The City of Great Britain.

Unless we command the sea we cannot keep open the roads by which our people are fed. Britain has in effect ceased to be a country. She is now, considered from the political and military point of view, a city, though a city with very large parks and pleasures and kitchen gardens in which to grow her flowers, fruits and vegetables. A city, from the point of view of war, may be described as a place which if besieged long enough must fall, since supplies once consumed cannot be replenished. Britain answers to this description. The moment the sea roads to her are closed by an enemy she is, ipso facto, in a state of siege. Face to face with a need so imminent, it would be madness for us to give any consideration to what we hope or believe are the intentions of this or that foreign power. All that we can rightly do in considering how to secure our national safety and independence is to count ships and guns and to compute the units of naval efficiency.—London Spectator.

A Shooting Gallery Secret.

"Do you see this glass ball?" said the shooting gallery man. It was a ball of hollow glass, an airy glass soap bubble, that had swung all season at the end of a thread in the foreground of the clay pipes, balls and what not that had made up the gallery's targets. "This glass ball," the man went on, "is my great money maker. All season long people tried to hit this ball—it was bigger and nearer than any other target—and everybody failed. Thousands of bullets were fired at the ball, thousands of nickels were spent on it, yet here it is, still untouched, my best breadwinner. All wise shooting gallery men have a glass ball like this. It makes such a tempting target, yet it is never hit. It is never hit because the air that precedes a gun charge is sufficient to blow the ball aside, out of the way. You might fire a hundred shots at it, but, like a living thing, like a timid soldier, for instance, it would dodge each shot."

Mary Anderson's Voice.

Miss Anderson's voice was always her predominant charm. Certain tones in it—so thrilling, so full of wild passion and inexpressible melancholy—went straight to the heart and brought tears into the eyes. The voice is the exponent of the soul. You can paint your face, you can pad your person, you can wear a wig, you can walk in shoes that augment your height, you can in various ways change your body, but your voice will sooner or later reveal you as you are. Just as the style of the writer discloses his character, so the quality of the voice discloses the actor's nature. It seems unlikely that Miss Anderson's melting, tragic tones were uttered in any of her girlish impertinences, but it gained her first victory.—William Winter in Saturday Evening Post.

Running as Exercise.

The fact that a person is capable of doing the best running and speed walking before the thirtieth year need not lead those who have passed the third decade to think that they are on the down grade of life, says an authority. These exercises call for elasticity of the arteries, and that lessens soon after the thirtieth year, but powers of endurance increase in the well preserved man or woman up to fifty or fifty-five or even later. Soldiers of fifty are like leather and can perform feats of endurance that would kill the stripling, and the same is true of women.

Blue Eyes.

That the color of the eyes should affect their strength may seem strange, yet that such is the case need not at this time of day be doubted, and those whose eyes are brown or dark colored should be informed that they are weaker and more susceptible to injury from various causes than gray or blue eyes. Light blue eyes are generally the most powerful, and next to those are gray. The lighter the pupil the greater and longer continued is the degree of tension the eye can sustain.

A Brave Singer.

"I tell you," said one man to another as they emerged from the dimly lighted corridor of a concert hall, "I envy that fellow who was singing."

"Envy him?" echoed the other. "Well, if I were going to envy a singer I'd select somebody with a better voice. His was about the poorest I ever heard."

"It's not his voice I envy, man," was the reply. "It's his tremendous courage."

She's the "It."

The Lancashire clergyman who recently left the word "obey" out of the marriage service gives as his reason that he does not wish women to start married life at a disadvantage. But it really matters little in practice. It has long been understood that, though a man and his wife are one, the wife is that one.—London Globe.

WHITING MYSTERY NOW THICKENS

Strange Case of Alleged Asphyxiation Begins to Look Peculiar.

CHLOROFORM THEORY HELD

Police Now Working On Supposition That There May Have Been Foul Play.

The Whiting mystery regarding Miss Ida Gord and Mrs. Wybern and her family who barely escaped death as the result of deadly fumes that filled the room may be solved in a sensational manner. The police are now disposed to the chloroform theory.

The people who live up stairs in the Close flat have taken a very peculiar attitude in regard to the matter and insist that the fumes came from gas pipes which were down stairs in the store-room.

