East Chicago Saloonkeeper
Robbed Before He Can Say "Scat."

LOOKS FOR SEVENTY DOLLARS

Peter Glick and John Hasan Are Placed Under Bond to Appear in Superior Court.

(Special to THE TIMES.)
East Chicago, Ind., Nov. 11.—When John Bilson, a saloonkeeper residing at One Hundred and Fifth street and Melville avenue, this city, leaves his saloon for a few moments, he will be very careful hereafter to leave in charge a perfectly trustworthy person. As a result of a robbery committed Monday evening, John Hasan and Peter Glick, two neighbors of the saloonkeeper, are in jail awaiting trial in the Lake superior court.

The amount involved in the robbery is in excess of $70, and strange to say, the money has not yet been found. Another strange feature of the case is that the entire transaction, including the arrest of the defendants, occurred in less than fifteen minutes.

Bilson was called out of his saloon about 7:30 o'clock Monday evening by a business visitor, who desired a front-stay conference. Turning to Peter Glick, who was the only habitue of the place, Bilson requested him to take charge of the bar. Seeing before him visions of several free beers, Glick assented, and hastily donned the white apron. In the meantime, Hasan entered the saloon, and during the absence of the proprietor, it is believed that the robbery was committed. No sooner was Bilson's back turned, than Glick went out of a side door, and the presumption is that he carried with him the money obtained from his lightning raid.

Disappeared As If By Magic.
As he re-entered the saloon, Bilson entered through the front door, and immediately noticed that Glick seemed somewhat perturbed. Glancing towards the cash register, he saw the money drawer open, and the till, under the bar empty. Glick, who had been called away, had the two men searched. Both protested their innocence, and, of course, the money was not found on their persons.

In a preliminary hearing before Judge DeBrie yesterday morning, the two men were held to await the action of the superior court, with bail fixed at $500 each, and in default were sent to the county jail.

ORDERS FLAT BUILDING

New York Man in Gary to Supervise Plans for Buildings.

E. J. Tallman of LaFargeville, N. Y., who recently wrote the widely advertised letter to Attorneys Harris and Prestach of Gary, in which he stated that the building of several flats in this city would be made contingent on the election of Taft, arrived in Gary yesterday and stated that the work of erecting the flats would be begun at once.

BETTER MARRIAGE LAWS

Object of Kansas Official in Seeking Indiana Information.

The state of Kansas is trying to get better marriage laws, according to a letter received by Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the state board of health, from P. W. Knapp, secretary of the board of control of the state charitable institutions of Kansas. Mr. Knapp makes inquiries concerning the marriage laws of Indiana and says he thinks they are excellent. He is especially impressed with that section of the Indiana law which requires that both applicants shall swear to a statement that they are free from transmissible diseases. Mr. Knapp believes the Indiana marriage law should be copied by states that have not already taken advanced steps in this direction. Dr. Hurty will give Mr. Knapp full and complete information in regard to the Indiana marriage law.

ROBBED OF TEAM OF HORSES YESTERDAY

Whiting Lady Sees Horses
Taken But Didn't Know
They Were Stolen.

THOMAS DEANE IS INJURED

Condition of Accident's Victim
Thought To Be Serious
For Some Time.

(Special to THE TIMES.)
Whiting, Ind., Nov. 11.—Mrs. K. Frankowski, who with her husband, moved to Whiting today, last night about 11 o'clock saw two horse thieves take their horses away without knowing that they were being stolen. She did not realize until this morning, when they went to their barn at Forsyth, from where they were moving, and found the stalls empty.

Part of the moving was done yesterday and the Frankowskis intended to spend the night in their old place and finish the moving today. Joseph Rybicki put the horses in the barn at Forsyth about 8 o'clock last evening and at the same time noticed that two negroes were loitering near the gate. Nobody paid any attention to the two, however. Last night about 11 o'clock Mrs. Frankowski heard the dog barking in the yard and, thinking that something was wrong, opened the window and looked into the yard. She saw two men riding on horseback, headed toward South Chicago. She is sure that they drove away her own horses.

Chief Lawler was notified and he and Frankowski have gone to Chicago today, with the intention of locating the thieves and horses there.

Mr. Frankowski had made arrangements yesterday with John Furtay, a Whiting grocer, to sell one of the horses to him.

VORHEES CASE IS UP

Former Crown Point School Principal and Wife in Divorce Court.

