PAY THEIR ELECTION BETS NOW

John Kamradt, Who Walked from East Chicago to Gary When County Convention Was Held, Will Trundle Wheelbarrow.

"BUSTER" LAID A BET ON BRYAN

East Chicago and Indiana Harbor Are Witnessing Some Funny Bets These Days and Bands Galore Make Merry for the People of the Twin Cities.

(Special to THE TIMES).
Indiana Harbor, Ind., Nov. 6.—To-night will witness the paying of Indiana Harbor's first "freak bet." As chronicled several weeks ago, Louis Houtschilt, the Harbor's 200-pound contractor, and John Kamradt, the local agent of the South Shore Gas company, made a wager on the Taft-Bryan fight in Indiana. Kamradt was a loyal Bryan defender and declared that the Peoria leader would carry the Hoosier state with a heavy majority. Houtschilt thought otherwise and won.

"Buster" Will Make Sensation.
Kamradt, who is well known all over the county as "Buster," weighs in the neighborhood of 300 pounds. His appearance this evening will indeed be ludicrous. Led by a brass band of at least twelve pieces, hired especially for the occasion, and with a fireworks lighting the main street of this city, he will wheel Houtschilt from the Harbor hotel to the Auditorium hall in a rickety, half-broken wheelbarrow.

The attraction should bring a fair-sized crowd to the center of the city, and from this gathering, the gentlemen participating in the bet expect to find a large number ready to attend a dance in Cline's hall. The entire city has been billed for the occasion, and the final feature—the dance—described as a Watson-Marshall dance.

Cherry Wheels Keenan.
At East Chicago yesterday afternoon, about four hundred persons witnessed the paying of a similar bet. W. L. Cherry, a republican contractor, wheeled Attorney Pat Keenan through the heart of the city in a wheelbarrow. They were preceded by a three-piece band, composed of Mose Specter, Louis Greenfield and F. J. Ault, who succeeded in drawing the attention of the business men to the pranks and antics of the pair.

Many Spectators Witness It.
This afternoon James Clements will use the same wheelbarrow in conveying J. W. Baird, local solicitor of the electric light company, over the same course. Their wagers were made on the county election, Hughes being Baird's favorite and winner. Although the procession will commence from Cohen's corner, at Forsyth and Chicago avenues, at 2 o'clock, there will doubtless be a large crowd of interested spectators ready to witness the frolics of the two business men as they succeed in stopping in front of every business house and subject the loser to the ridicule of the amused occupants.

INTERESTED IN THEATRE
The whole town is interested in the new 10-cent theatre which T. W. Englehart is building on South Hobman street. The elaborate plans which Mr. Englehart decided upon are now being carried out, and it is apparent to all that Hammond is to have a beautiful little play house.

The marble wallcovering which is being put in the foyer of the theatre is the real stuff and is very attractive. The ornamental plastering on the walls in the interior of the theatre is the most beautiful that has yet been seen in this city.

There are some plaster of paris pedestals on the walls that are very artistic and beautiful. The decorators are to take hold of the theatre as soon as the ornamental plasterers are through and the last thing that will be done will be to put in the mosaic floor, which is to extend half way out on the walk.

GO TO VALPARAISO.
The Morris-Thurston Stock company which is playing in repertoire at Towle's opera house this week will go hence to the Memorial at Valparaiso, where they will play for a week.

LAKE COUNTY IS NEXT TO MARION

G. O. P.'s Delegate Strength Will Be Twice as Large As At Present. WILL HAVE 47 DELEGATES

Lake County Will Be a Big Factor Henceforth at All State Conventions.

One of the interesting things about the recent election is the fact that Lake county will go to the state convention at Indianapolis four years from now with forty-seven delegate votes. At the present time Marion county has only about 141 delegate votes, and when the Lake county delegation went to the convention which nominated Watson it had only twenty-three votes.

The only other county in the state which approaches the vote of Lake is Allen county, in which Fort Wayne is located, and it has only 40 votes. Vanderburgh county has 29 votes, Vigo has 28, DeKalb has 31 and Madison county has 32.

This gives an idea of the great importance of Lake county as a political factor. In a close race for the nomination for the governorship Lake county's 47 votes will be a factor to conjure with.

It is expected that the down-state politicians will hereafter give this district the consideration it deserves. It is a well known fact that both of the factions among the Indiana republicans have been making overtures to County Chairman Richard Schaaf for his support, but it is also well known that Mr. Schaaf was too astute a politician to make any promises.

Virgil S. Reiter told the republicans down state the other day that by the year 1920 Lake county would have more delegate votes than Marion county and it is possible that long before that time some Lake county man will go into the state convention with the delegate vote from this district and secure the nomination for governor.

All Lake county wants now is recognition in the councils of the party at Indianapolis, and it is slowly getting that recognition. It now has exactly one-third as many delegate votes as Marion county.