Mr. Close, who owns the flat, insists that there is no possible way for gas to escape in the store room and to prove his claim he had several employees of the South Shore Gas, investigating.

The result of their work is the report that there is no leak in any of the pipes and that if there was gas in the room, its source was not the gas mains.

LAST WORDS OF CANDIDATES.

New York, Nov. 5.—The independent or vest pocket vote of the state of New York, which does not go around proclaiming its intention to vote for either party, is today, worrying both republicans and democrats alike. It's big enough in the state to throw the election to either Hearst or Hughes. In spite of the fact that Mr. Hearst's manager asserts victory is assured to Hearst by not less than 200,000, and the statement of Timothy Woodruff that it looks like a landslide for Hughes, both of the prognosticators are wondering who is to get the "vest pocket" vote.

Mr. Hearst says he expects New York City will furnish 150,000 plurality.

Chairman William J. Conners of the tidal wave that will elect Hearst by 10,000. His estimate credits Hughes with a plurality of only 40,000 above the Bronx.

Charles F. Murphy still insists that Hearst will have from 80,000 to 100,000 in the greater city.

Mr. Hughes has expressed himself several times recently as being confident of election. He will not talk about figures.

William Barnes, Jr., state committee man, gives it as his opinion that Hughes will have a plurality of 200,000.

The Herald, however, presents its canvass made throughout the state which indicates that Mr. Hughes will have a plurality of about 144,000 in fifty-seven counties outside of Greater New York.

McCarren of Brooklyn denounced the candidate in public speeches and has declared Mr. Hearst could not be elected poundmaster in his native state.

The burden of Mr. Hearst's speech at Madison Square theater to the election day watchers yesterday, who total 3,330, was, "Be alert for every doubtful voter on election day."

Mrs. E. L. Shortridge announces that she has resumed her classes in water color and china painting. Class days are Tuesday, Friday and Saturday.

To Kill Dandelions.

The best means, and surest, is to dig up, root and all. This is tedious, however, and expensive. Try, in case the digging process is not employed, the sulphate of iron solution. Use a good-sized handful to three gallons of water and sprinkle this over an area of 20 feet square. It will not injure the grass and will kill the dandelions; at least some of them.

Advertising Sandwich-Man. Advertising through the medium of the sandwich man was known in Florence, Italy, as early as 1846. To-day he is an often-seen figure in all large cities.

Invented Moving-Pictures.

Moving pictures were invented by an English engineer as early as the beginning of the eighteenth century. The arrangement consisted then of thin strips of wood on a canvas background. With the aid of wires they could be made to move quickly so that the effect of action was given.

NEW FACTORY GETS CITY WATER.

The board of public works today entered into an agreement with the Standard Steel Car company, by which the latter will be allowed to use city water at the rate of three cents a thousand gallons. The board furthermore gave its approval to the company for a four-track right-of-way over Columbia avenue, in order to connect with the Erie and Nickel Plate railroads.

The contract for the Chicago avenue sewer was taken under advisement until a future date. The inspector's report on the work in Hoffman street was read and the work accepted.

SWINDLER HAS SENSE OF HUMOR; FLEEES BARKEEPS

Peck Mackintosh Arrested for Getting Money Under False Pretences from Saloonkeepers "To Send a Friend to Keeley Institute."

Peck Mackintosh, who lives at the corner of New York and Fishpaw avenues in Whiting, was arrested last night by Officer Williams for obtaining money under false pretences.

The interesting thing about the story is the fact that he solicited eight or ten dollars from several of the prominent saloonkeepers about town for the purpose of sending Jack Hughes, a local inebriate, to the Keeley Institute.

It is not known what Peck did with the money, but he may have gone on a drunk with it to demonstrate to Hughes the evils of the drink habit.

At any rate the money is gone, Hughes is still very far from a Keeley institute, and the saloonkeepers are still selling booze to the man who should have been the beneficiary of their generosity.

Mackintosh will be tried Wednesday.

MRS. LAVENE BURIED.

Mrs. Charles Lavene was buried yesterday afternoon at Oak Hill cemetery. The funeral was one of the largest ever held in Hammond, the members of the various lodges of which she was a member, accompanying the remains to the grave. Short services were held at the late home in Michigan avenue, which were followed by lodge rites in the cemetery. Many beautiful floral pieces were offered both by friends and the lodges.