(Special to THE TIMES.)
Crown Point, Ind., Nov. 10.—Much interest is evinced in the trial of the Vorhees divorce suit in Chicago. George Vorhees, now principal of the Samuel B. Morse school, formerly principal of the Crown Point high school, and Mrs. Ella Culver Vorhees must appear in person before Judge Mack in Chicago next Tuesday morning, when the petition of the defendant for alimony and solicitor's fees in their divorce suit is heard.

Miss Geraldine Farrar, alleged "affinity" of the school principal, and named by Mrs. Vorhees in her cross bill, was mentioned in court today. Following the charge made against her by Mrs. Vorhees the latter's husband is said to have declared a willingness to marry Miss Farrar if she felt similarly inclined.

Mrs. Vorhees lives on a farm at Upper Alton, Ill., and is the mother of seven children. Mr. Vorhees left the farm several years ago when he came to Chicago to teach in the public schools. Last spring he filed a suit for divorce, alleging desertion.

promises to handle its affairs properly should it be awarded him.

Mr. McCoy is confident.
Probably the man who is even more confident in his selection is Harry L. McCoy. Mr. McCoy is a real estate dealer in this city and has labored for years in the interests of the G. O. P. Whenever there has been work to do, McCoy has always been ready to perform any task assigned him. He has many friends who have personally interceded with the congressman in his behalf.

William Fuzy, the present assistant postmaster, is putting up a strong fight, based upon his experience and labors for the republican party. Mr. Fuzy has proved himself a shrewd politician, and it is not likely that his labors shall go unrewarded by Mr. Crumpacker. At any rate, the citizens of East Chicago will regret his departure, should such be necessary, and it is to be hoped that he will be retained as deputy, if not given charge of the department itself.

Citizens Are Divided.
The citizens of East Chicago are divided on the choice of the proper man for the office and naturally the appointment of a person not in harmony with the desires of the public will meet with their evidenced disapproval. The new postmaster will be called upon to bring about many changes in service and accommodations. On Jan. 1, the postal department will be compelled to seek new quarters for its local office, the owner of the old landmark having decided to make changes whereby it will be rendered practicable for store purposes. A new location will be selected shortly and arrangements also made for the installation of two or three hundred additional lock and call boxes, thus filling a long felt want of the East Chicagoans.

Evidently Father Was Doing Well.
Long after the death of the elder George Grossmith the British income tax commissioners sent to the son, the well-known actor, a notice assessing the income of the deceased at $10,000. Mr. Grossmith returned the document to the proper quarter, with the following note written across it: "I am glad to learn my father is doing so well in the next world; $10,000 is a great deal more than he ever made in this. Kindly forward this notice to his new address, and remember me affectionately to him."

CROSSING IS A GOOD DEATH-TRAP

Madison Crossing of Michigan Central Railroad Is Gary's Peril.

THOMAS DEANE IS INJURED

Condition of Accident's Victim
Thought To Be Serious
For Some Time.

One of the worst death traps in the city of Gary, the Madison street crossing of the Michigan Central tracks, again proved a dangerous pitfall on Monday afternoon when one of the wagons of the Gary Lumber company was partially demolished and the driver, Thomas Deane, narrowly escaped with his life.

This is the fifth accident that has occurred at the crossing during the last few weeks including the death of one man.

Owing to the fact that there are only two viaducts under the Gary & Western railroad on Broadway and Madison street, these two thoroughfares are handled more than any others in Gary by the south-bound traffic.

Trains Make It Perilous.
The distance of the Michigan Central tracks from the Gary & Western railroad elevation is only forty feet and teams passing under the viaduct are upon the tracks just as they emerge from the grade. This is the reason that makes the crossing so dangerous.

The accident Monday night, which nearly resulted in the death of Thomas Deane, a driver for the Gary Lumber company occurred about 5 o'clock, just as it was getting dark.

Deane was returning to the yards after delivering a load of lumber in the north part of town. He had just emerged from under the Madison street viaduct when a short distance down the track he saw the approach of the fast east-bound Michigan Central passenger train. Deane just turned his horses' heads towards the east, and they becoming frightened, started down the tracks. The rear end of the wagon was thrown against the passenger coaches and Deane was thrown to the ground where the heavy wagon passed over his body. He was picked up a short time afterwards bruised and bleeding and was taken to the home of Charles Allen, the yard master of the Gary Lumber company, who lives nearby.

Deane's condition for a time was thought to be critical but a report from today says that he is much improved and will recover. Laborers from the yards, who stood near while the accident took place, look upon Deane's escape as miraculous.