GOV-ELECT MARSHALL HAS LOTS OF "PIE"

Successful Candidate Is Begging To Be Imparted By Faithful

Very few persons have an idea how much patronage the governor has at his disposal. He has the appointment of a private secretary at $2,500 a year, an executive clerk at $1,500, a stenographer at $1,000, an executive accountant at $2,500, a chief engineer of the State House at $2,000, an adjutant general at $2,500, a quartermaster general at $1,200, a brigadier general at $2,250, a factory inspector at $2,000, an oil inspector at $2,500, four trustees at $300 a year and expenses for the Central, Northwestern, Eastern and Southern Hospitals for the Insane, for the Epileptic Village at New Castle and the Insane Hospital at Madison, the Deaf and Dumb Institute, the Girl's School, the Woman's Prison, the Institution for the Blind, the State Penitentiary, the Indiana Reformatory, the Boys' Reform School, the Soldiers' Homes at Knightstown and Lafayette and the School for Feeble Minded at Ft. Wayne; a state entomologist at $1,500, four members of the State Board of Forestry at $300 a year and expenses, five members of the State Board of Optometry at $5 a day and expenses while in session, six members of the State Board of Medical Registration and Examination at $300 a year and expenses, five members of the State Board of Pharmacy at $5 a day and expenses while in session, a state veterinarian at $100 a month and expenses, two state labor commissioners at $2,000 a year, three members of the State Tax Board at $2,000 a year, three members of the State Board of Pardons and Commutations at $1,000 a year, three members of the State Board of Pensions at $300 a year and expenses, five members of the Tuberculosis Commission at $25 a month and expenses and members of other commission too numerous to mention, most of whom serve without pay or draw nominal salaries.

In several of the offices mentioned there are deputies who are appointed by the immediate chiefs, but it has been the custom in the past for governors to make suggestions regarding some of these appointments, which suggestions were treated with eminent respect by the chiefs. There are about thirty-five deputies under the oil inspector.

HAVE LAW PARTNERSHIP.
Attorneys Wm. W. McMahon and Joseph Conroy have entered into a partnership for the practice of law in Hammond. Both of the members in the partnership have had long experience in the practice of law in Hammond and they both have a large circle of friends. Their offices will be in suite 109, Hammond building.

BURGLAR AT BUNDE'S ONCE MORE

Midnight Marauder, Who May Be Member of Bone-Polishers' Union, Shot at But Gets Away With 3 Cents Worth of Loot.

Fred Bunde, the East State street butcher, is getting so used to burglars that he wouldn't mind if he met one on the street. Mr. Bunde is getting so used to the robber that he could pick him out in a crowd of people. And why shouldn't he? Isn't he visited at the rate of once a week by a prowler who breaks into his meat market and steals all the way from 3 cents to 30 cents and a soup bone.

Mr. Bunde thinks that the thief is a member of the Bone Polishers' union. Mr. Bunde's mysterious visitor came around last Wednesday night for a fourth time, and but for a burglar alarm might have taken a whole sausage or another soup bone. As it was he only got 3 cents. Mr. Bunde did not know the amount of money that might be carried away and took no chances, and after the alarm bell, which is attached to the bedstead, rang long before for Mrs. Bunde to wake up, the tired husband was finally aroused from his dreams, but not with the aid of the bell. A few hurried jabs in his spurs from his better half brought him to his senses.

Holds Council of War.
The bell kept ringing, so they muffled it and both dressed hurriedly in the meantime holding a council of war. Mr. Bunde decided to guard the rear exit while Mrs. Bunde volunteered to protect the front door. He said to Mr. Bunde's credit that he did not seek the back door in order that he might escape in case the burglar was desperate. It was only reasonable to believe that the fellow would seek to escape through the back way.

Both the husband and wife were at their posts, with Fred holding a shotgun in his hand, while his courageous spouse was satisfied with a revolver. It all worked as fine as the alarm clock. When Mr. and Mrs. Bunde were good and ready the burglar, too, was ready and he attempted to escape. He plunged directly for the front door, right into the arms of Mrs. Bunde. She was not strong enough to hold him, however, and he reached the street. He leveled her revolver at him and fired, and missed. Just then Fred came running around the corner of the house and seeing the fleeing burglar disappearing in the darkness he raised his howitzer and blazed away. When the smoke had cleared away he found that he missed the burglar and 3 cents.

WILL HOLD LIBRARY INSTITUTE HERE

Hammond's Librarian Gets Word to that Effect From Capital.

Mrs. Jennie Sawyer, librarian at the public library, received word this morning from the library commission at Indianapolis, that Hammond would get an institute this month. The day set for the institute is Nov. 19, with the principal session in the afternoon. The meetings will be held in the big room on the second floor of the library, and the general public is invited to attend.

