The Right Way to Proceed in Washing Delicate China.

A big wooden bowl filled with warm, not boiling, soapsuds, to which a few drops of household ammonia have been added, should be prepared and each piece of china washed separately in this, using a square of old flannel for plain plates, etc., and a soft brush (a painter's brush is best) for elaborately ornamental articles.

Rinse in another wooden bowl of clean warm water and dry with linen cloths. Bronze ornaments may be washed in the same way, but should be finally polished with a chamois leather. Some people consider a rub with a rag on which there is the least suspicion of paraffin gives bronze a nice appearance. Glass should be washed in warm water that has a little ammonia in it, but no soap, and then rinsed in quite cold water. Cut glass should be washed with a brush, or if elaborately cut and very dirty it is rather a good plan not to wash it at all, but brush a paste of whiting and water well into it, allowing it to dry on thoroughly, then removing it with a clean brush and finally polishing with an old silk handkerchief.
