ASSAILANT MAKES HIS ESCAPE

Gary Woman, Who Permit-

in the Hope That He Would Marry Her, Brings
Suit for Trespass.

Miss Carrie Marie Brooks, the woman who recently reported to the police that B. E. Linn threatened to commit suicide because of the fact that she refused to deliver to him the deed to her property, has now had the man arrested for trespass, because he refuses to get off her premises when he was asked to do so.

From the story which has been related by Miss Brooks, Mr. Linn has attempted, after winning the affection of the woman, to take her property away from her by numerous threats of physical violence, both to himself and her.

The equity which she claims in the house and lot, which is located on Jefferson street near Sixth avenue, is $800, and he has entered a partition suit in the superior court at Hammond for the purpose of obtaining this amount of money or a right to claim what he said was his share in the property. Miss Brooks says, however, that every cent of the payments on the money which has been made to the owner, Fred Van Rheedem, was made by her and with her money.

Indiana Harbor, Ind., Dec. 9.—The revenge of discharged employee nearly cost the life of Valentine Zinarki last evening, when he was shot by Mike Shear, a fellow Lithuanian, just as he was entering the yard of the Buffington cement plant. Zinarki lives at 3720 Alder street, and is reported in a critical condition, the bullet having passed through his stomach. His asthma is still at large.

Zinarki is foreman of the Buffington switching system, and until Monday evening employed Shear. Due to some trouble, he decided to discharge the latter and yesterday morning told him that his services were no longer required. Shear took his discharge ill-naturedly and declared that he would get even, but Zinarki thought little of the threat at the time.

Last evening, just as he entered the gates of the cement plant fellow workmen of Zinarki were surprised to hear a shot ring out from one side. The next instant Zinarki had fallen a bullet wound in the shoulder, causing a steady flow of blood. This was staunched and he was removed to the office of a local physician. Here the bullet was found after much probing and was taken from his flesh. The wound was a glancing one, leaving a jagged course in the man's side, which may yet prove fatal.

GORDON GETS "DOUGH"

The case brought by Attorney Clyde Hunter of Gary for his client, W. J. Gordon, against James Rogers and a combination of James on a charge of getting his goat in a gambling game several months ago, was settled out of court this morning. Gordon getting $100 and the combination paying the court costs. The men mentioned in the complaint were James Rogers, the owner of the place, J. McCarron, John Hamilton, J. Bishop, J. Mills and J. Sullivan—all "J's." Gordon had claimed in his complaint that the crowd got his marbles for a snug sum of the times they stated.

Lyon's is back. He is here today trying to figure out just what happened to him in New York. He says that when he went to the immigration office in New York and asked for the information the officials agreed to give it to him. He says they prepared from the records a full account of all the foreigners whose names were on his list and who appeared on their books. But he says that more than half of those whose names he had were not on the books of the immigration office, showing, he says, that they made false affidavits when they applied for naturalization papers.

THE JOKE SEEMS TO BE ON PETER J.

Hammond Man Is in Indianapolis Trying to Figure Out What Happened to Him in New York Last October.

SAYS WASHINGTON OFFICIALS TOOK PAPERS

Democratic Candidates Say it Cost Them $500 to Get List of Names on Hammond Books and Send Lyons to New York and Have Puzzle to Solve.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 9.—An interesting situation has arisen in connection with the contest which Edward Simon, democrat, is making to oust Edward Wickey, republican, who defeated him for representative in Lake county. Although Wickey had a plurality over Simon yet Simon is claiming that the result was obtained by fraud. He says several hundred foreigners in Lake county were naturalized just a short time before the election and that many of them were voted who had no right to vote. He charges that hundreds of them gave false information as to their length of residence in this country and that they were not entitled to nationality.

Sent Him to Investigate.

The democratic state candidates who were defeated at the election make the same charge so they and Simon sent Peter J. Lyons, an official of Hammond, to New York city to investigate. Lyons took with him a list of the foreigners who were naturalized and the affidavits they made to ascertain from the immigration records if they from the old country at the times they stated.

Lyon's is back. He is here today trying to figure out just what happened to him in New York. He says that when he went to the immigration office in New York and asked for the information the officials agreed to give it to him. He says they prepared from the records a full account of all the foreigners whose names were on his list and who appeared on their books. But he says that more than half of those whose names he had were not on the books of the immigration office, showing, he says, that they made false affidavits when they applied for naturalization papers.

What Mr. Lyons Said.

But Lyons says that when he asked the immigration officer to furnish him with this information for use in the Simon-Wickey contest he refused. Lyons says the official took all of his papers and said that he would send them to the department of commerce and labor at Washington. But, according to Lyons, the official did not tell him why he would send them to Washington. So Lyons returned home without even the lists of names that he took with him to New York. He made a water haul. Now Simon and the rest of the democratic candidates are trying to get the papers back from the department of commerce and labor, but they have not yet succeeded. As it stands now the joke seems to be on Lyons. The democratic candidates say it cost them $500 to get the list of names and information off the books at Hammond and to send Lyons to New York, and they are wondering how they are going to get their money's worth since the immigration official kept all the papers.

The department of commerce and labor says Lyons did not tell what he wished the information for that he was after in New York, but he says he made it clear to the official at that port. So there you are.

LAKE COUNTY MEN BUILD BRICK YARDS

Gary Granite Brick and Stone Company Capitalized for $75,000.

PLANT WILL COST $50,000

Owing to improved Machinery Only

Fifteen Men Are Needed to Turn
Out 25,000 Brick Daily.

The board of directors of the Gary Granite Brick and Stone company met Monday night in the clubroom of the Gary hotel for the purpose of taking care of the routine business of the company and discussing the progress of the plant which is being constructed at Highlands.

The new brick and stone company is capitalized at $75,000 and $50,000 is being spent on the Highlands plant. Here they expect to have a plan which will turn out twenty-five thousand brick per day. Concrete stone will not be manufactured for several weeks after the brick is being turned out, as the company expects to begin on a small scale and gradually increase the scope of the material which they manufacture, as well as the quantity.

The plant at Highlands will employ about fifteen men. The reason that a plant of this size does not employ more is because of the fact that the modern methods which are being installed in the new equipment are great labor-savers.

Most of the capital of the new concern is from Gary, where John B. Chapman and George Baker are most highly interested. The outside capital is represented mostly by John M. Stinson and M. Rothschild of Hammond, who also attended the directors' meeting Monday night.

HOOSIER OBJECT BECAUSE POSTAL PLUMS LOOK GOOD.

Washington, Dec. 8.—Both of the Indiana senators are receiving many complaints of the recent order blanketing fourth-class postmasters under the civil service. The effect of the order is to make fourth-class postmasters government officials for life or during good behavior. The life tenure is attractive to men who formerly had no aspirations for these offices and pending the taking effect of the order there is more or less of a rush to get into the service.

The complaints come largely from
