NET MEN LEAVE FOR ANTIPODES

Wright and Alexander to Play for Davis Tennis Cup.
New York, Oct. 2.—Beals C. Wright of Boston and Frederick B. Alexander of New York, left this city tonight for Australia as the American challengers in lawn tennis for the Davis international cup. They will sail from Vancouver a week from today for Sydney. The matches for the Davis cup will be played at Melbourne about the 20th of November. Norman Brookes, Rice and Heath have been named as the defending team.
In sending these two players the American Lawn Tennis authorities have nominated for the Davis trophy challenge round the second and third best men in this country. They played in the finals of the All Comers' singles at Newport last year, and Wright beat Alexander. Larned, who is considered the best lawn tennis player in this country, could not be induced to go to Australia.

HEASLIP TO ATTEMPT RACING.

Says the Residents of New Orleans Want to See Game Flourish.
New Orleans, Oct. 2.—"The people of New Orleans want racing, but they do not want it to be a mere game, they want it to be a game with outside parties," declared Samuel F. Heaslip, president of the New Orleans Jockey club, on the eve of his departure today for Louisville, Ky. He will either purchase the stock owned by northern interests in the local tracks or lease the stock for a number of years.
"Rather than undergo disagreeable conditions I will drop the entire matter," he continued. "Now that I have undertaken to install new life into the racing situation here, I would be sorry to see opposition develop."

GAVE REDS ANOTHER.

Cincinnati, Oct. 2.—Chicago clung to the remnants of hope today and gave the Reds another beating, Brown shutting them out 5 to 0 in a wonderfully pitched game. Despite the fact that they won the Cubs slipped back to third place, as the pirates beat the Cardinals twice. But as far as the pennant chances go they are the same, except the distance is shorter.
With but two more games to play the world's champions still hope. They figure that the most probable outcome of the fierce race for the National League flag will be a tie between New York and Chicago for first place. The Giants must lose one game and Chicago win both the remaining battle to leave it a tie, and all the Cubs' hopes are based on tomorrow's final game between Philadelphia and the Giants.

FADS AND FASHIONS

New York, Oct. 3.—The "sheath" gown has become a staple feature in the "joke columns" of newspapers, but it is safe to predict that it will not be seen much in this country. The American women have not taken up that ultra fashionable whim of their Parisian sisters with any degree of enthusiasm. The reason may only be surmised. The American women of fashion are usually not slow in imitating any new fashion in dress, no matter how daring, that comes from the gay city on the banks of the Seine. Some facetious men have advanced the slanderous theory that the style did not become popular among the American women because so few women have reason to be proud of the shapeliness of the part of their anatomy which these gowns expose to view. Of course, that is not the cause, as every woman knows. There are just as many women with shapely—ahem!—extremities in the United States as anywhere else. The simple reason why the style has not met with favor in this country is that it is too radical a departure from the accustomed style and too difficult to manage in wearing without awkwardness. At all events there is little if any prospect that it will ever become popular even with the extreme dressers in the United States. Even in Paris they are affected by but few women, mostly such craving sensational effects.

RACING CAR KILLS SPECTATOR.

Thomas Auto in Twenty-Four-Hour Contest at New York Claims Victim
New York, Oct. 2.—While traveling at a terrific speed in the twenty-four hour automobile race at Brighton Beach track, the Thomas car, driven by Monte Roberts and Lescault, hit and killed a man crossing the track at a frightful pace, having shattered the former records for the second hour of a race twice around the clock. On the first hour the Simplex No. 14 traveled fifty-five miles.

WABASH, 62, FRANKLIN, 0.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Oct. 2.—The Wabash college football team opened the season in a blaze of glory this afternoon by defeating Franklin college 62 to 0. The first half ended 40 to 0 and substitutes were used the latter part of the game. The lineup:
Wabash Position Franklin.
Dobbs, R. E. Overstreet.
Cipe, R. T. Overstreet.
Brown, C. C. Moore.

ILLINI TO TACKLE MONMOUTH.

Down-State Eleven to Open Schedule While Coach Is in Chicago.
Urbana, Ill., Oct. 2.—While Coach Arthur Hall is watching Chicago and Purdue play on Marshall field tomorrow the Illini will engage Monmouth college here in the opening game. Despite the statement that Coach Stagg will not disclose his best plays against Purdue, Coach Hall wants to get his Maroons in action. Purdue is also on the Illinois schedule this fall, and the faint to Chicago will serve a double purpose.