Women Can't Cut Diamonds.

"A lot of women seem to be possessed these days of an ambition to learn the trade of diamond cutting," said a well-known jeweler. "Every little while applicants for situations as apprentices call. But we can't afford to give them a trial. They can never master the art. In other branches of the jewelry trade women have made some unequalled successes. There is not one of Eve's daughters, from royalty down, I should say, that isn't an artist in the wearing of diamonds. Many are well versed in the art of buying and selling them, while others give excellent satisfaction in polishing and repairing them for the market. But when it comes to the real cutting of the stones they lack the patience, judgment and steadiness of nerve which constitute the expert's stock in trade."

Need of Unrestricted Play.

Even in the case of a child it is recognized that this sphere of freedom should enlarge as the child grows. Sully rightly warns: "Nothing is more fatal to will growth than an excess of discipline permeating the whole of a child's surroundings." It isn't best that all play should be under even kindergarten instruction.—Dr. Henry C. King

The Indirect Power of the Press

By NORMAN HAPGOOD, New York Journalist

DISTRICT ATTORNEY JEROME of New York county and certain newspapers have cried out that the popular investigation of financial affairs has gone far enough and that it is degenerating into mere hysterical rant. I THINK IT HAS NOT GONE HALF FAR ENOUGH.

It will not hurt us to know all the facts about our communities. How is it possible to be a self governing community unless we know EVERYTHING of the political and financial methods going on at the head of our affairs? Such people as Lincoln Steffens, Ida M. Tarbell and Charles E. Hughes teach us WHAT WE MUST GOVERN. We cannot otherwise know HOW we are to govern.

In all the public changes of our day a new power must be considered. The newspapers and periodicals, to a large extent, rule America.

They pervade our lives like the very air we breathe. They furnish the material for our conversation and the substance of our thought. Their direct power is great. THEIR INDIRECT POWER IS GREATER STILL, for its influence on the whole tenor of our lives is more pervasive than any other influence save the public schools. It has taken over to itself much of the power that once belonged to the clergy and much of the power that once belonged to PARTY ORGANIZATIONS.

Now the newspapers are responsible for the wave of moral emotion that this country is going through. Are they right or wrong? Some people believe that the wave is evil, an outburst of anarchy and envy, a prelude to Socialism and a mere expression of HOSTILITY TO WEALTH. I believe it should go on. There are demagogues of the press, as there are demagogues in politics, but that need not blind us to the fact that the need is still of MORE INFORMATION, not of less; of more self searchings, NOT OF LESS.

UNTIL THE ORDINARY MAN HAS BEEN TAUGHT THE TRUE INSIDE FACTS OF LIFE AND UNTIL HE HAS PONDERED AND DWELT UPON THEM DEMOCRACY WILL NOT BE COMPLETE AND THE PRESENT INVESTIGATING MOVEMENT OF THE PRESS WILL NOT HAVE ACCOMPLISHED ITS MISSION.

Man Must Accord Woman Equal Rights

By BRAND WHITLOCK, Mayor of Toledo, O.

I AM not one of those who take that old fashioned view of according to woman a position beneath that of man. We cannot with safety deny to any one ANYTHING WHICH WE WISH TO KEEP FOR OURSELVES. The day is coming when there shall be an equal standard of morals for men and women.

We can never solve the problems of the race by the use of the MALE intelligence alone. Men vote because they are men; there is no other reason. Women have the same right because they are women. Manhood and womanhood are inherent AND INALIENABLE rights.

MEN CANNOT BE ALL THEY SHOULD BE SO LONG AS THEY ARE DENYING WOMEN WHAT THEY HAVE A RIGHT TO BECOME.

United States Senate Is Un-American

By Ex-Senator WILLIAM E. MASON of Illinois

WHILE I have the best personal feeling toward the men with whom I served in the senate, the body AS A BODY is wholly un-American, un-republican and undemocratic.

It is the only legislative body in the world where the MINORITY governs. All you have to do to defeat legislation is to object to having a time set for a final vote. One senator has more power under the rules IN DEFEATING legislation than fifty senators have in PASSING legislation.

There will be no life insurance legislation until the United States senate becomes an American body, GOVERNED BY THE MAJORITY.
