NEWS OF THE COUNTY SEAT

Questions For the Voter.

Mr. Voter, tomorrow will you vote for Taft and an assured amount of confidence, upholding and joining hands with the business interests of the country without which there can be no prosperity or livelihood? Or will you cast your vote for Bryan, a man which the business men of the country are afraid of? A man with numerous schemes for changes, but without a practical remedy for any of the faults that he lays at the door of the republic and its policies, the policies which he at one time said he was regretful heir to. Mr. Worker, Bryan may cajole you into thinking that he is the only friend you have, but that isn't getting us bread and butter. When he strikes a blow at the very vitals of the business of the country in making you work with the skill and labor of your hands, against the cheap labor and wages of the foreign country. You came to this country to improve your condition, Mr. Worker. Do you want Bryan to bring the conditions and wages for which you worked in the old country, to this land of ours? That's what you will be doing if you cast your vote for Bryan tomorrow. Protection tariff means protection to you first, Mr. Wage Earner, by keeping the foreign competition away from the articles made by you.

Crown Point Fumbled.

In one of the best games of football ever witnessed hereby the lovers of the sport, the Hammond high school defeated the local team by a score of 6 to 5 on Saturday afternoon. In ground gaining the Crown Point team far excelled the visitors and would have undoubtedly won the game but for the fact that Crown Point fumbled the ball at critical stages of the game and lost ground in this manner. Time and time again the local team held their heavier opponents for downs, only to lose the ball on fumbles. Crown Point was handicapped by the absence of two of their best players on account of being disqualified in their studies. A return game is to be played at Hammond in two weeks when Crown Point expects to win back their lost laurels and get a half Nelson on the Lake County Times cup.

Will Get the Returns.

A big crowd is expected at Central Music hall tomorrow night to listen to the election returns. A special Western Union wire has been installed to receive the national and state returns, and the county's results will be received over the telephone. The republicans have gone to quite an expense in furnishing the public with these free returns and invite all their voting friends, democrats and republicans to meet with them. The women are especially invited. Manager Rudolph of the Five Cent theater has been engaged and will entertain the audience between waits with illustrated songs and moving pictures. There will be something doing all the time, and if the election returns come as the republican party expects they will, there will be a big jollification, and everybody will be happy.

They Were Disappointed.

Crown Point democrats, who journeyed to Indiana Harbor and Gary on Saturday to hear the Peerless One speak, returned greatly disappointed as the candidate failed to make an appearance. Bryan arrived in Chicago about midnight, his train being delayed in Indiana about four hours, and the finish of his great whirl-wind campaign came to an ending. Everyone, however, recognizes the wonderful ability of Bryan as a speaker and campaigner, and had he not made so many fatal blunders in the past, and was running on a platform that could restore the confidence of the American people instead of creating distrust, his chances of election would be greatly enhanced. But as an eastern state man surprised on their silver wedding day may a good old-fashioned chivalrie by the married people of the town Friday night and responded in the most generous manner to the friendly demonstration.

Hallowe'en eve pranks were of a harmless nature here this year. The village blacksmith's shop near the Monon depot received the most attention. The roof of the shop was decorated with about fifty milk cans, where the owner of the cans could take them away free of charge. Don't forget the big dance Thursday evening, Nov. 5, at Spring Hill Grove. 4t

LOWELL.

So far as the public election is concerned both the republicans and democrats of the three Creek townships closed the campaign last Saturday afternoon and night. The republicans held the boards in the afternoon and the democrats at night. A large crowd greeted them at both occasions, and the speakers were given marked attention, as all our citizens noted for intelligence, were anxious to hear both sides discussed. The republican orators were Hon. Edwin Cook, congressional general to Turkey; Senator A. J. Bowser of Chesterton and E. W. Wick, candidate for representative of Lake county. All the speakers talked along the same lines of all republican orators of this campaign, their arguments being full of sound logic, convincing and seemed to satisfy the minds of the most skeptical. The democratic speakers were to have been Judge Darroch, democratic candidate for congressman of the Tenth district, but Attorney Joseph Conroy of Hammond came in his stead. Mr. Conroy divided his address in four parts—national, state, county and township—but for the fact that he jumped from one subject to another with such lightning rapidity he might have made a great hit, for you know Joe is quite a cute little fellow. He talked some on the subject of economic democratic administration, how they would lower taxes, etc., but a great deal of his talk was an apology of his own sad mistakes, flaying the republican administration, and throwing bouquets of a very ugly odor and color at the Lake County Times, but the most of his republican friends down here are inclined to look on the matter as a huge joke, for that is just Joe you know. Mr. Conroy has a very great facility of making the people laugh and would make a splendid circus clown if he would only dress for it. If the democrats get in in this campaign he proposes to reduce county taxes by discharging all the competent lady clerks in the county court house and make the officials do all the work. We would suggest that this is another one of Joseph's sad ideas, for in doing such a rash and he very liable to get all the women folks down on him, and that would not do at all.