WITH THE FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

Bill Newman, the ex-Cornell center, will coach the Georgetown university eleven.
Between thirty and forty men will make up the Harvard squad this fall. Harvard coaches are hoping that Pat Gnt, who is to take special work at Cambridge, will join the gridiron squad. Yale's candidates, Murphy, Daly Kilpatrick, Church and Theaton, are all good men and strong enough to become regulars.
Carroll Cooney, Yale's heavy boy, spent the summer in the pine woods of Maine, while Arthur Brides worked as a trolley car conductor in Brockton, Mass.
The annual contest between the eleven of the University of Virginia and University of North Carolina, which is the biggest gridiron event in their section of the country, will be played in Richmond on Thanksgiving day as has been the custom for a number of years past.

COLD WEATHER STIMULATES RETAIL TRADE MATERIALLY.

New York, Oct. 2.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:
"Seasonable weather stimulated retail trade materially, and the better distribution to consumers brought a larger movement in wholesale and jobbing departments, but in most leading industries there is still hesitation. Low stocks of merchandise necessitate urgency in replenishment when dealers find retail buying on a normal scale, as to is the case in many sections of the country, but preparations for distant requirements proceed cautiously, although expressions of confidence are heard on all sides. On the whole, there is improvement in mercantile collections; yet in many lines, especially at the east, irregularity is noted. Many factories have further increased the number of hands at work."
"While new business comes most conservatively to the steel mills, orders on hand are sufficient to maintain the current rate of production during October, and activity is confidently expected next month."

LABOR NEWS

Labor union were almost unknown in Newfoundland up to 1892. Then the only organization for the protection of the employed was the Typographical union. Since then union and other labor organization have sprung up in great numbers.
The New York city branches of the United Typothetae are considering the question of adopting the eight-hour workday in book and job offices in the beginning of next year, but without any reference to union demands, as the offices of the Typothetae are run on the open-shop basis.
Under the new law, which went into effect on October 1, the authority to enforce the child labor law in mercantile establishments in cities of the first class in New York, was transferred from the local health authorities to the state department of Labor, acting through its Bureau of Mercantile Inspection.
Sacramento, Cal., wishes to have a labor temple, and has sent to each union a copy of the plan to raise funds for the erection of the structure. It is proposed that each member of a union shall buy $15 worth of stock and pay for it in sixty monthly installments of 25 cents.

has become of quite as much importance as any to be worn within the range of masculine eyes. To invent such a costume was not an easy task. As this costume is to be used chiefly in the afternoon, but in an artificially lighted room it must combine the practical with the ornamental by being quite sufficiently elaborate to do honor to the hostess and yet not too light of color or too garishly decorated to be worn while walking in the residential section of a large city. Some of the bridge Princess frocks that are being developed in mole gray, slate green and tobacco brown satin having trailing, tight-fitting skirts of nunlike simplicity and with no trimming save the cluster of tiny tucks running at a bias upward from front to back. But their bodices, which are formed of satin bands, are worn over gumples of gold or silver cloth, so that the portion of the costume that is most prominently in evidence at the card table is particularly effective.
Broadcloths and other smoothly finished fabrics have for many years been principally employed in the development of the cold weather costumes by the leading Paris modistes and, as the present fashion is so strongly leaning toward clinging effects, these materials are certain to be more than ever popular. In the two and three piece-cloth costumes of the elaborate type such as are used in America for the most ceremonious afternoon occasions as well as for morning concerts and the like are seen all of the delicate shades of blue, pale brown, a great variety of rose and crushed berry tints and many shades of green and gray in addition to the conventional black.
Its clinging qualities have made satin one of the most important fabrics of the present time. It will remain popular as long as the directoire style remains in vogue. It is used for almost any costume worn by a fashionable woman from the time of rising in the morning until she is once more ready to retire for the night.
The oldtime circular skirt, but without fullness at back, sides and front, is in fashion again. It is suitable for plain materials. It opens at the left side of the front and is finished off with a row of buttons extending to the bottom of the skirt. If made in walking length the goods should be of heavy material and before the skirt is finished at the bottom the waist binding should be sewn on and the skirt hung up for several days. This gives the material a chance to sag before it is trimmed off and finished for wear. A skirt of this kind should be hemmed by hand, as it is almost sure to sag irregularly and must be adjusted from the bottom, not from the waist line.
Figured and striped designs dominate in the short skirt costumes. In the recently imported pongee and rajah fabrics there are many exquisite two-toned effects in blue, gray, tan and mauve, while even in the cloths and mohairs checks and stripes are more in vogue than the plain effects.
There is great diversity in footwear at present. New walking boots are of suede in tan, smoke, blue or green, and there are combinations of suede with patent leather tan Russian calf, which are quite attractive. For the coming spring season the manufacturers predict many changes of style. They say that the coming season will bring forth the largest calf for tans and colored shoes ever known in this country.

