(BY THE EDITOR OF THE TIMES.)

Down at classic Crown Point the Simon-Wickey fray is the attrahent for Indiana politicians regardless of party affiliation in these days. Resulting from the democratic attacks—the outgrowth of defeat—the Lake county republican leaders have been reprehensibly denounced and branded up and down the state by the democrats, who have shouted "wolf" so much that they believe their own foul insinuations of republican fraud. The contest never worried the republicans. Their day dawned yesterday. The sun set on it last night, but it dawned again today. The democrats learned that they have bitten off more than they can chew. Facts that bluster and burn came out today. There is a whole scorching shell and shrapnel battery of hot words held in reserve. The black frying pan, which has been hurling abusive epithets at the sooty kettle ever since election, was brought up with a sharp clank at Crown Point yesterday in the alleged election fraud investigation now going on before Justices Fisher and Reiland. Incidentally, Henry Seyfried, the attorney for the defeated democratic state candidates who hope to squeeze into office, put his foot into it. To be more explicit, he put both feet into it. If you ever deftly and unwittingly inserted a piece of hot boiled potato into your mouth at a hurry dinner, when you wanted to catch a train, and you particularly wanted to make someone think it didn't hurt, and wanted to laugh at some bon mot while suffering excruciatingly, then you know how one Seyfried felt.

SURPRISE WAS A TARTAR.

The democratic attorney caught Tartar in United States Deputy Federal Court Clerk McMahon's surprise. Mr. McMahon looks young and innocent, but it would take a number like Seyfried to hurt or intimidate him. In the testimony introduced yesterday and today at the county seat, several little surprises have been unhooked, and Pater Surprise did the stripping. It made Mr. Seyfried squirm and nearly made him blush. "Now, Mr. Surprise," said Seyfried in his most pompous fashion—they were on the question as to who had charge of the foreigners brought into Mr. Surprise's office to be naturalized—"tell us who the 'big fry' were who brought these gangs to be naturalized?" (Of course, Seyfried had reference to the republican leaders, whom he facetiously dubbed "small fry").

Now comes the passionate potato. "Well," said Mr. Surprise, "some of them were Sam Ableman, A. J. Lundquist, Jacob Scholer, Nick Lauer, Judge W. W. McMahon, Bruno Schreiber, E. D. Brandenburg, Arden Dearbyne, Mr. Furey, John L. Rhode and John Kosciar." Note well that the blackfaced names are democrats. "Some of these are democrats?" said Seyfried. "Yes; seven of them," retorted Mr. Surprise, and the republicans in the little courtroom chortled joyously. Mr. Seyfried stated on another tack. Mr. Surprise had made him gasp. He let the fiery potato drop. Some of the democrats had imagined that the United States deputy federal clerk would dodge the examination.

DEPLORED LACK OF MONEY FOR EXPENSE.

In fact, Mr. Seyfried asked the official whether or not he claimed exemption under the federal statute which makes it lawful to refuse to answer a question of it was self-incriminating. Mr. Surprise answered that he had absolutely nothing to fear and would answer all questions. It also developed today that many of the men who brought in foreigners did the interpreting. Some of these were democrats. Seyfried mailed papers to republican headquarters. "I did," answered the official. "I also mailed them to democrats as well."

Then Mr. Surprise shot another Yankee bolt at Mr. Seyfried. He told that Judge McMahon of Hammond said: "I have 400 men in Gary; what sort of a rate can you make?" Mr. Surprise told him that he couldn't make him any rate. The democrats were evidently looking for bargain counter days.

When County Chairman Dick Schaaf was put on the stand, his testimony was hard as nails for the contestants. He swore that he had no intention of voting "illegals" and informed his quizzer that he had been specifically instructed not to get any papers for any man not entitled thereto, and he so guided his lieutenants. Mr. Seyfried didn't want Mr. Schaaf very much.

Some other gingersy testimony is to be brought out today, that made the democrats shift in their seats. The Simon complaint alleges that in the twelfth precinct in Hammond illegal votes were cast. This is the sweet-scented place, where, it has been said, that $500 was spent by the democrats the day before election. This is the place where John Papp got in his work. This is the place where Taft carried the precinct by 100 and the state ticket went 100 democratic. This is the place where the democrats told the foreigners, if you want free beer, vote for Marshall.