Lowell played their first football game of the season at Lowell Sunday and they are a dandy line-up destined to lay in the shade every other team that plays them this year. Momenca, a fairly good team, journeyed here on the date mentioned. They went back with twelve points, while Lowell was getting fifteen. During the entire game there was a drenching rainfall, rendering it very difficult to perform. In weight the visitors outclassed the locals, but our boys had them down on all classical plays like punts, drop kicks, etc., and our boys were pretty good at straight line bucks, too, while it was all the visitors done, and they did not do that very good, so say all the football enthusiasts. There was quite a large attendance notwithstanding the very unpleasant weather and drenching rain.

WHITING NEWS

Many Pleasant Parties.

Saturday was the most sane Hallowe'en witnessed in Whiting for many years, and few tricks are noted. Of course, boys and girls, as well as beans, several gags were detached and mysteriously carried away, noisy "tick ticks" were operated on window panes, but the general behavior of the usual Hallowe'en disturber was quite praiseworthy. About ten extra policemen in addition to the usual force were on special watch to guard against damage by the Hallowe'en merry-makers. One affair that approached a serious nature was the breaking of Sol Recht's plate glass window. The person who committed the depredations is not known, but the excitement was great when an employee of Recht's store chased several small children who happened to be in the vicinity and catching one little girl he handled her very roughly.

Social events were features and it was at these that the greater part of the celebration was done. The entertaining in honor of the event was begun on Friday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Beaumont F. Parks entertained the members of the Magazine club at their home in Oliver street. The house was most elaborately decorated appropriate of the occasion. The menu was of the most delicious, was a most pleasant one and will be long remembered. Another Friday night celebration was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Trowe of Oliver street when their daughter, Miss Elsie, entertained the B. G. and F. S. girls.

The members of the Owl club fairly outdid themselves in their celebration on Friday night, which took the form of a farmer dance. The elaborate quarters of the club were most beautifully decorated suggestive of the occasion. Pumpkins, oak leaves, ears of corn and wheat were in every available nook and corner. In the ballroom the word "owl" was done most artistically in wheat. The guests came in farmer costumes and some were very novel indeed. The music was furnished by Professor Hay's orchestra.

Besides the dancing a large part of the evening was taken up by contests, the winners of which were as follows: Helen Matern, guessing the correct weight of a pumpkin. Herman Trowe, guessing the number of corn on an ear; Mrs. Nick Wilson, guessing number of beans in a pint jar; James Judson, guessing number of apples in an bushel. Supper was served at O'Keefe's and here, too, the idea was carried out, it being served in an old-fashioned way. Red table covers and wooden-handled knives and forks were used. The menu consisted of bread, pickles, cheese, doughnuts, pumpkin pie, coffee and cider.

The affair was a success in every sense of the word and will not be forgotten in many a day. Saturday night several other noteworthy affairs were held, among them being the annual social of the Epworth League at the M. E. church.

Miss Nellie Wycoff entertained several friends at her home in Ohio avenue.

The Misses Bollingers, also of Ohio avenue, entertained several young people from the German Lutheran church at a most pleasant party.

Melvin Brenner, who is a senior in the high school, did himself proud in the manner in which he entertained his classmates. The seniors all came in ghost costumes, and a ghost dance was participated in. The color scheme used by the Brenners in decorating their home at One Hundred and Nineteenth street and New York avenue was the class colors of gold and white. Class pennants were also hung around the rooms. Numerous games were enjoyed and the supper served by the host's mother was a most sumptuous one. The young people departed at a late hour, all voting "Lulu Berne" a most royal host.

Were Much Disappointed.

Several Whitingites went to Indiana Harbor on Saturday night in the hopes of getting a glimpse of William Jennings Bryan. After waiting in vain for several hours for the "Peerless Leader" they were compelled to return home feeling very much as a bee hive, had come in contact with a bee alive.

Auditor Charles A. Johnson and Tom Grant, candidate for sheriff, both of Crown Point, were in Whiting Friday in the interest of their political affairs.

It remains to be seen now just how many men have been kept away from church services on Sunday morning by balloons being kept open.

Rev. J. B. Berg of the Sacred Heart church was at the head of a movement which has caused the saloons of Whiting to be closed on Sunday mornings from 7 a. m. to 12 o'clock.

The saloonkeepers did not oppose the movement in any way and decided to close until noon, so that will take in not only the hours of services at the Sacred Heart church, but at every other church as well.

It is hoped by this means to increase the attendance at the various churches and will on the other hand give the saloonkeepers themselves a chance to attend morning services.

The new law went into effect yesterday for the first time and worked like a charm.

Promptly at 7 a. m. the curtain in all the saloons in Whiting were opened up so as to give the authorities a chance to see that the place was devoid of customers, and at noon all went back to work again with the privilege of staying open until 11 p. m.