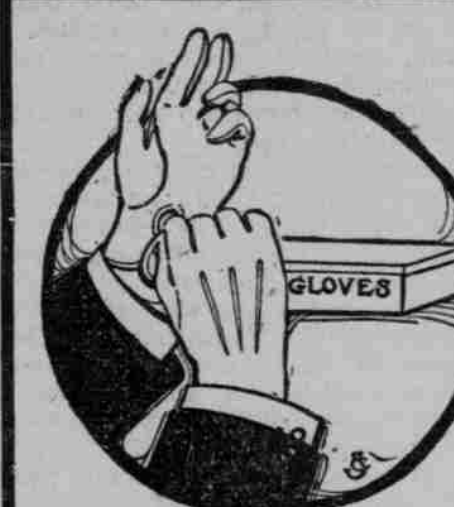

Fashion demands that in all winter suits the blouses should match the rest of the costume in color. This rule will undoubtedly be adhered to during the coming winter season, but at the present time while the weather is still fair and tolerably warm separate blouses may be had and still are worn. The directoire models, so popular now, have made it necessary for women to adopt a new style of blouse more appropriate to wear with a corset-leak skirt and the tight-fitting coat. Some Paris dress-architects have selected a new material for such blouses, tulle. Of course, the material is by no means the highly dressed illusion called tulle in this country, but a fine wash net, which is both appropriate and pretty for a blouse or more becoming to face and figure. The material has also other advantages. It requires little trimming, the waist line. It may be procured in almost any color to match the suit with which it is to be worn.
All the new blouses show a great change in the style of the sleeve. For this winter in place of the short and three-quarter sleeves puffed at the top there is the long, close fitting sleeve defining every curve of the arm from the shoulder to the wrist, where ruffles fall over the hand to the knuckles. The tulle blouses of Paris pattern are made almost strictly on the tailored plan with no extreme fixings or trimmings. They are flat, not gathered across the chest and are all worn with immense jabots fastened at the throat. These are also of tulle and give a cloudy and bouffant appearance to the whole. Large hand-embroidered dots are often employed as trimmings. Cotton voile may also be used for waists of this type, for it is soft and life net, will comply with all the necessary requirements of the fashion. So will also French crepe and bazan.
The universal popularity of bridge whist among women here and in Europe has taxed the ingenuity of the dressmakers with the development of some suitable style of costume for bridge parties. To women who go in for artistic dressing the bridge gown

times Pattern Department
The design of this garment is new. It can be made with the fronts lapping over as far as the closing. As shown here one side is cut off just beyond the edge and the closing is made with ribbons tied through crocheted rings on the waist. This pattern is cut in sizes 32 to 42 bust measure. Size 38 requires a piece of goods 2 1/4 yards long and 27 inches wide. Price of pattern 413 is 10 cents. Send orders to pattern department of this newspaper, giving number and size.

LOOK FOR BIG RALLY TONIGHT.

of the greatest campaigners in the United States. He is a splendid orator and his arguments are hammered home in a way that is convincing. He has a great sense of humor and keeps his hearers in good nature.
James A. Garfield is one of the coteries of younger men with whom President Theodore Roosevelt has surrounded himself during his last administration. He is the man who was sent to Chicago to investigate the beef trust, and as secretary of the interior in Roosevelt's cabinet he has made a great record. He will tell the people of Lake county something about the gentle art of trust-busting.
Music Will Be Good.
There is nothing like music to enliven a campaign. The committee on arrangements has not overlooked this feature of the meeting. Barnie Young's famous band of eighteen pieces has been engaged for the evening. A splendid attraction will be the "Old Shady" quartet, which is probably the most famous campaigning quartet in Indiana. This quartet is very versatile and will entertain the crowd at intervals.
Women Cordially Invited.
The Young Men's Republican club of Hammond, which has charge of this great political rally, does not propose that the women shall be slighted. A special section of seats is to be reserved for them and their escorts. Gentlemen ushers will see that they are properly seated. There will be much in this meeting that will be of interest to women and word has been received from all over the county of delegations of women who say they will be present. Mr. Watson's speeches always have something of special interest to women. Even if the weather is chilly the tent will be comfortable inside.
Visiting Delegations.
Republican clubs from all over the county have indicated their intention of coming to Hammond, participating in the parade and will then hear Mr. Watson and Mr. Garfield in the tent. These will be assigned places in the parade. Most of these clubs will wear something to distinguish them as an organization.
Seating Arrangements.
The visiting delegations need no fear that they will not find a seat in the big tent. There will be seats for 3,000 and it will be possible to make room for more if necessary. Everybody will get a chance to see the show.
Every republican in the county who is interested in the success of the party this fall should not fail to come to Hammond, get in the parade, and see the most inspiring political meeting that will be held this year. Everybody else, regardless of his political affiliations, should plan to be present and hear what Watson has to say for himself and the party. James A. Garfield is a brilliant man and will be well worth hearing.