DEPUTY CLERK HAD NO FEAR.

Attorney Cromer brought out these facts. He brought out that J. L. Rhode of Hammond had asked Mr. Surprise to "be plenty thanks ready if we get the money." Mr. Surprise declares that Mr. Rhode then pathetically, "Charley, we just haven't got the money or we'd bring them over." This has been the republican claim all along—that the democrats would have voted the foreigners in droves if they had had the money to pay the expenses. In the meantime, some ammunition yet. Attorneys Cromer and J. F. Meeker will do a little bombarding on their own account. The cross-examination of Mr. Surprise has been severe. County Chairman Schaaf and William Hastings were subpoenaed this morning to appear before that commission.

The twin tribunal will sit at Crown Point until 9 o'clock tonight to complete the examination of Mr. Surprise. It is estimated that next week will be completed before the testimony is all in. The contest is attracting great attention all over the county and the state in fact. Much hinges on it. But the democrats are not as jubilant as they were. It doesn't do to cackle before the egg is laid.

LOCATE SLAYER OF KOVAC

Extradition Papers Will Be Asked for Today by Sher- iff Carter to Arrest Anton Zacher, Who Killed Wife's Paramour.

WHITING SCENE OF FOREIGNER'S TRAGEDY

One Day More Than a Year Ago the Husband Came Home and Found an Affinity Seeker in His Home— He Shot Him Immediately Upon Sight.

Chief of Police Lawler of Whiting and Sheriff F. S. Carter went to Indianapolis this morning, where they will get out extradition papers for Anton Zacher, who murdered Steve Kovoc of Whiting Oct. 26, 1907. Zacher has been located in a town in Ohio, near Toledo, and the local officers are confident of effecting his capture.

The murder, which occurred in Whiting a year and a half ago, was the result of a love affair in which two men and one woman figured. Steve Kovoc was in love with Anton Zacher's wife. For a time he boarded at the Zacher residence, but finally Steve Zacher became aware of the fact that Kovoc was trying to win his wife away from him and he ordered him out of the house.

One day when Zacher came home unexpectedly he discovered that Kovoc was in the house with his wife. He promptly shot him dead and made his escape. The police made an effort to locate the murderer, but were not able to do so.

After the murder the wife of Anton Zacher created a serio-comic scene when she went to the undertaking establishment in Whiting where her sweetheart's body lay and wept hysterically. When some one asked her why she wept so over the death of one who was not her husband she said that she had lost both her husband and her lover. Her lover had been shot and her husband had been forced to flee for his life.

Just recently Chief of Police Lawler of Whiting learned the whereabouts of the murderer and he communicated with Sheriff F. S. Carter regarding the matter. Today the two went to Indianapolis for the purpose of securing the requisition papers and if the law takes its course it is possible that both Mrs. Zacher's lover and her husband will be permanently removed from here as a result of her actions.

DOCTOR DRILLS FOR OIL

Chicago Man Has Faith in Project Now Being Car- ried on in Cady Marsh.

The people of the southern part of North and Calumet townships are very much interested in the fact that Dr. Brown of Chicago is again drilling for oil in the Cady marsh near Maynard. Dr. Brown has great faith in the work he is carrying on and believes that he will strike oil if he goes down far enough. It is said that his drillers have already gone down 900 feet in the effort to strike oil.

Several years ago Dr. Brown hired some drillers to make an effort to find oil in the vicinity of the Cady marsh. After they had done a certain amount of work they suddenly abandoned the job and disappeared in a mysterious manner leaving $400 in money which was coming to them.

This story has been told again and again and it has always been suspected that some one who was interested in keeping down the production of oil had bought off the drilling crew.

The doctor has begun drilling again and he thinks he will strike oil in the near future. The whole neighborhood is interested in the venture.

Joe Coneya Re-Arrested.

Joe Coneya, who was arrested some time ago and fined $25 and costs for assaulting his employer, paid his fine and was again arrested on a surety of peace charge. The case came up in Judge Prest's court and Coneya was dismissed.

LAST DAY FOR CHARTER MEMBERS

Old Masonic Temple to Be Converted Into Ath- letic Quarters.

