Does Love Spoil Men's Work?

By HALL CAINE, Novelist and Playwright

THE question whether or not love spoils a man's career all depends upon THE WOMAN.

If she be the WRONG WOMAN, he is like the man whose boat has sprung a leak—half the time that ought to be spent in making way is spent in baling out. If she be the right woman, she is so much EXTRA SAIL.

In the majority of cases of successful careers that have come within my own observation the wife has been extra sail.

One sees, of course, the obvious advantages of celibacy to pioneers like Cecil Rhodes, as well as to men who carry their lives in their hands, and should think of nothing but WORK AND DUTY. In the hour of peril having wife and children is apt to make a coward of a man.

Few men are called to the exercise of such a tragic choice, and to the greater number a brave woman by a man's side is an ADDED STRENGTH.

The marriages of literary men have often been unhappy. The SELFISH ABSORPTION required by the literary calling is not generally helpful to domestic life. The same might be said of the marriage of painters, and still more of actors, where the same conditions apply. But against the Byrons, the Shelleys, the Coleridges, the Dickenses, the Lyttons, you may very well set THE BROWNINGES, the Southyses, the Scotts, the Wordsworths and the Tennysons.

It is obvious that some of the happiest marriages of literary men have not been to LITERARY WOMEN, but to the sweet and simple souls who were "not all too good for human nature's daily food."

Coming to humbler conditions of life, I should say that marriage among work people generally unsettles the woman.

SHE BECOMES A WORSE SERVANT, BUT THE MAN BECOMES A BETTER SERVANT, FOR THE ADDED SENSE OF PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY WITH THE COMING OF WIFE AND CHILDREN MAKES A MAN MORE CAREFUL OF HIS DUTY AND MORE ANXIOUS TO KEEP HIS PLACE.

Alcoholism Is Only A Form of Insanity

By Dr. T. D. CROTHERS of Hartford, Conn.

THE term "inebriety" describes a condition which calls for alcohol for its anaesthetic effect and in reality means a disease or DISORDER OF THE BRAIN, for which alcohol is a most grateful remedy.

The use of alcohol is in most cases a symptom of some disorder and not, as supposed, the cause. The theory that the excessive use of spirits is a vice and MORAL CONDITION is not true. Great injustice and wrongs follow the efforts to correct this evil based on these false theories. A scientific study of inebriety indicates a definite disease, with distinct causes, progress and termination, THE SAME AS OTHER DISEASES.

Two marked symptoms of insanity are prominent. One is in the periodic drinker, who drinks to excess for a short period, then abstains. This drink period is practically an acute mania or INSANE IMPULSE, which resists all efforts of control. It is often preceded by insomnia, headaches and great irritability. Such persons drink both secretly and openly and act like insane persons. It resembles epilepsy in its sudden convulsive onset and inability to break up or control except by the harshest measures.

Cases have been noted where persons drank for two or more months, then abstained for five years, relapsing again as before. Another large class of patients are secret midnight drinkers WHO NEVER DRINK AT ANY OTHER TIME.

Certain atmospheric and electrical conditions seem to be active in precipitating the drink attacks. One man only drinks at the seashore, another on high elevations. One drinks in certain climates and seasons of the year and at no other time. Many persons drink heavily in large cities and are strict abstainers elsewhere.

Another form of insanity is seen in the constant drinker who daily drinks in so called moderation, and because he is not incapacitated or seems not to be changed in feeling or degree of comfort believes that he is benefited. Measurements by instruments of precision and careful studies of persons who drink regularly, EVEN IN SO CALLED SMALL QUANTITIES, indicate that they are the most degenerate and defective of all inebriates and the most positively insane in a GENERAL sense.

ACCURATE STUDIES AND MEASUREMENTS SHOW THAT THE STEADY DRINKER HAS ALWAYS DELUSIONS AND HALLUCINATIONS, WITH DEGREES OF DEMENTIA, WHICH HE COVERS UP AND CAN ONLY BE SEEN BY HIS INTIMATE FRIENDS AND ASSOCIATES. ALL SUCH PERSONS SUFFER FROM CHRONIC POISON AND STARVATION.

The Temptation of "Getting"

By Rev. FRANCIS L. PATTON, President Princeton Theological Seminary

TO the poor man I say, "You poor man, you sell your muscle, you eat the bread of toil, ONLY TO BE DESPISED by those more prosperous."

And to the rich man I say: "Are YOU any better? You have bought and sold, your strong box is stuffed with securities, yours is the first fruit of the FARMERS' PRODUCE, you travel across the country in your private car, but death comes. Death is a flood that overawes you both, and you both must seek refuge in eternal life, the character of which is determined by your conduct HERE."

IT IS BETTER TO BE THAN TO HAVE. But many of us think the opposite. We go through college and we say these professional attainments must bring us something, and we start in to get.

Nobody is saying anything against ACCUMULATION, but beware of avarice!

LET NOT THE MONEY CHANGERS MAKE THEIR HOME IN THE SACRED PLACES OF THE SOUL. LEAVE A LITTLE SPACE THERE. AT LEAST FOR ART AND LITERATURE.
