CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to thank those who aided us in our bereavement — to those who were so kind to us when our relative, Mrs. Augusta Pollard, died, to those who, friends and missionary ladies, we will never forget.

AN OBITUARY.

Mrs. Augusta Pollard was born in Meriden, Miss., April 21, 1838, and died October 16, 1908.

She made her home in Chicago until about four months ago, when she came to Hammond and was married to William Pollard.

She had made peace with God and said "I am one of God's angels." She leaves to survive her, a mother, Mrs. Annie Williams of Council Bluffs, Ia.; a brother and sister in Chicago, Shelby Williams, Mrs. Ardella Harrison, and a brother in Oakland, Cal., Algie Williams and many beloved friends to mourn her loss.

UNIQUE SERVICE.

The W. H. Calkins post, No. 592, met the W. R. C. No. 248, auxiliary to the post; held a most interesting joint meeting in post headquarters at the G. of R. hall in this city last Saturday evening, Oct. 17, 1908.

The convocation, or at least a part of the business engaging the attention of the joint meeting was in every way out of the usual on such occasions, indeed, it is doubtful if its transactions have ever before had their counterpart in G. A. R. and W. R. C. circles.

One of the good sisters, a member of the local W. R. C., Mrs. Louis Mohl, residing at 759 Murz street, this city, was blessed on March 13, 1908, in the birth of a baby boy. He has proven to be so fine a specimen of young America that it has been difficult for the parents to select a satisfactory name for the boy, while endeavoring to settle the matter some one suggested to the proud mother, that she bring him up to the post corps' headquarters and have him christened there. The suggestion was accepted, and the babe was brought in at this meeting.

The chaplain of the post of the department of Indiana, Rev. E. M. Elliott, was requested to perform the service. This was done in due form. The ceremony was most impressive. The mother with her little 7 months and 4 days old infant boy in her arms, standing before the altar. Post Commander P. Ruby, standing on the mother's left hand, and president of the corps, Mrs. Wolf, on the mother's right, while on either flank stood the color bearers holding aloft, and above them "Old Glory," in which position the chaplain, facing the group, took the mother's pledge of Christian faith and covenant of loyalty to the Son of God, and faithfulness to his service, and the service of her country, to all of which the post and W. R. C. stood sponsor and witness, after which, he read the service and christened the boy "Major Calkins Lewis," under the baptismal sign and seal. Thus the babe was dedicated by the mother and the Christian sentiments of the sponsors to the service of God and our country.

BOARDS BUSY SESSION

Officials Approve the Oak Street Primary Assessment Role.

The board of public works held a busy session this morning at which resolutions were adopted approving the primary assessment role for the Oak street cement sidewalk, on the west side of the street, and for the 3-inch lead water pipe for May street.

The primary assessment role for the Michigan avenue macadam pavement was placed on file for public inspection and the inspector's report for the Columbia avenue sewer was accepted and the city engineer instructed to draw up the primary assessment role.

Permission was granted to the Republican county central committee to stretch a big Taft banner across Hohman street.

There being no remonstrances, bids for the East Ogden street cement sidewalks were ordered for November 2.

TRY TO STEAL GLIMS

Albert Werth Has Tilt With Gang of River. Pirates.

Albert Werth, the watchman at the Columbia avenue bridge reports having quite a serious encounter with a boat load of men who tried to steal his lanterns.

When he caught them trying to take away his lanterns he called upon them to stop. They refused to do so and took after them. As soon as they saw they were being followed one of them drew a revolver and fired six shots, either at his watchman or the air.

The watchman does not know whether the men were bent on stealing the lanterns or whether they were just drunk. Officer Hanlon was sent to investigate and when he arrived everything was quiet.

He could find no trace of the men.

SOME ONE GETS MR. A. SCHENKE'S CHICKS.

A. Schenke of Hickory street is about the luckiest man in the city. Yesterday he had twenty-five nice chickens and last night some one came along and cleaned out the entire roost.

The watch fob and medals were found by a Times subscriber on Saturday and were brought to this office today for Miss Haines. It pays to advertise in a paper that is widely circulated in Hammond.

BOAT RACES ARE NOT YET DECIDED

Accident in River Event Prevent Settlement of Disputed Title.

And nobody won nor did anyone lose, neither was the boat race on the Calumet river yesterday declared a tie. Each of the four boats in the race met with some accident and obstacle that eliminated a fair test of the speed of the boats and the ability of the skippers. The four boats that were entered were "Iona," owned by Ed Rohde; "Alma," owned by Grant Hunter; "Beulah D," owned by George Drackert and the "Arrow," owned by William Roy and George Lang. "Iona," and "Alma," both struck a piling at the Grasseil bridge and were temporarily delayed, "Beulah D" owing to the low water was temporarily stuck in the mud and the "Arrow's" battery gave out. The judges thought it best not to make a decision in such a race and consequently the course will be gone over again.

The four boats are all twenty-two footers and each of the owners claims to have the best boat and the best ability to run it. The race of yesterday was to show the supremacy, but it not having been a fair test the race will be run again. This will be arranged as soon as possible as it is getting late in the season.

Although the racers were handicapped it was nevertheless a spectacular race all the way. With the exception of the "Arrow" the boats finished at Hunter's Rest almost simultaneously.

The course lay over a distance of nearly 15 miles, beginning at the Calumet avenue bridge and running westward to Camp Kokomo at the Forks. Here the boats turned and retraced the course going two miles past Clark Station to Hunter's Rest, where the ladies of the club had prepared a dinner for which the loser was to pay.

The race began at 9:30 and finished at about 11:30. A thing that added greatly to the unfairness of the race was the shallow water in which it was almost impossible for one boat to pass another. When the race is run over in the near future it will be a race on time and the starting will be so arranged that no boat will be in the other's way.

Quite a number of the club members were out in their own boats to watch the race. It was an ideal day for the sport and it is with many misgivings that they see the season draw to a close.