The members of the Hammond Athletic club last evening decided to rent the entire third of the Old Masonic temple, owned by Dr. Clark, and will convert it into the finest club rooms in the city.

This action is probably the most important that has taken place since the club was organized and makes it possible for the members to go on with the organization of the various departments of club activity.

The lease will be arranged with the doctor in the near future and the quarters will be occupied by the club as soon as possible. The committee, which was appointed to buy furniture, will go ahead and make its purchases, and it will not be long before the club members will be in a position to hold a stag in their own quarters.

Today is the last day for the admission of charter members at the rate of $3 "per" and after today those who become members will have to pay $5 for the privilege.

Will Make Improvements.

Dr. Clark has promised to make certain improvements in the near future, which will add greatly to the advantage of the new quarters and as soon as possible the entire third floor will be turned over to the club members.

At the recent time there are several secret orders, including the Modern Woodmen, the Owls and several others, which are occupying one of the halls and their leases will be turned over to the Hammond Athletic club.

The respects of the new organization were never brighter and with a rapid increase in membership it is expected that the club will become one of the largest and most influential in the city.

THIRTY THIRDS VISIT THE HAMMOND MASONS.

Temple Degree Work Brings Out a Large Crowd to Masonic Temple.

John Swalle and "Ella" Ellis, two thirty-third degree Masons, were out from Chicago last night to witness the work in the Hammond commandary, where the Temple degree was conferred upon a class last evening. The two Chicago men have many friends in Hammond and the event of last evening proved to be a pleasant reunion for the visitors from Chicago and the Hammond Masons.

The Temple degree work brought out a good attendance of the Hammond commandary and a good program was carried out.

The commandary holds an election of officers next Monday evening.

SUES RAILROAD FOR DAMAGES.

Thomas Johnson is suing the Chicago, Cincinnati and Louisville railroad for $199 damages which he claims was done his farm and crops when the railroad went through his dug post-holes. He claims that the railroad men had thrown the dirt on his fields and destroyed the crops for a distance of several acres on each side of the right-of-way.

BRUCE IS CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS

Hammond Lawyer Believes He Is About to Secure the Release of Murderer Who Was Sent Up for Life From Lake County.

Attorney Milo Bruce, who has been so persistent in his efforts to secure the release of Constantine Stathacopoulos, who killed Demetrios Kockiampos, by stabbing him in the breast two years ago, thinks that he is about to secure the release of the prisoner.

Attorney Bruce claims that the stabling was done in self-defense. Prosecuting Attorney D. E. Boone secured the conviction of Stathacopoulos on the charge of murder in the first degree. He was sentenced to be hanged, but was later reviewed and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Mr. Bruce now thinks that he can secure the release of the prisoner. He is securing the signature of practically all of the jurors who tried the case to a petition to the pardon board asking that the prisoner be pardoned.

It is said that Prosecuting Attorney D. E. Boone will also agree to the pardoning of the prisoner on the grounds that there was considerable provocation for the assault.

Up to Board of Pardon.

The matter will be taken before the board of pardons after the holidays and with the assistance he has secured Mr. Bruce confidently expects to secure the release of his client.

Mr. Bruce has made several other attempts to secure the release of Stathacopoulos, but has not been entirely successful. He has stuck by his man religiously, however, and he soon expects to be rewarded by seeing him released.

It is said that the fight was precipitated while the two men were working together in the Gibson railroad yards near here. They were both wheeling lumber and Kockiampos persisted in dumping over Stathacopoulos' wheelbarrow.

This interference led to a fight and in the melee Kockiampos was fatally stabbed with a small knife.

LIBRARY LECTURE COURSE ASSURED

First Evening Has Been Set for Wednesday, Jan. Sixth.

The library lecture course, mention of which was made in THE TIMES yesterday, is assured, final arrangements and plans having been made at the library trustees' meeting yesterday afternoon. A committee was appointed to furnish the assembly hall on the second floor of the building with the necessary chairs and tables and the first lecture arranged for the first Wednesday evening in January, which will be on the 6th. After that date they will be weekly feature, coming regularly on a Wednesday evening. The program for the first two months has been practically arranged and contains and includes a musical which will be given on the first Wednesday night of February. Mrs. Joseph Isach will be in charge of the musical, which also will be a regular event throughout the year.

