Owing to poor transportation service, and the delay of trains, William H. An enthusiastic meeting of the republicans was held, however, and the great momentous question that is uppermost in the minds of the Center township republicans, the Watson day rally on the 17th, was discussed. All reports are favorable.

A good idea of how the general population lines up on the Taft-Bryan proposition is to take the average crowd of twenty to twenty-five citizens while on their regular duties of the day. On the Erie milk train last evening, the crowd of workmen and passengers bound for places as far as North Judson, the sentiment was overwhelmingly for Taft. Bryan could have seen his ratio of 16-to-admirably worked out to his disadvantage, for sixteen republicans to one democrat is putting the matter at a low estimate. This was just the ordinary every day crowd and goes to show just how badly Bryan will be defeated in November.

GARY NEWS

Saloonkeepers Are Wondering.

One of the saloonkeepers was heard to say the other day that he wondered why, when over half of the saloons that were formerly in business in Gary had been thrown out after their licenses expired, those remaining instead of doing just so much more business find that their trade is dropping off. There is no reason ascribed to this other than that the men are getting on the water wagon in Gary, and with the saloons rapidly closing up they are losing the habit. Recently three saloons which had licenses until next April, closed up because of lack of business, not because they had to.

The First Literary.

The first literary program of the year to be given by the Whiting high school, was held yesterday afternoon in the H. S. auditorium.

President Ben Gordon and Secretary Peceny occupied their seats of honor during the exercises, and displayed more than the usual amount of dignity.

The program opened with the minutes of the last meeting, which was in May, being read by Mr. Peceny, who was followed by Anna May Dineen, who exhibited her musical talent by a rendition on the piano.

Miss Cornelius, the English teacher of the high school, next gave a recitation, which was much enjoyed. The political spirit, which is now so predominant, was not missing, for Nelson Gillette gave an extemporaneous talk on "Why Taft should be elected."

There were many Bryan admirers who looked disgusted when the subject was announced, but as Nelson's arguments were very convincing they seemed to become more easy after he had spoken for a short time, and especially did their faces brighten up when he said Taft is advocating free school books for boys and girls up to the age of 15.

The high school Tattler, which brought out many surprised looks, was read by Ben Gordon, after which Edna O'Hara gave a well delivered recitation.

Oscar Ahlgren was the next to respond. All were much disappointed, as it was thought he was going to give an account of his trip to the county fair at Crown Point, which he took during vacation, but instead he read an essay on "Emigration."

The afternoon's program was concluded with a piano duet by Misses Almira Morse and Irene Mathias.