HAVE TRUNK MYSTERY

Owner Has Been Missing for Long Time—Belongings
Are in Gary.

Gary has a trunk mystery and a call will probably be made upon the local sleuths to take a hand in fathoming it. Last February a man who was employed by the Green Construction company appeared at the Green camp for board and lodging. He was told that he could secure lodging and the next day the man arrived with a fine canvas leather strapped trunk. He boarded at the camp several weeks and then disappeared, leaving the trunk behind. Nothing has been seen or heard of him since, although an effort has been made to locate him.

In April the Green camp was sold to Mrs. A. A. Dolan, who has been in possession of the trunk ever since. The contents of the trunk are unknown to her as it was thought that the man would return at any time and claim his property. The weight of the trunk indicates that it is well filled. Mrs. Dolan has notified Chief Martin of the trunk and was told that she might keep the trunk until the owner came to claim it.

VOTE HERE STILL MOOT QUESTION.

democrats will use it as one of the grounds for their contest before the legislature.

Stokes Jackson said today that he had also learned that in another county a crowd of Italian working on a railroad were voted. He says he is informed that they were not entitled to vote at the election, and this is another matter that will receive special attention during the investigation.

Vote Counting Ends Today.
The tedious work of making an official count of the vote for state officers was expected to end last night, when the canvassers at the office of the secretary of state began counting the last three—State Statistician, Judge of the Superior court and Judge of the Appellate court. These three were already known to be in the republican list, unofficial totals having shown this. The last democrat shown to be elected was Robert J. Ale, for state superintendent of public instruction who defeated McTurnan by a plurality of 762. This gives the democrats only three offices, governor and lieutenant-governor, and superintendent unless the intention to contest every office before the legislature bears fruit.

ARRESTED FOR HORSE STEALING

Young Man Trapped by Police While Driving
Into Gary Livery.

PROBE DEATH OF YOUNG ELECTRICIAN

Coroner and Assistant Work
Three Days on Inquest
of Metz Schneider.

Chester Nooriff, 27 years old, was arrested in Gary early this morning on suspicion of having stolen a horse and buggy. Nooriff appeared at Tom Gormley's livery barn this morning, driving a fine black horse, hitched to a Stanhope buggy, which he at first offered to sell for $150 and finally for $40.

Suspicious of such a bargain, Gormley summoned the police, and Chief Martin and Officer Newman arrived on the scene and placed the man under arrest.

With Nooriff were two other men, Jesse Morris and his brother, John Morris, who told the police that they met Nooriff in South Chicago where he offered to give them a ride, since they were walking from Chicago to Michigan City in quest of work.

The trio rode all night, having lost their way, and arrived in Gary early this morning.

Chief Martin conferred with Captain P. D. O'Brien of the Chicago police force and learned that such an outfit as he had in Gary, was missing from the Skeels livery at 5723 State street, in Chicago; that the horse and buggy had been rented to a man by the name of S. B. Doly and that he had left it standing in front of a place on State street.

Nooriff protests his innocence, saying that he is the rightful owner of the horse.

Whiting, Ind., Nov. 11.—John Vargo of Schrage avenue was arrested yesterday by Constable Kuffner on a warrant sworn out against him by a neighbor, Mrs. John Szubko.

The trouble between the two families has been of long standing. Vargo's daughter, Rosie Vargo, aged 13 years, has been in the habit of calling Mrs. Szubko names. The woman is said to have appealed to the girl's father on several occasions, but as the girl continued the practice the father was arrested on a charge of encouraging delinquency.

He was arraigned before Judge Jones and fined $15.65.

He first refused to pay the sum, but after being confined in jail for a few hours he sent word to his wife to come down and pay the fine.

Hypothetical Question.
"Daddy," said the three-year-old, "what would you do if you loved me just as much as you do and didn't have any children only sister?"

PROBE DEATH OF YOUNG ELECTRICIAN

Coroner and Assistant Work
Three Days on Inquest
of Metz Schneider.

TRYING TO FIX THE BLAME

It is Established That 6,000 Volts
Passed Through Victim's Body.

The inquest on the case of Metz Schneider, the Gary electrician, who had 6,000 volts of electricity pass through his body, causing his death instantly, was finished yesterday afternoon after a long and tedious probe of the case instituted by Coroner Gordon of Hobart, assisted by Dr. T. B. Templin of Gary. There were nearly twenty witnesses who testified in the case for the purpose of trying to establish the responsibility of the man's death.

