ANIMALS ARE

Fire of Unknown Origin
Does Big Damage in Gary This Morning.

MAYOR KNUTTS DISCOVERS IT

Fire Protection Is Badly Needed in Steel City to Frequency of Blazes.

Two horses and two valuable mules, which are worth an aggregate of $650, the property of Patrick O'Brien, an excavator, were burned to death in a fire which destroyed a barn belonging to Smith and Winters, and was located between Sixth and Seventh street on Washington street in Gary, this morning.

The fire is of unknown origin, but a peculiar fact which may have a bearing on the matter, is that O'Brien was warned on several occasions that he had better take his horses out of the barn if he did not want to lose them.

This leads the police to believe that the fire was of incendiary origin. The barn was worth in the neighborhood of $500, and the loss includes two buggies, a wagon, some harness and feed, which were worth $500. The horses were insured with Oliver Holmes.

Chemical outfit useless.

The fire department was called out, but the fire had gained such headway that it was useless to try to use the chemical outfit for any other purpose than attempting to save the surrounding property.

The fire was discovered by Thomas E. Knutts, who turned in the alarm. The fire started at about 4 o'clock in the morning and burned until day-light. When the fire was discovered it was too late to attempt to get the horses and mules out, and the animals were compelled to die at their halter until the smoke finally rendered them unconscious and they were burned in the fire.

Fires in Gary are becoming so frequent that the matter of fire protection is a serious one. The Gary Commercial club will take up this matter at its meeting today and will see if some better means of fire protection cannot be devised.

NO LAUNCHINGS IN 1908

For the first time in the history of the Chicago Shipbuilding company's plant, One Hundred and First street and Avenue N, East Side, not a single boat was launched during the year 1908, and the prospects for the remaining period are that none will be.

Last year and years preceding it was no uncommon thing to witness the launching of boats on an average of one a month, and East Siders, including others throughout the Calumet district, looked forward to this attractive feature.

EAST CHICAGO MAY

(Special to THE TIMES)
East Chicago, Ind., Oct. 7.—East Chicago is about to be given riparian rights extending 25 feet into Lake Michigan for a distance of about 700 feet in front of the city park property, known as block "B" of Indiana Harbor's subdivision of East Chicago. In a letter to Alderman Lewis, received yesterday from Attorney William Duff Haynie of the law firm of Knapp, Haynie & Campbell, Mr. Haynie says: "Since you spoke to me about procuring the riparian rights in front of the park, I have had the matter up with our people many times, and am pleased to say that conditions are now such that I believe if we could get together and talk the matter over, we can reach a satisfactory conclusion in regard to it."

The council has already appointed a committee to investigate the riparian rights question and they are in Chicago today, conferring with the attorneys of the Indiana Steel company, the owner of the property.

The addition of the riparian rights to the city's holdings will be a desirable acquisition, as East Chicago has heretofore held the unusual position of being one of the rare lake front cities without any possessions extending beyond the established beach line.

SPRINKLE ONCE A WEEK

Gary Town Board Receives
Bids for Contract—
Other Business.

The regular meeting of the town board was held this afternoon, and was one of the shortest in the history of Gary. There are but few meetings in Gary in which some matter of vital importance to the city is not under consideration, but today was an off day, and there was little to do except transact the routine business, tell a few stories and adjourn.

After the report of the town treasurer was heard for the previous month the bills were taken up. The bills were then allowed and an appropriation passed for the sum of $3,042 for warrants which had been issued and had become due.

The matter of street sprinkling also came up for discussion and bids were received for the same. The bid calls for the watering of Broadway from the Lake Shore station to the Michigan Central tracks every day, and on Broadway from the Michigan Central tracks south to the Pennsylvania once a week. Several other paved streets in the city will also be watered once a week.

SMITH MAKES

Iowa Congressman Speaks
At Gary Last Night and Shows How Republican

To Adopt.

Speaker Shows Up the Inconsistency of Democratic Demands as Shown
By Their Work in the House of Representatives as to Bank Guaranty.

Congressman Walter I. Smith made a big hit at the republican meeting which was held in the Blumhof hall in Gary yesterday evening. In the course of his remarks Congressman Smith told how the democratic party has had the faculty of coming around and endorsing the republican policies four years after they had been adopted by that party. He said the democratic party was like the lightning bug: "The lightning bug is a brilliant thing; it hasn't any mind; it wanders through this world of ours. With its headlight on behind."

Mr. Smith spoke to a good-sized crowd, considering the fact that the meeting had not been advertised extensively. There were in the neighborhood of 500 people in the hall when Judge Virgil S. Reiter introduced the speaker.

