that the demanded ransom would be paid, Paul Little, his eleven-year-old son, is still a captive of the kidnaper who lured him away. It was stated that the kidnaper demanded $25,000 ransom. Little announced all demands would be met, declaring, "I do not care about the $25,000 if I can get my son back safely." The boy disappeared with an unidentified man in the late afternoon. The lad's playmates had said that he had told them the man had promised him a dollar to deliver a box of candy. Later a note was delivered to the Little home by a messenger boy, but the father refused to divulge the exact contents of the message. He did admit, however, that it contained threats to kill his son if the ransom was not paid. No attempts to arrest the kidnaper would be made, he indicated, and no questions would be asked if the boy was returned safely.
