

Gary News

T. E. Knotts is in Hammond today attending to business matters for the city.

Mr. Calhoun, the Inter-Ocean man, completed his work here this morning and returned to Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Sears were up from the south end this afternoon for a short visit on Euclid avenue.

C. J. Holmes of Lowell visited here for a short while this morning. His daughter returned with him from East Chicago, where she has been at work for some time.

The Falkneau Construction company has unloaded hundreds of carloads of lumber and is unloading more every day. Jackson street presents the appearance of a gigantic lumber yard, rather than of a fine residence street.

Teams are busily engaged in excavating the filled-in foundations of the company's office building north of the bridge. Large quantities of material for the building have been unloaded and the work of putting up the building will begin within a few days.

Ingwald Moe, the contractor, who is building the Illinois Steel company's barracks, occupied by the structural steel and iron workers, is figuring on a large building to be erected south of C. Dellachies, of Chicago, south of the Wabash.

Mr. Warne has his building nearly completed, just north of the one being built by Mr. Farrell. He will run a market and grocery and occupy the rear portion as living rooms. He has a snug little place in a good location.

Thomas O'Connell with John J. Farrell, completed the arrangements for the opening of Mr. Farrell's saloon the first of the week. Mr. Farrell will occupy the building he has erected, on what is known as Eastern avenue, between the Michigan Central and the Wabash.

The Wabash Railroad company is busy grading for the extension of its switches and extra spurs. As soon as those have been placed with some degree of certainty, steps will be taken towards the erection of a commodious depot on Broadway, when the present tower near Tolleston will be removed.

Mr. McCarty, foreman of the blast furnaces at South Chicago, looked over the work that is being done here, today. He was well impressed with the work that has been done and had no hesitancy in saying that he believed this to be the greatest project of its kind in the world.

E. E. Beck, the insurance inspector at Hammond, made an official inspection of this part of his territory yesterday. He came in over the Michigan Central, being the first man to use the new service stopping at Broadway. Mr. Beck is of the opinion that it will be but a short time until this district is divided on account of the rapidity of its growth now since Gary is begun.

Quite a number of the school children and Mr. Wildermuth took a moonlight ramble down to the home of Mr. Quillen in South Gary last evening, in celebration of Halloween. Several of the more strenuous members of the hopefuls followed the time-honored customs in vogue on that evening. No mischief of any consequence was done. The most prominent prank was the placing of a hotel sign on the quarters being erected by Attorney Wildermuth.

The work on the machine shop and blast furnaces is at rest as far as the structural portions are concerned, on account of the strike of the workers. They, together with the structural men in South Chicago, quit this morning. It is said, on account of not wishing to work with non-union men here. The company has maintained an open shop policy here hitherto and will probably continue to do so. The hindrance will probably prove only temporary. The men have been getting seventy cents an hour and are provided with the best quarters that Gary affords for any of the workers here.

One of the best concerts that has been given in West Pullman for some time took place at the Congregational church Tuesday evening, given under the auspices of the Sunday school. Those who took part were among our best musical talent, Miss Erwin as soloist; Mr. Masterson, violinist; Miss Flur-ette Heller, cornetist; Mr. Woodring, and Miss Margaret Hoppe, readers, and Miss Julia Krough, soloist, assisted by the West Pullman orchestra and a large chorus. All the numbers were well given. The Ingleside quartet was present and rendered a number of selections, which were highly enjoyed by the large audience, and responded to hearty encores. The Hallelujah chorus with the orchestra accompaniment, was given at the close of the first part of the program and was a splendid production of the grand masterpiece. It excelled anything in chorus work given here for some time. The program closed with the Star Spangled Banner.

Funeral of Mrs. Frank Shorts.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Harnett Shorts occurred yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Sacred Heart church and was one of the largest ever held in Whiting. The sermon by Rev. Father Berg was very impressive. Mrs. Shorts was born in Olean, N. Y., May 15, 1832. She lived at this place until 1892 when she came to Whiting with her parents. This having been her home ever since with the exception of a year spent with relatives in California, until her marriage to Frank Shorts on Dec. 15, 1905. As soon as their marriage, they left for Sugar Creek, Mo., where Mr. Shorts was employed by the Standard. Her illness was considered very serious from the first, and four doctors and two nurses attended her, but to no avail, as she was beyond the power of human skill. There is to mourn her loss, her husband and an infant son, her father, Maurice Hartnett of Pt. Richmond, Cal., three sisters, Mesdames Mike Harr and James Knight of this city and Miss Jane Hartnett of Pt. Richmond, and three brothers, John, James and Lawrence Hartnett of Pt. Richmond.