The only point of importance which was brought out, and which was not generally known heretofore, is that there was no watchman placed at the switch to watch for cars, so that when the pantograph hit the main wire and the switch wire, the current was established in the latter. It was only for an instant that the current shot through the wire, but during that time it happened that the man was grasping the wire and he received the full effect of the shock. The responsibility for the accident seems to rest, according to the evidence, not with the carelessness of watchman who was placed on the job, but to the fact that there was no watchman placed there at all.

The taking of evidence in the case has consumed three days and during that time the coroner has probed the matter to the bottom. The finding of the coroner has not yet been announced. The body of Schneider was shipped last night to Maumee, O., accompanied by the young man's uncle, John Irwin.

ANTI VIVISECTION CONCERT.
New York, Nov. 11.—So numerous were the offers of prominent singers and musicians to contribute their services to the concert under the auspices of the New York Anti Vivisection society tonight, that many of the offers had to be declined with thanks. Everything indicates that the concert will be a great artistic and financial success. Among those who will appear on the program are Mme. Emma Eames, the prima donna, and Albert Spalding, the young American violinist.

SEARCH FOR BODY IS UNAVAILING

Charles Buboltz's Disappearance at Cedar Lake
Not Yet Cleaned Up.

BELIEF OF SUICIDE IS PLENTY

Farmer Said to Have Had Trouble at His Home Early in the Morning.

Crown Point, Ind., Nov. 11.—The search for Charles Buboltz, the Cedar Lake man, whose strange disappearance was told yesterday, still continues, but at this writing no traces of him have been found, and all that the officials who are conducting the search have to go on is the drifting boat containing the farmer's hat, a bottle of whiskey and a board that he probably used for paddling across the lake.

The Boat at North End.
The boat was discovered at the north end of the lake near the Hoffman farm residence, and all day yesterday searching parties have been dragging the lake with hooks and seines dragging the lake where Buboltz is supposed to have taken the boat, to where it was found stranded on the shore. Steamers and boats containing men who worked unceasingly all day yesterday dragging the lake in their efforts to locate the body ceased late last night, meeting with no success.

Will Have to Wait for Body.
The searching parties will probably have to wait until the body comes to the surface, providing that Buboltz met his fate in the manner that lots of his friends supposed he did. The officials claim that there are many strong points to substantiate the suicide theory, as it developed yesterday that the missing man had had trouble at home in the morning, and his unwarranted and unaccountable actions in the afternoon with the subsequent finding of the boat as above described greatly strengthens the facts that the man ended his own life, or else boarded a train and has left the country, although there is nothing that will bear out the last supposition.

Mortal Needs in Small Compass.
There are blocks in New York city that contain all that a mortal needs from the cradle to the grave. Such is the block between Hester and Grand streets and Essex and Norfolk streets, where there is the physician, butcher, baker, clothier, school, preacher, saloonkeeper and undertaker.

Close Quarters.
The following extract from a letter of thanks is cherished by its recipient: "The beautiful clock you sent us came in perfect condition, and is now in the parlor on top of the book shelves, where we hope to see you soon, and your husband also, if he can make it convenient."—Youth's Companion.

AIRLINE FRANCHISE IS STILL PENDING

Gary Town Board Held
Regular Meeting
Yesterday.

RESOLUTION ARE ADOPTED

Washington Street Sewer Assessment
Is Confirmed—Arrangements
Made for Auditing Books.

The Gary town board met for its regular session yesterday afternoon, but nothing of real importance transpired.

J. C. Keator of Aurora, Ill., one of the promoters of the proposed Valparaiso-Gary electric line, was present at the meeting of the board, and said that the company had been delayed on account of some explainable reason in securing the papers necessary for the incorporation of the company, but would have them ready for the meeting of the board next Tuesday.

While the board was in session a telephone message was received from Attorney Chase of Chicago, representing the Gary and Interurban company, asking the board to defer the matter of granting the franchise to the new company until next Tuesday, which would give the two companies time in which to talk over a certain clause in the franchise of the Gary and Interurban company, over which there is some dispute. This is in regard to interpretation of the clause whether it gives other companies the right to run their cars through Gary for two cents per passenger or where they must let off at some terminal points.

Resolutions were adopted confirming the assessment of the Washington street sewer.

The report of the city treasurer and city clerk were read and accepted by the board. An auditing committee will be appointed later on in the year to audit the records of the treasurer and clerk.

There was some talk of changing the meeting day of the board, but on account of there being no agreement reached, the matter was dropped for the time being.