The Iowan was in a good frame of mind, kept his audience in good humor during the whole evening. Speaking of the tariff policy of the republican party, he said that he admired the patriotism of a German, who said: "Many small make goods for everybody but nobody shall make goods for the Germans."

He impressed his hearers with the fact that the protective policy is especially important to the people of Gary, where the steel industry is to be protected.

Speaking about the recent financial troubles, he said that panics, all of them, were due to the American tendency to speculate. He spoke of the panics of '37, '57, '73, '93 and '08. He showed conclusively that panics will come, no matter what administration is in power, but the difference is that republican panics are never as prolonged and never cause as much suffering as those in democratic administrations, for the reason that the republican party has never adopted any ruinous policies to destroy confidence. As an example of the destructive democratic panics which are not ended until the republicans get back in power, he pointed to the one in '73 and the one in '08.

He said that the people grew restless and wanted a democratic administration and so they elected Cleveland. He said that the republicans got through with him they were a "weary, chastened, repentant" people.

Mr. Smith showed up the false position of the democratic party on the guarantee of national bank deposits better than any speaker that has visited this region.

He said that during the last congress the republicans introduced a currency bill which was to correct certain defects in our currency system and make it more elastic. John Sharp Williams, representing the democratic minority in the house, prepared a bill with the aid of the leading democrats of the country and William Jennings Bryan himself.

The democratic measure contained the very provisions for the guarantee of national bank deposits which they now have incorporated in their platform. He said that the democrats gave them a chance to substitute their bill for the one which the republicans had prepared, six democrats voted to substitute, twenty-nine voted against the Williams-Bryan measure, and ninety-two voted present. Which meant that they did not have an opinion in the matter.

Two of these democrats came from Indiana. Mr. Smith then flayed a party which had ninety-two members in the house which did not have an opinion on as important a measure as the one which had been recommended by Williams and Bryan. Ninety-two democrats in congress who simply voted PRESENT. Such men will be absent in the next session of the legislature if the people know what they are about.

