ERRING WIFE RETURNS

Judge McMahon Adjusts Marital Troubles in Court Today.

Dan Striber missed his wife one morning about nine months ago and he was unable to locate her until a friend happened to be in Mayville, Wis., and found Mrs. Striber living with Peter Swilize.

The Hammond man was notified and Lane Kollwitz went to the little Wisconsin town and brought the erring wife back home. Striber was glad to welcome his wife back home, but it was not long before Kollwitz came to Hammond, and trouble was promised.

It is said that Kollwitz threatened Striber, and the situation became so acute that Striber finally appealed to Judge McMahon's city court to have Kollwitz put under a peace bond.

The case came up in the court this morning and it developed in the hearing that Mrs. Striber was the one who was really responsible. She proposed running away with Kollwitz, and after they had lived together for a while she tired of their affinity and decided, after she found the way, to go back to her husband.

The court costs were paid by both of the parties to the controversy and amounted in all to $15. Kollwitz promised to let the matter drop and to cause no more trouble.

Striber is a good steady fellow, and he and his wife will live happily together in spite of the fact that she took a whirl at a trial marriage and found that it was not altogether to her liking.

SECOND ISSUE OUT SOON

There have been hundreds of inquiries regarding the date of issue of the next Calumet Region Monthly Railway guide. The date of issue will be between the 10th and the 12th of this month.

The guide this issue will contain the schedule of the Chicago, Lake Shore & South Bend lines and will have several other improvements, which will make it more valuable.

There will be 6,000 copies issued, and they will be distributed in the same manner as before except that the railroads will be given a larger number of copies than before.

The first distribution resulted in the supply at the railroad stations being exhausted early in the month. The depots will be given a liberal supply this time and there will be copies enough for every one.

THE ROUNDER SAYS

Notwithstanding the fact that the campaign is over, Pat McGraw of this city still has the fires of hatred toward the democratic party burning fiercely in his heart.

The reason for it all is the fact that the democrats made Pat get out his naturalization papers before he voted. Think of it! Pat McGraw, an old soldier, a resident of Hammond for years, one of the leading citizens of this burg being compelled to take out his naturalization papers.

It all happened through a little slip that Pat is supposed to have made in the presence of some of his democratic friends. Pat inadvertently let it be known that as long as he had lived in this country he had never sworn allegiance to the stars and stripes.

Not that Pat was not loyal to them, but it was just one of the things he had never bothered to do. Well, when Pat came up to vote he was challenged. He was the maddest Irishman in
