

Feminine Fads and Fancies

ORNAMENTS FOR HAIR.

Little ornaments of ribbon or embroidery are inexpensive if made at home, and a spare half hour devoted to planning dainty little additions to the coiffure will be amply repaid later on, when the season of dances commences or party attire has to be thought out.

One of the simplest schemes is the ribbon twist. A yard of narrow shot gold or silver gauze, or a broad piece of soft satin ribbon can be made to look charming if threaded in and out of the hair after it is dressed, a gentle pull here and there making a bouffant effect, which has also the advantage of increasing the size of the coiffure.

Greek flets have, however, hardly ever been more in evidence, and, elaborate though they may appear at first sight they are by no means difficult to evolve. Dried gold or silver tissue should form the basis of the ornament, the exact width and length of which should be determined by cutting out a "dummy" flit of cardboard and trying it on when the hair is dressed. To embroider the tissue with paillettes all that is necessary is to sew close rows of paillettes in serried lines to the tissue foundation, either simple outlining being adopted or a lattice-work pattern carried out in the sequins and the centers punctuated with diamond dewdrops or large beads.

PRETTY ORNAMENTS.

The ornaments of braid, satin cord, etc., are legion. Never within memory has there been such a flood of similar trimmings and one can obtain them in any of the modish colors, though black is the prime favorite and is used upon all coiffures. Some of these garnitures are merely bizarre, but many are both handsome and practicable, and though

Any of these pieces or sets would make a most attractive wedding gift.

HATS OF FLEET NET.

Novelty hats that girls wear for theater or other evening affairs where hats are needed are made of printed flit net in different colors, but over a wire foundation. The edge is bound with narrow velvet and the crown is trimmed with an immense scarf and large bow of Dresden ribbon. Such a hat can be made at home, as many have seen, and as the net is wide and does not sell at a high price, the whole cost is not beyond the average purse.

ORIGIN OF VEGETABLES.

In 1582 the potato was introduced into Europe by the Spaniards, who found it in Chili. At almost the same date it was introduced into England by the English, who had found it cultivated by the Indians in North America. The sweet potato and the artichoke are also American vegetables. Salsify is found growing wild over Greece, Italy and Algeria. Turnips and radishes came originally from central Europe. Cabbage, which is of remote origin, is believed to be a European vegetable. Asparagus found its origin in temperate western Asia. Egg plant came to us from India. The carrot grows wild throughout Europe, Asia, Minor, Siberia, China, Abyssinia, northern Africa and the Canary Islands. The tomato comes from Peru, the cucumber from India and the pumpkin from Guinea.

NEWS OF THE THEATERS.

AT THE CALUMET THEATER.

Manager John T. Connors of the Calumet theater, South Chicago, announces as his bill for next week a western drama under the rather unique title of "The Angel and the Ox" and that famous drama of southern life, entitled "At the Old Cross Roads." The former attraction will open its engagement of four days at the South Chicago playhouse at the matinee Sunday, Nov. 22, and the latter comes as a special Thanksgiving Day attraction, commencing its engagement of three days with a special matinee on Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, Nov. 26.

"The Angel and the Ox" is from the pen of John A. Preston, and tells a very interesting story in four acts and seven scenes, each scene true to the slightest detail. The play is laid in and around the ranching country near the little town of Lawton, Okla. Mr. Preston, who spent three summers there, has carefully selected his characters from those who are only to be found in this district. They are real and not exaggerated, as in most plays. The humor is clean and wholesome, strictly moral in theme, and no sweeter or purer story was ever taught at mother's knee. It must be seen to be appreciated. The people in the cast, which is a large one, have been selected with great care, and each is fitted for his or her role.

"At the Old Cross Roads" is one of those popular southern plays that apparently will live forever. The story is well known to all followers of the drama and the play will be presented at South Chicago by a superb cast.

The prices for Thanksgiving Day are as follows:

"THE TRUST BUSTERS" COMING.

A cyclone of fun is blowing this way. It beats any circus. So many of our town theater-goers have done nothing else but talk about its coming. "The Trust Busters" and a big company of jolly people, including a host of handsome maidens, funny comedians, graceful buck-wing dances, up-to-date specialists, bright catchy music, everything clean, clever and refined, three long acts, constant laughter, brimful of jolly frolic, music and original comedy. Two and a half hours of solid humor, everything goes with handsome faces and shapely figures, neatly costumed, will be a surprising feature seen in "The Trust Busters." Fun for the boys, laughter for the girls, bring the children; also grandma and grandpa, let the whole family see "The Trust Busters." It will make your household happy for days after. When you see "The Trust Busters" once you will like it so well you will want to see it over and over again. It has made millions of people laugh. Better inquire about tickets at standing room only is expected on the night of Sunday, Nov. 22, at the Gary theater.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

David Warfield is meeting with great success on his western tour.
David Belasco is preparing a new play for Frances Starr of "Rose of the Rancho" fame.

Agnes and Edgerton Castle are collaborating on a play for Henrietta Crossman, to be brought out this season.

A one-act version of "The Devil" is attracting favorable attention on the vaudeville stage.

Miss Edna E. Burns has been engaged by Charles Frohman to be leading lady for Francis Wilson in "When Knights Were Bold."

