1,110 BUSHELS ON ELEVEN ACRES.

James Sevedge Raised This Remarkable Crop on Mitchell Farm North of City.

That the corn crop of Gibson county is not a failure has been proven by Mr. James Sevedge, a tenant of the farm of Mrs. Marguerite Mitchell, north of the city. Mr. Sevedge raised 1,110 bushels of corn on eleven acres of ground, an average of almost 111 bushels to the acre. This is not wagon bed guess work measure, but the corn was weighed and sold to the Melrose Milling company in this city. Mr. Wm. Weese, manager of the Melrose Milling company, says that it is the best corn he ever brought in this city, and that a test showed that there was only 13 1/2 per cent liquid while corn for export only calls for 17 per cent and the general average this year is about 23 per cent. The corn brought 55 cents per bushel while the market price is only 51 cents.—Princeton Democrat

Died.

Wilfrid Vincent, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Aug. W. Flick, died of pneumonia Nov. 14 at 2 P. M. after an illness of only three days duration. He was but five months and twenty days old.

His remains were laid to rest, Monday morning, in Fairview Cemetery, a large number of sorrowing relatives and friends attending the funeral.

The little crib is empty now. The little clothes laid by: A mother's joy, a father's hope. In death's cold arm doth lie. Go, little pilgrim, to thy home On yonder blissful shore. Where thou has gone before.

On Saturday Nov. 7 Walter H. Brooks of Chrisman Ill., to Effie M. Critchlow, Justice F. L. Betz performed the ceremony at the bride's home on North Jackson Street.

The happy couple left on the 11.30 train for their future home at Chrisman Ill.

Our best wishes go with them.

STRETCH YOURSELF.

Do it the First Thing After You Wake In the Morning.

A splendid thing for the body is stretching. When you first wake up in the morning, take a good, long stretch. Stretch the hands as far out, sideways as possible. Then stretch them over the head as far as you can reach, and at the same time stretch the feet downward as far as you can. Raise the feet and stretch upward just as high as you can, and then lower the feet and legs very slowly.

When you get out of bed, raise your arms over your head, and, standing on tiptoe, see how near you can reach the ceiling. Then walk about the room while in this position. Stand on the right foot and stretch the right arm forward and upward as high as you can, while at the same time the left foot is raised from the floor and stretched outward, and the left hand is stretched backward and downward. This is a fine exercise for the whole body and is especially good for the waist and hips, making them firm and strong. Standing on the left foot this exercise can be reversed.

If you have been sitting in the same position for a long time reading, studying, writing or sewing and the muscles have become tired and cramped, the best thing to do is to get up and stretch. Stretch the arms upward and outward and forward and backward. Lift the shoulders as high as you can and drop them. Expand the chest and breathe deeply, or, sitting in the chair, stretch the hands upward, lift the feet from the floor and stretch them forward as far as possible, any way so you give the muscles a good, vigorous stretch.

When one is very tired, there is nothing more restful than stretching the muscles and then relaxing. —Exchange.

Illuminating Gas.

In the Philo-Optical Transactions of the Royal Society of London for 1739 is printed a letter, written in 1691, in which the Rev. John Clayton details a series of experiments he made in distilling coal in a retort, showing not only that he had observed the inflammable gases evolved, but that he had collected and stored them for some time in bladders. In 1787 Lord Dundonald made gas from coal, with which he lighted the hall of Culross' abbey. In 1793 Robert Murdoch began the experiments which resulted in the establishment of coal gas as an illuminating agent. In 1797 he publicly showed the system he had matured, and in 1798, being employed in the factory of Boulton & Watt, Birmingham, he fitted up an apparatus for the manufacture of gas in that establishment, with which it was lighted. This was the first use of illuminating gas except by way of experiment.

BACK G.V.S OUT.

Plenty of Jasper Readers Have This Experience.

You tax the kidneys—overwork them. They can't keep up the continual strain.

The back gives out—it aches and pains;

Urinary troubles set in.

Don't wait long—take Doan's Kidney Pills.

Jasper people tell you how they act. Edward Fierst, living on West Sixth street, Jasper, Ind., says: "My experience in using Doan's Kidney Pills has been most satisfactory. My occupation as a blacksmith is extremely hard on the back and I have had lumbergous severals times. On these occasions, I would also have dizzy spells, and at times, frequent inclinations to pass the kidney secretions. After using many remedies without success, Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and proved prompt in giving me relief. The last attack I had was about two months ago when I went to Flick & Pfau's drug store for a box of Doan's Kidney Pills. As on former occasions, they quickly banished the pain and lameness. I am glad to endorse them."

Often The Kidneys Are Weakened by Over-Work.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood. It used to be considered that only urinary and bladder troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all diseases have their beginning in the disorder of these most important organs.

The kidneys filter and purify the blood—that is their work.

Therefore, when your kidneys are weak or out of order, you can understand how quickly your entire body is affected and how every organ seems to fail to do its duty.

If you are sick or "feel badly," begin taking the great kidney remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, because as soon as your kidneys are well they will help all the other organs to health. A trial will convince anyone.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases, and is sold on its merits in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may buy a sample bottle.

Nearly Through.

A stranger entered a church in the middle of the sermon and seated himself in the back pew. After awhile he began to fidget. Leaning over to the white haired man at his side, evidently an old member of the congregation, he whispered: "How long has he been preaching?"

"Thirty or forty years, I think," the old man answered. "I don't know exactly."

"I'll stay then," decided the stranger. "He must be nearly done." —Everybody's Magazine.