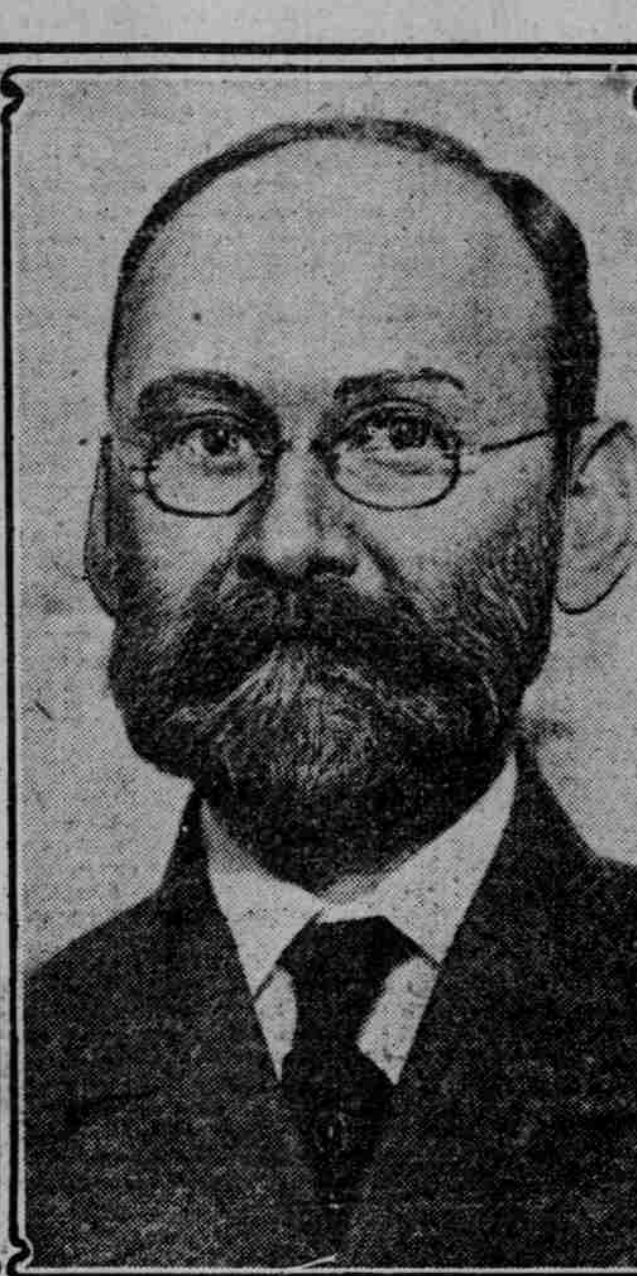

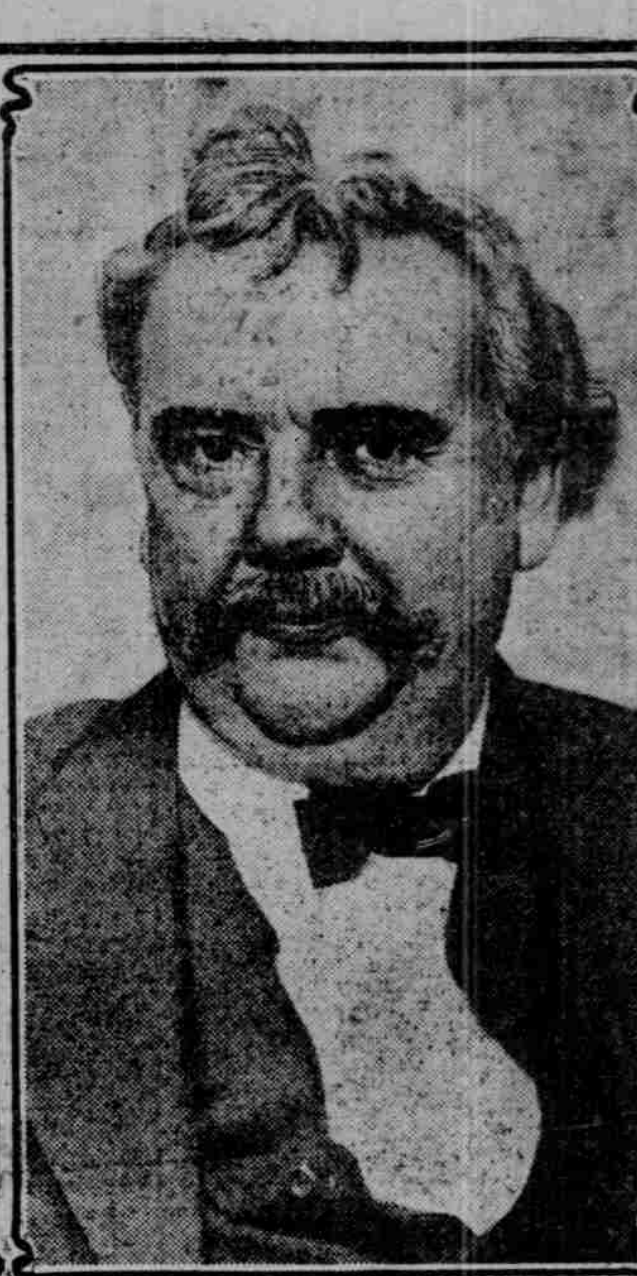

He said the democrats in the last session of congress wanted a campaign of running around the country and saying that I am in favor of paying a laboring man a dollar a day and that I have said that that is enough. I was at the head of the Panama canal for four years and we pay steam shovel men down there $250 a month. As I figure that out it makes a little more than a dollar a day.

"Anybody that says that I ever made that remark is a liar and the man who believes him is a fool, for why under heaven I should say that I cannot understand, or in what connection, or under what circumstances,"

NEW PARK FOR FERNWOOD

Surrounding Territory Is Included in Transactions—Activities Promise to Continue for Some Time.

Real estate activities in South Chicago and surrounding territory took a sudden jump yesterday, and more transactions were filed in the single day than were in the whole week preceding.

Fernwood will soon have a beautiful new park covering twelve acres. It is situated between Wallace street and Union avenue and One Hundred and Fourth street and One Hundred and Fifth place. For this purpose the Fernwood park district has bought from John Gierin the plat of land, 498x610 feet, on the west side of Wallace street, 321 feet south of One Hundred and Fourth street, for $6,000, and from Mrs. Zorah E. Patrick the vacant land at the southwest corner of Wallace and One Hundred and Fourth streets, 331x613 feet for $4,000.

AN ATTEMPTED MURDER

Too Much Whisky Stirs
Passion of Foreigner
in Gary.

What is believed to be an attempted murder stirred the residents of the foreign district yesterday afternoon when several shots rang out in rapid succession. M. M. Duchich, a groceryman living at Fifth avenue and Virginia street, which was in the vicinity of the place, heard the shots and at once reported the matter to the station.

Officers Neuman and Miller responded at once and arrived at one of the houses where it was supposed to have taken place within a few minutes. The officers were seen, however, before the man was seen by them so he made good his escape through one of the rear windows before they could surround the house.

So far as the police have been able to learn the shooting was the result of a drunken row, and that the man was attempting to kill the woman. Neither the name of the woman or the man involved in the case was learned by the police.

PARALYSIS KILL CHILD

Funeral of Little Gary Boy
Took Place This
This Afternoon.