The principal work this day will be talks and instructions in the use of the library and hints and suggestions to the librarians. It is expected that there will be a number of other librarians present and the meetings will be so arranged as to have something of real interest to everybody.

In order that the library may be appropriately decorated it has been suggested that any ferns or potted plants will be acceptable. There may be some people in Hammond who are overstocked with plants and if the surplus would be given to the library the plants would not only be well taken care of but would also form a most pleasing adornment of the library room.

TAFT'S ELECTION BOOMS INDUSTRY

Forty Thousand More Men To Go To Work by Jan. 1 in Calumet Region.

MR. TURNER SELLS REALTY.
A. Murray Turner of Hammond has sold two lots in Pine township to Warren Springer, according to the real estate transfers in Porter county.

FRONTAGE BOUGHT ON CALUMET

A. Murray Turner Closes Up an Important Deal Today With the Chicago & Erie Railroad Company on Trade Basis.

One of the most important real estate deals of the year was closed yesterday when the Erie railroad decided to A. M. Turner a strip of land 465 feet, a distance of four blocks, in return for a triangular piece of land along the Erie tracks, south of Eaton street, and directly south of the Erie storage houses.

Through this deal Mr. Turner becomes the possessor of one-half a mile of frontage on Calumet avenue and will at once have it subdivided and put on the market. The strip of land is wide enough so that there will be a block and a half between Calumet avenue and the railroad company's holdings.

Railroad Loses Frontage.
The great advantage of the deal lies in the fact that the railroad has lost all of its frontage on Calumet avenue and there is no danger of this street being destroyed as a residence street by having a lot of coal sheds or machine shops erected fronting Calumet avenue.

The territory east of Calumet avenue built up with great rapidity after the Standard Steel Car company located here but a great many property owners had property fronting the holdings of the Erie railroad hesitated about putting expensive improvements on it for the reason that they did not know when the railroad would decide to build buildings across from their property that would hurt its value.

Now that Mr. Turner has secured control of all of this frontage from Carroll street south to the new fire station, the future of this street is assured and it is expected that its development will be rapid.

Lawrence Becker and A. H. Tapper are both very much pleased over the deal as it will make their holdings across the street very valuable. The terms of the deal also provided that Waltham street, by jogging down in a southerly direction along the Erie railroad tracks to Lewis street, may be opened clear through to the Standard Steel Car plant by means of Hart street and this will be the first through street south of Douglas street.

COLLEGE SPIRIT IS MANIFESTED

Lincoln-Jefferson Law College Elects New Officers Last Night.

Barely two months old, the college spirit is beginning to assert itself among the Lincoln-Jefferson Law school. The students of the school met last night for the purpose of organizing a law club.

The organization grew out of a spirit of pride and love that the students have for their school, and it was this spirit that prompted them to organize a club to represent the school for debating contests with other schools, and also in such social functions as the school will from time to time give.

The officers elected last night are as follows:
President—Charles R. Dyer.
Vice president—M. P. Ludwig.
Secretary—John Northland.
Treasurer—W. F. Brunt.
Committee on constitution and by-laws—O. F. Boyce, William Love and Walter E. Bauer.

The class realizes that the Lincoln-Jefferson College of Law will be a permanent institution with a brilliant future before it. Those already enrolled are proud to think that they shall compose the first class of the school, and hope that the club that they organized last night will live to be the strongest and best of all that will rise in the course of time.

The college is now in full swing and especially now that the campaign is over, those of the students who had a tendency to work in the campaign, will get down to harder work than ever. The course is still open to anybody and it is still early enough in the year to begin now and do good work until the end.

CHARLES E. E. COONS TAKEN TO PRISON.

Charles E. E. Coons, who was recently convicted in the Lake superior court in Hammond of an unproven crime was taken to Michigan City this morning by Deputy James Trost.

At the same time Sheriff F. S. Carter deputized John Noonan to help him take 7 prisoners to the reformatory at Jeffersonville. Mr. Noonan was taken along because he is a man of powerful physique and in shaking for cigars in Locki Simpson's cigar store has secured the reputation of never letting anything get away from him.

OLD BOSSES OUT; NEW BOSSES IN

Republicans Beginning to Figure Out the Reason For Slump.

LAY IT ALL TO GOV. HANLY

Prominent Democrats Who Will Be Candidates For the United States Senate.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—Now that the first shock is over and the republicans have recovered sufficiently to think and figure, they have discovered several reasons for their terrible drubbing of Tuesday. For a time they were so dazed as not to be able to explain what struck them.

The revolt on the part of the liberals is traceable to the republican attitude toward the temperance question but not entirely, as many persons developed a way in which the county option was forced through the special session. They wondered why Hanly was not willing to trust his successor, why need existed so suddenly for legislative action, why the matter could not be left to the people for settlement, etc.

