MARSHALL TALKS AT THE COUNTY SEAT

Candidate Is Greeted By Crowd of Five Hundred People.

Tom Marshall, the much touted democratic nominee for governor, speaking to a crowd of 500 democrats, republicans and horse buyers from Illinois, from the veranda of the Commercial hotel here yesterday, filled completely to make his democratic oarcastic followers supposed he would. Instead, the republicans who heard him were jubilant over the result of the entire day's proceedings, but doubly so from the effects of Marshall's speech, which, from the animosity it has stirred up among the old soldiers who heard him make in Hammond, but it is the additions that were responsible for the great wave that was stirred up against the speaker yesterday that will probably sound his death knell, as an aspirant for the governor's office. The first fatal blow Mr. Marshall struck against himself and his followers was when he compared the Lincoln republican with the present day Bryan democrat, stating that an Abraham Lincoln republican ought to be a Bryan democrat. Tom Marshall reckoned without his host when he made that statement, for the old G. A. R. boys who fought for the union, remember well and to their sorrow, how the democratic party of that time were against every act that Lincoln was trying to bring about for the successful close of the war, and as one old boy in blue was heard to say yesterday, "Why don't they go to their own party for a man to lean against without bring the revered name of Lincoln into present day politics?" Every G. A. R. man that heard the speech yesterday is up in arms against what was said and if their influence counts for aught, Marshall will get few votes here.

His democratic tirade against the trusts and corporations was next on his political bill of fare, and the way manufacturers were scored in his efforts to array class against class and labor against capital, will certainly be the means of losing Marshall many votes. A Chicago horse-buyer, who did not know what kind of a speech was being made, was of the opinion that Crown Point had been invaded by a red-hot disciple of socialism, so bitter was Marshall's efforts to stir up animosity between the wage-earner and the money-man. Marshall's prediction of an awful calamity that is to sweep the country, if no remedy is found for the present situation, was appalling. If it had been taken seriously, but those utterances coming from a man like Marshall who rides around in automobiles and has a reputation for being an aristocrat, only provoke amusement, and his audience yesterday were not the kind to take up his fire brand of socialism, and work his deadly offices while Mr. Marshall sits around in an automobile.

Pontius Pilate and Moses were here brought into the speaker's range of argument, but what he tried to bring

A Lazy Liver

May be only a tired liver, or a starved liver. It would be a stupid as well as a savage thing to beat a weary or starved man because he lagged in his work. So in treating the lagging, torpid liver it is a great mistake to lash it with strong drastic drugs. A torpid liver is but an indication of an ill-nourished, enfeebled body whose organs are weary with overwork. Start with the stomach and all organs of digestion and nutrition. Put them in working order and see how quickly your liver will become active. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has made many marvelous cures of "liver trouble" by its wonderful control of the organs of digestion and nutrition. It restores the normal activity of the stomach, increases the secretions of the blood-making glands, cleanses the system from poisonous accumulations, and so relieves the liver of the burdens imposed upon it by the defection of other organs.

If you have bitter or bad taste in the morning, poor or variable appetite, coated tongue, foul breath, constipated or irregular bowels, feel weak, easily tired, dependent, frequent headaches, pain in the back, "small of back," gnawing or distressed feeling in stomach, perhaps nausea, or "bilious" "rises" in throat after eating, and kindred symptoms of weak stomach and torpid liver, no medicine will relieve you more promptly or more surely than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Perhaps only a part of the above symptoms will be present at one time and yet point to torpid liver or biliousness or weak stomach. Avoid all hot bread and biscuits, griddle cakes and other indigestible food and take the "Golden Medical Discovery" regularly and stick to its use until you are vigorous and strong.

The "Discovery" is non-secret, non-alcoholic, is a glyceric extract of native medicinal roots with a full list of its ingredients printed on each bottle-wrapper and attested under oath. Its ingredients are endorsed and extolled by the most eminent medical writers of the age and are recommended to cure the diseases for which it is advised.

Don't accept a substitute of unknown composition for this non-secret MEDICINE OF KNOWN COMPOSITION.

about with these two antedated characters, beyond confusing some of his listeners and reckoning the capital of Carnegie, no one may be able to discover. In all his tirade against the faults and abuses which he claimed were being brought under republican administration, he merely failed to give a remedy for one of them.

Once did Marshall broach the liquor question, getting around the local opinion plank. He claimed the governor was powerless against the law, but in the same breath declared that Hanly filled the legislature around at his will. If called upon to administer against the liquor traffic, Marshall said he would administer against the high class man's saloon as well as the old-fashioned saloon. This was all he said upon the topic that probably his entire audience had been waiting patiently for, and to say they were disappointed is putting it mildly after he strong and fearless stand taken by Watson.

Speaking of graft, Marshall said it was human nature for every man to get whatever he could. He said there had been times when he could have stolen $10,000, but if there came a question as to whether he'd steal a million dollars, well he didn't know. This remark coming from a nominee for the governorship caused a great deal of comment from those who heard it, and Mr. Thomas Marshall will probably hear a great deal more of that remark before he is through.

To the union man, Marshall had nothing to say, for the simple reason that he had no opportunity to be for or against them.

Marshall was interrupted in his talk by a listener who asked him what Bryan or the democratic party had ever done? Marshall sparred for time to collect his thoughts by asking the man his name and several other questions, and then came back with, "They haven't had a chance." Marshall said there were many offices at Indianapolis that ought to be abolished because they had nothing to do. As a last effort to win votes for himself he admonished that intelligent audience, that does not know the name of being "arrogant," "bull-dozed," or "beaten," into casting their vote for the republican ticket.

After his speech Marshall was taken to the Erie train for Hammond.

Notes.

A wedding ceremony was performed before the audience upon a couple that represented Simon announced were strong democrats. They hailed from Chicago. City Judge McMahon, candidate for judge of the superior court, performed the ceremony. This public exhibition was derided by many of the democrats present, as being sacrilegious and of the tin whistle and clap trap order.

The republicans were busy figuring out how many votes Marshall's speech lost him yesterday and how many it is going to lose him in the future.

After hearing so much about the oratory, logic, etc., of Marshall it can hardly be wondered why so many were disappointed yesterday.

One by one the saloonkeepers are opening their eyes to the fact that the republican party at least is not deceiving them as to their position, and the fact that they do not know where the democrats and Marshall stand is making them flock to the party that has come out into the open.

Marshall asked where the republicans got their money for the campaign work? Center township republicans have a nice little list of donations that they will be proud to show and compare with the list raised for the Marshall doing yesterday.

The St. John wagon to the Marshall speech yesterday did not arrive until after Marshall had shaken the dust of the town off his feet. They started with the intention of taking in the Bryan meeting at Lowell, but as the Peerless One did not stop there they were disappointed and came on to Crown Point to receive their second disappointment.

Drew Average Crowd.

The horse sale yesterday drew about the average crowd of buyers and sellers, although not many horses changed hands. Not more than twenty horses were shipped away. Politics seemed to have more charms than horse swapping, and the crowd here yesterday was about evenly divided between the two big political parties.

"We'll win with Watson," got a 50 per cent boost yesterday.

High School Notes.

A great many of the high school pupils attended the democratic rally this afternoon, but some way Mr. Marshall did not seem to impress them much, as they still yell for Watson.
