A Real Angel.

For a good, every day household angel give us the woman who laughs.

Her pastry may not always be just right, and she may occasionally burn her bread and forget to replace the missing buttons, but for solid comfort all day and every day she is a very paragon. Home is not a battlefield, nor life one long, unending fight. The trick of always seeing the bright side, or, if the matter has no bright side, of polishing up the dark one, is a very important faculty, one of the things no woman should be without.

We are not all born with sunshine in our hearts, as the Irish pretty phrase it, but we can cultivate a cheerful sense of humor if we only try.—Woonsocket Reporter

BY A WOMAN-HATER.

Most women are credulous enough to believe in their husbands.

When widows rush in it's time for young girls to look out. Every spinster insists that she is one because she wants to be.

A woman can fire a line of talk straighter than she can hurl a stone.

If a man has a wife he always knows what to do with his money.

Some women abuse their husbands as a means of asserting their independence.

Secrets a woman can't tell worry her as much as the money she can't spend.

An old bachelor says an engaged man is as good as married, and a divorced man is better.

As soon as a girl is old enough to know better she quits wearing pins along her waist line.

When a woman has on a pretty pair of stockings she is terribly afraid of getting the bottom of her skirt soiled.

Between being held up and blown up, the average married man has a strenuous time of it.

Our idea of a beautiful woman is one who looks attractive with her hair done up in kid curls—and she is scarce.

Four weeks from Wednesday is Christmas Day, so it's time to get ready for it.

Last dances before Advent were given, Wednesday night at both Kunkel's Hall and the Opera House were well attended. No more dancing now until after Christmas.

A Former Jasper Bog Killed in a Coal Mine at Linton.

Louis Vonderschmitt, aged seventeen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vonderschmitt, of Linton, was instantly killed about 8:30 Friday morning Nov. 13 1908 in Vandalia mine Nov. 8 at Atlas.

Young Vonderschmitt was a driver and was thrown from the car while making a trip with loaded cars.

No one seems to know exactly how the accident occurred, but he was evidently caught between the car and a post and the impact was so heavy he was dead when found almost immediately after the accident.

The body was not mutilated, but the injuries were internal. There were a few minor bruises about the face and body.

Joseph Vonderschmitt, the young man's father works at the same mine.—Davies Co Democrat.

Mr. Jos. Vonderschmitt and family have the sympathy of their many friends here.

Windsor's Best Room.

It is Where the Queen Dines in State and is Marvelously Decorated.

The most beautiful apartment in Windsor castle is said to be the state dining-room, which is decorated with cream and gold and communicates with the red drawing-room, according to the New York Journal.

Queen Alexandra generally dines in the oak room, but when many guests are staying at the castle the state-room is used instead. The queen does not take the head of the table, but always sits with her back to the fireplace. One of the windows overlooks the eastern terrace, where the band plays on Sundays. This is the fashionable promenade of the residents of Windsor. An enormous silver-gilt punch bowl stands in this dining-room which was ordered by King George IV. and cost £10,000. It is capable of holding eight gallons, and on the occasion of the prince of Wales' wedding was filled with 210 bottles of mulled claret.

ONE PLACE ANYHOW

Two men from New York awoke one morning to find themselves in Savannah. Remembering that they were in a prohibition state, and having a thirst worthy of their surroundings, the pair started out on a hunt for an eye-opener.

They were not acquainted and were in a quandary as to where to start on their quest, and while they were debating this question mentally between them they were approached by a pleasant-looking policeman, who wished them "good morning."

"Say, Jim," said one of the pilgrims to the other, "can you open a saloon? Her's a good fellow, ask him." It was agreed, and the officer answered their inquiry by saying laconically, "Follow me," he walked them three blocks until they stood in front of the saloon. "I see he paused."

The travelers looked at each other in astonishment.

"Surely, my good man," said the first, "you do not mean to tell us that a blind tiger is being operated in church?"

"You see the church, do you?" asked the policeman solemnly.

"Yes," assented the two.

"Well, that is the only place in Savannah that you can't get it," said he.

Mr. Greene had suffered a general breaking down several months ago, which finally resulted in his death. He was about sixty-five years of age and was one of the early inhabitants of Madison Tp., where he followed farming for a good many years. Lately he and his family had been conducting the old Hardin hotel in Ireland.

He leaves a large number of friends to sympathize with the sorrowing relatives.

REV. J. O. ASHBURN.

Old Eckstein Home Burns.

The old Eckstein home, belonging to Mart Eckstein, about a mile north-west of town, burned down Monday, night, about ten o'clock. There hasn't been anybody living in the place for several months and it is not known how it caught fire but it is supposed that matches must have been left there by tramps or other persons and probably lighted by mice.

There was about thirty bushels of wheat stored in the house, which was also destroyed.

It was lucky that the fire didn't happen till after the rain of Monday afternoon for if everything had been as dry as before the rain the fire would have likely spread and did much more damage.