A STAR ATHLETE WEDS

Dan Southard Cotellion Leader Thames at Crown Point.

Dan Southard, one time star athlete and clubman, recently divorced from Mrs. Amy Jerome Southard, it is declared, was married yesterday at Crown Point to Miss Florence Cooper of New York.
No confirmation of the marriage could be obtained either from the parents of his former wife or from her attorney, Gustav Fisher.
Mr. Southard and Miss Cooper are said to have eloped to Crown Point, where they both registered from New York. The ceremony is said to have been performed in the afternoon, after which Mr. and Mrs. Southard came to Chicago.
Mr. Southard is the Chicago representative of some large eastern motorboat companies and has offices in the Fisher building. Until a year ago he was engaged in the automobile business, with headquarters in Michigan avenue, but failed and went through the bankruptcy courts.
He was once a star football player in the Hyde Park high school. He made subsequent fame for himself in athletic circles and finally entered business.
He was married to Miss May Jerrens, a society leader, two years ago. They were divorced last winter. Southard is well known in society and has been a leader in the younger set.
At the Jerrens' home knowledge of Southard's marriage was denied. The bride was unknown to the former Mrs. Southard.
New Railway to Alps' Peak.
An electric railway is being built on the Zugspitze, the highest peak in the Alps, on Bavarian territory. Its height is about 10,000 feet. The railway will run to the summit, while a hotel will be built at the 7,000-foot level.

This Week's News Forecast

Washington, D. C., Oct. 2.—Politics will continue to occupy the center of the stage during the coming week. The strenuous tour of Mr. Bryan through the middle west will be continued and Mr. Taft likewise has an itinerary mapped out for the week that will keep him exceedingly busy. Mr. Chafin, the prohibition candidate, and Mr. Higen, the choice of the Independence party for president, will cover wide stretches of territory in the six days beginning Monday.
Neither will there be any let-up of the energetic campaign on the part of the leading spell-binders of both the older parties. John W. Kern, the democratic vice presidential candidate, will begin a week of speech-making in the South Atlantic states.
Governor Hughes, in behalf of the republican national campaign, will devote the entire week to the trans-Mississippi states, including Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas.
Senator Beveridge of Indiana will start the campaign ball rolling for the republicans on the Pacific coast, speaking in Seattle, Tacoma, Portland, San Francisco and Lake City.
Eugene V. Debs, socialist candidate for president, plans to put in the greater part of the week in New York and England.
The Georgia state election will take place Wednesday. Though the Independence party has displayed some activity there is no doubt of the election of the democratic state ticket, head by Joseph M. Brown as candidate for governor.
The temperance element are making heroic efforts to bring about a "dry" victory in the town elections which will be held in Connecticut on Monday.
Democrats of Rhode Island, who will meet in state convention Tuesday, will be forced to find a new candidate for governor, Governor James H. Higgins having positively declined to stand for re-nomination.
The Vermont legislature, which will assemble in biennial session on Wednesday, will elect a United States senator to fill the unexpired term of the late Redfield Proctor, which continues until March 3, 1911.
Philadelphia will be the scene of notable festivities and pageants throughout the week in celebration of the city's 225th anniversary.
The United States supreme court will assemble Monday for the October term. The docket contains many important cases, including a number that concern the government and its attempt to enforce the laws against big corporations.
Stockholders of the Canadian Pacific railway will meet in Montreal Wednesday to consider an increase in the common stock by an amount not exceeding $50,000,000.
Important conventions of the week will include the Trans-Mississippi Commercial congress in San Francisco, the Deep Waterways convention in Chicago, the National Christian church conference in New Orleans, the second international conference of states and local taxation in Toronto, and the meeting of the National Association of Railroad Commissioners in Washington.