Miss Clara Lipman (Mrs. Louis Mann) is to recapture this season in a play written especially for her by Madame Fred de Gresac, author of "Give and Take."

Alfred Sutro now play, "The Builder of Bridges," a story of the London of today, was produced in London early this week for the first time and made a good impression.

George Arliss and Brander Matthews are desirous of budding out as playwrights. The famous "Devil" and Mr. Matthews have collaborated on a play which they call "The End of the Game," which is said to be excellent.

Thomas A. Wise, co-author and co-star of "A Gentleman from Mississippi," has taken on a fresh partnership. He and Walter Hackett, who was with Owen Kildare, the author of "The Regeneration," are to write together a series of one-act plays, for use as "curtain-raiser."

"What Every Woman Knows," the play by J. M. Barrie, will be seen in Berlin, the translation being already under way, before the play, as acted by Miss Maude Adams and her company, reaches New York in its English dress. The exact time of the first performance has not yet been set.

The success of Al H. Wilson in "When Old New York Was Dutch," has brought to the front Sidney E. Ellis, the author of the play. Another one of his plays, "The German Cavalier," has already been accepted by one of the New York managers and is in preparation for its production next season.

Reginald DeKoven and Stanislaus Stange have completed their first joint contribution to vaudeville, under the title of "The Magic Bottle," which was given a trial performance the other day and pronounced a great success. It is understood that the two authors will continue their partnership for some time.

Harry Lauder, the famous Scotch comedian, is said to be getting $100,000 for his present tour of America. William Morris, his manager, pays him, it is understood, not only for every performance, but also for the time he was on the ocean coming and the time he will be on the ocean returning to England.

Hilda Spong will soon appear in a play called "A Man and His Mate," a dramatization by H. I. Durant of his novel of that name. Others already chosen for the cast are Herbert Percy, Mortimer Snow, Frederick Sullivan, Harry Turpin, Elia Payna, Ida Palmer and Mary McCabe. The first performance is to be given next Monday.

Think No Evil.

Let us away with the ignoble and degrading notion that human nature is irredeemably corrupt, and let us put to the test our vaunted belief in the brotherhood of man by a more generous exhibition of love unfeigned, which will make us sincere exemplars of the sweet word from the sacred page: "Love thinketh no evil."—London Welldoer.

LADIES' STRAIGHT TOP CORSET COVER.

This is designed especially for lacing, a ribbon being run through the scallops to fit it around the top. The sleeves are finished with embroidered edging and the waist with beading. Cut in 5 sizes, 32 to 40 bust measure. Size 35 requires 15-8 yds. of flouncing 15 inches wide. Price of pattern 446 is 10 cents. Fill out blank and send to Pattern Dept. of this newspaper.

the prices are often high, an old frock might be furnished into modishness or a simple frock made to have an air of elegance by the use of one of these ready-made garnitures as inexpensively as in any other way.

So much of the effect of these accessories depends upon the beauty of their color schemes, workmanship and designs that one can give but little idea of them. The tiny empire or directoire bolero in one form or another is a favorite with the designers. Some of the garnitures designed for evening frocks are exquisitely embroidered in crystal and gold or pearls and gold and are finished at the bottom by a fringe of similar beads which falls over the scarf girdle of the clinging directoire frock.

TAKING PARIS COSTUME.

A well-known matron noted for her exquisite gowns has just returned from Paris, bringing with her a collection of the most wonderful creations in this line. One of the number is a soft satin-finished crepe in smoky gray-plaid, clinging empire or directoire skirt, short-waisted bodice with trimming of self-color velvet embroidered boldly in self color and dull gold, tucker and sleeves of gray net and gumpie of fine yellowish lace. A long gray velvet coat accompanies the frock and the model is of the directoire redingote character, trimmed in buttons and ornaments of gray satin and soft draperies of the same satin. A note of color is given by a little directoire waistcoat of soft dull rose cloth embroidered in gray with glints of old gold.

To wear with this is a big rose felt hat, low, wide sitting down well on the head, swathed in smoky gray velvet and trimmed with three gray ostrich feathers.

OPEN WORK SILVER.

Very handsome and useful table articles are now shown in the shops in the pierced silver designs. Romekins, mustard pots, salt and peppers, jelly dishes, bouillon cups, violet vases, fern dishes and even egg sets and tumbler tiles, are among the most popular in this attractive open-work silver. Sherbet cups in the deposit silver are very handsome, but too expensive for the moderate purse. Beautiful sherbet cups with plates are to be had in the English crystal glass, and there is a choice between the white and tinted glass.

DRINKING MEN NOT RELIABLE

Employers Want Sober Men.

Competition is too keen and life is too strenuous for an employer to keep men on his payroll whose nerves are unsteady and whose brains are not clear.

Every line of business is beginning to close its doors to drinking men.

Drunkennes is a disease and like most diseases—has its remedy. Orlaine is the reliable treatment and is sold under a positive guarantee to effect a cure or your money will be refunded. Orlaine is in two forms: No. 1, which can be used without the patient's knowledge, in tea, coffee or food; and No. 2, for those who wish to be cured.

The guarantee applies to both forms. Mailed in plain sealed package on receipt of $1.00. Write for free booklet, mailed in plain sealed envelope. The Orlaine Co., Washington, D. C., or The Lion Store Pharmacy, Hammond, Ind.
