Thorough, but Not Pedantic.

[Overheard at the Louvre.]
 American Tourist (suspiciously)—Say, guide, haven't we seen this room before?
 Guide—Oh, no, monsieur.
 Tourist—Well, see here. We want to

A LITTLE NONSENSE.

Miss Smith's New Hat and What Became of It.

A certain good natured doctor whose doorbell rang late one night, supposing that the summons was from one who needed his services, rose from bed, put on his dressing gown and went down to the door.

A young man stood there holding a huge package, from which buds and leaves were protruding.

"Is Miss Smith in?" asked the man.

"She has retired," answered the doctor. Miss Smith was his cook.

"I am sorry, sir, to call so late.
 Something went wrong with the car;
 I was in. I'll leave this for her, sir, if you will kindly give it to her in the morning."

"Certainly," said the doctor. He took the bundle carefully, closed the door and carried the flowers into the kitchen. There he placed a dish-pan in the sink, drew a few inches of water in it, carefully pressed the base of the package into the water and went back to bed, thinking how pleased the cook would be.

The next morning he went into the kitchen early to find the cook holding a dripping bundle. Her manner was belligerent, and her tone was in keeping with it.

"If I had the pussens wot did this," said she, "I'd empty the kettle on them! I'd let them see if they could put my new hat in a dishpan, I would!"

The doctor left the kitchen somewhat hurriedly, and not until he was safe in his study did he give vent to the laughter which was consuming him.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Mother—Johnny, weren't you shamed to strike your little friend? I wouldn't treat a dog that way.
 Johnny—Neither would I; but he ain't a dog.—Philadelphia Press.

Before the Wedding Trip.

The Groom—I do hope they'll throw lots of rice—I'm awfully hungry.— Brooklyn Life.

Scorched Woolens.

Treat a scorch precisely as you would any other stain. Sponge the stain with a mixture of equal parts of alcohol, ether and naphtha or benzine, changing the sponge several times. It is possible to remove it by washing with good suds made of lukewarm water and white soap.
 Wipe dry.

Emergency Stove Polish.

Soft coal soot makes an excellent stove polish. Put a quart of soot in some old vessel. Put a teaspoonful of molasses in a cupful of vinegar.
 Pour this mixture on the soot and stir until it is a paste. It can be put on nicely when the stove is warm or cold.

The Famous Hanging Gardens.

Every one, young and old, has heard of the hanging gardens of Babylon, but few persons perhaps know how they were constructed.
 They were about four acres in extent and were built on a base supported by pillars. They rose in terraces to a height of 300 feet, and it is said that they looked from a distance like a great pyramid covered with trees. Strange to say, they owed their existence to the whim of a woman, Queen Amytis, who grew so tired of the plains of Babylon and pined so much for the hills of her native Media that her husband, King Nebuchadnezzar, had the gardens built to please her.

Singers of the Future.

The prediction is made by one giving much thought to music that the majority of the American singers of the future will hail from the south. This belief is founded on the fact that the people of southern climes have the soft voices and temperament requisite to the success of a singer. The prediction is of especial interest, as it comes from a woman of New England origin and training.—Circle Magazine.