After suffering untold agonies for many months Paul Etna Kennell, the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Kennell, died yesterday afternoon. The child was the victim of a stroke of paralysis several weeks ago and has been seriously sick ever since. This was the second stroke that the 3-year-old child suffered, although it had practically recovered from the first.

The second stroke was so serious that it was seen to be but a matter of time until death would come.

The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon from the residence. The child will be buried at the Tolleston cemetery. Mr. Kennell is a drayman, who has been in business in Gary for some time. Mr. and Mrs. Kennell came to Gary from Gas City, Ind.

Elusive Saloonkeeper Re-

in Gary.

Alex Hartman, the elusive saloonkeeper who recently packed up his earthly belongings and without the customary formality of saying goodbye to the police or several of the attorneys, left town, was again back in Gary yesterday. Mr. Hartman had intended to ship his goods to Chicago by way of the Pennsylvania railroad, but Attorney J. Glenn Harris suspecting as much found them in the box car and detained them. Mr. Hartman left his place of business at Eleventh avenue and Jefferson street owing considering rent to a South Chicago awn-er represented by Mr. Harris, and for this amount the goods were attached.

TAFT AND BRYAN
LAND IN CHICAGO

Republican and Democratic
Nominees at Water
Ways Convention.

William J. Bryan was the first of the presidential aspirants to set foot today on the soil of Chicago, which now has the calcium in national politics. He came unexpectedly at 6:45 a. m. over the Chicago and Northwestern. He was not looked for until 8:30 o'clock. William Howard Taft followed fast upon Bryan's heels, coming in at 9 a. m. over the Illinois Central system from St. Louis. While both of the big party standard bearers are there to attend the lakes-to-the-gulf deep-waterway convention the re will be all sorts of national politics doing here today and tonight.

Taft and Bryan at Conference.
Important conferences are scheduled and final plans for a fast and exciting finish of the presidential canvass of 1908 will be laid. Chairman Frank H. Hitchcock of the national republican committee will confer with Mr. Taft and Mr. Bryan will meet with leaders high and low in his party before the day is gone.

Bryan Too Early for Racort.
The Nebraska missed a lot of fun by getting in so early. He was to have had an escort from the railway station headed by a platoon of police, but all these plans fell through. Mr. Bryan came near not having any one to welcome him. John E. Kehoe of the Association of Commerce and John I. Martin, sergeant-at-arms of the democratic national committee, however, got wind that the Nebraska would reach here at 6:45 o'clock and they got up with the birds and were on hand to extend the hand of welcome to the democratic idol.

Mr. Bryan was driven to the Auditorium Annex, where he took breakfast in a private room cloistered with Mr. Kehoe, who himself is an ardent democrat and one, it is said, who has always stood loyally by Bryan. Others in the breakfast room were John E. Lamb, Indiana; Charles W. Bryan, Don Farnsworth and John G. Johnson, Kansas. The Nebraska had some good news to impart through his secretary, Robert Rose, who accompanied him along with a number of newspaper correspondents.

Mr. Bryan came direct from Lincoln, Neb., and no speeches were scheduled en route. At Cedar Rapids a vast crowd congregated at the railroad station and would not be appeased until Mr. Bryan responded. He did and his secretary said it was a good talk and one that took with the crowd.

John V. Farwell, W. H. Manss and Charles H. Wacker were the members of the Association of Commerce named to meet Mr. Taft at the railroad station. Both of the presidential candidates are to be carefully guarded during their stay here and in Illinois. Delegates Bailey and Rohan, Duback and Biddinger, Horvish and Morgan were detailed to watch over Mr. Taft. To guard Mr. Bryan were assigned Howe and McGinnis, Ellsworth and Quinlan and William Rolan.

WANTS MISSING SPOUSE

Anxious Indiana Lady Asks
Times to Help Her Find Husband.

In a letter from Trafalgar, Ind., Mrs. Belle Dilley asks THE TIMES to assist her in finding her husband, Eugene Dilley, who has been missing since July 25, she says. He was injured on the head several years ago and was operated on for pressure of the brain but has since had spells of mental trouble. He always wanders away from home and does not seem to know who he is or where he belongs. Mr. Dilley is 39 years of age, 5 feet 8 1/2 inches tall, weighs 160 pounds, black hair, blue eyes, dark mustache and has a horse-shoe-shaped scar on left side of head nearly concealed by hair. He is a man of good education, quiet, steady and a great lover of home. We have had several traces of him but he seems to go from place to place always trying to get home. $25 reward will be paid for information that will lead to his whereabouts. If found, detain him and telegraph to us or write if you can give information. Respectfully,
MRS. BELLE DILLEY,
Trafalgar, Indiana.