Has Many Enemies.
Gov. Hanly has many personal enemies and many of these struck at him through the republican ticket. Like a man in a storm, he rushed out in an open field and invited the lightning to strike him. It did. After forcing his party to do things against its will, he assumed all responsibility—meaning by that, probably, that he would take all credit. Knowing Hanly to be responsible, but being unable to reach him directly, the voters rebuked the party that had been guided by him.

For years the legislature has been republican. The republicans have controlled both branches, elected all their officers. Four years ago the democratic space on the floor of the house was so narrow as to be called the "Cherokee strip." Two years ago this strip was widened. Now it has grown to practically take all the space.

The democrats will have a big majority on a joint ballot and will elect a senator to succeed Hemenway. Already candidates are coming out—L. B. Slack of Franklin, John E. Lamb of Terre Haute, etc. Others being talked of are John W. Kern, Benjamin F. Stidely, Thomas Taggart, Henry Warrum, etc. There will be a plenty. The pasture is green and well worth grazing in.

Personnel of House.
It now looks as if there would be fifty-nine democrats in the next house to forty-one republicans, and twenty-two democrats in the senate to twenty-eight republicans. The fact that the republicans had seventeen hold-over senators in what saved them in the upper branch. If there had been any other candidates to elect, the democrats would probably have captured them.

This much is true—there is going to be changed political conditions in Indiana for the next year or two. Old bosses are not going to count for much. New ones are leaping into prominence. The king is dead—long live the king!

GOODWIN'S ELECTION CAUSES REJOICING

Lake County Republicans See His Success a Slap at Hanlyism.

Regardless of political affiliations, the people of Hammond are rejoicing over the election of Fremont Goodwine to the office of lieutenant governor of the state. They see in the election of Goodwine by 1,481 majority a direct slap at Governor Hanly.

It will be remembered that at the state convention Governor Hanly came out with a public statement in which he said that if Fremont Goodwine was nominated, he personally would see that he was defeated.

Senator Goodwine has a great many friends who are loyal to him. He has the faculty of making friends. Every politician in Hammond, East Chicago and Gary who met Mr. Goodwine felt that he is an honest man, and in the event of anything happening to Mr. Marshall, Goodwine is of the proper caliber to make a good governor.

It Made Him Friends.
The position of Governor Hanly made Fremont Goodwine thousands of friends in this locality and they are all glad to see him elected because of the reproach it will be to the belligerent governor who sought to dictate his defeat.

So the whole of Lake county rejoices in the election of Fremont Goodwine, and that fact that he was elected by such a good majority is an indication that both republicans and democrats in Indiana are tired of Hanly and Hanlyism.

GOOD NEWS REACHES LAKE CO.

Republicans Have Elected Their State Ticket, With the Exception of Watson. By Small Majorities, So Dispatch Says.

LAKE COUNTY SAVES THE DAY FOR THEM

Majorities for the State Republican Candidates Will Squeeze Them In By a Few Hundred Votes—Is Glad of the News That Comes to the Headquarters.

Indianapolis, Nov. 6, 1908.

Richard Schaaf Jr., Hammond, Ind.: Republican state ticket, except Watson, elected by small majority. Go to clerk's office with witnesses and get totals of vote for each candidate and verify same with returns. See if any fraudulent changes have been made. Fraud must be prevented. Telegraph pluries to me at once.

JAMES GOODRICH, Chairman.

In addition to saving Indiana's electoral vote for Taft, it now appears that Lake county's splendid republican majorities will save the entire republican state ticket from defeat.

Elected by Small Majorities.
A canvass of the late returns indicate that the republican state ticket will be elected by majorities of from 300 to 400. As the country districts are heard from Marshall's majority is being cut down and the majority in favor of the republican state ticket, except Watson, grows.

It appears that the situation all over the state is similar to that here in Hammond. Many voters knifed Watson and voted for all of the rest of the republican ticket.

Ex-Senator T. Edwin Bell returned from Indianapolis this morning where he conferred with some of the state leaders there. They were jubilant over the fact that it now appears that every republican on the state ticket will be elected, excepting Watson.

Wrath at the Breweries.
On the other hand, the Lake county democrats are far from being satisfied with the situation. The republican majority in the state senate will make it impossible to repeal the county local option bill, the metropolitan police bill, and others upon which the democratic attack was concentrated. The returns show that the democrats have a majority of eight on joint ballot, and so in addition to the governorship they will be able to elect a United States senator.

Many of the local democrats are wrath at the breweries. They say the breweries elected the governor and a democratic house and then did not seem to care what become of the rest of the ticket, both state and national. They say that history has repeated itself and that the unholy alliance resulted in the breweries getting what they wanted, while the party was turned down on everything else.