While the committee, consisting of Dr. Howatt, Rev. C. A. Smith and Mrs. Mary Holm, already have assurances from the leading professional and business men of Hammond that they would dedicate an evening to the cause, the speaker for the evening is still in doubt. A number of the lecturers have several subjects which they can discuss with equal authority.

It is probable that in the course of time an organization will be formed under whose auspices these lectures will be given. For the present the committee, however, will be in charge.

Business Men Are Awake.

The library lecture course, after being announced through the press last night, has caused quite a stir in that circle which has the welfare of Hammond at heart, and the indications are that it will be well received. It was surprising to some that some of the business and manufacturing men took up the matter so readily. This is said to be the surest sign that the project has struck a right chord and that it will get away from the pedanticness to which people go just because they "belong."

One man, who is very enthusiastic about the course, said:
"I am glad to see the business men come to the front in this matter in the way they are. The course would have been very good with just professional men on the lecture platform, but who is there to say that with the business men added to it that it will not be better. I venture to say that they will add about as much snap and ginger as any class of men could add."

ICE COMPANY MUST PAY THE $9,000

George Gray of Hammond Again Wins His Suit Against K. I. Co.

The supreme court of Indiana has denied a rehearing in the case of the Knickerbocker Ice company vs. George Gray, which was tried twice before Judge H. B. Tuthill in this city. Gray was given a verdict at the second trial in the amount of $9,000 and it is now up to the ice company to pay over the money.

Gray was injured at Hammond several years ago, he having lost his arm in machinery at the Knickerbocker ice plant. He brought suit, which finally reached this city. The first jury gave the plaintiff $8,000 damages and the company appealed to the appellate court of Indiana. That court reversed the case and sent it back for retrial. The second jury increased the amount of the damages $1,000 and the company again appealed to the appellate court, which transferred the case to the supreme court. On April 9, 1908, the supreme court affirmed Judge Tuthill and the ice company then asked for a rehearing, which was yesterday denied. Thus the company has exhausted all its means in its efforts to win the case.

ANNUAL JEWISH HOLIDAY

Will Commence Sunday, De- cember 20, and Continue For Eight Days.

The opening day of the annual festival among the Jewish people will this year come on Sunday, Dec. 20, and continue eight days. Rabbi Victor Caro of Milwaukee says that in honor of the brilliant victory, which the heroic Maccabees with their God-inspired champions, achieved over an inveterate foe, who tried to force upon the Jewish religion, and to force upon the Jews his idolatry and worship, the Jews every year light the menorah, or a certain number of candles and each day add one candle until the end of the festival, which lasts eight days, is reached. The lighting of the candles is to strengthen the sect in the belief that, however, dark and gloomy their hopes and prospects appear, still in the hour of the deepest grief and affliction, light is coming from above.

The inquest has not been definitely set as the coroner must first get the train crew together. The deceased, who was a carpenter, leaves a wife and four children, who live at 78 State street.

SEYMOUR AND M'GRAW IN FIGHT; SI-QUITS TEAM.

New York, Dec. 15.—J. Bentley Seymour, better known as "SI," has played his last game with the Giants. The past season there was bad blood between Seymour and Mike Dornin, but the climax came recently when Seymour and McGraw had an altercation in a billiard room in which blows were struck. Roger Bresnahan, the new manager of the St. Louis team, is anxious to secure "SI" for the Cardinals as well as Dummy Taylor and Joe McGinnity.

CAR RUNS AMUCK AND IS DAMAGED

Sensational Flight of Gary Interurban Car Contain- ing Two Passengers from East Chicago Substation, This Morning.

MUCH DAMAGE IS DONE BY RUNAWAY

Passengers Were Two Foreigners Who Escaped Uninjured and Stolidly Pursued the Even Tenor of Their Way to East Chicago After Climbing Out of Wreckage.

One of the large and powerful cars, No. 10, on the Chicago, Lake Shore & South Bend line, ran away from its motorman and conductor at the substation at East Chicago, this morning, and with two passengers in it, who did not know that the car was not properly manned, the brightly lighted coach rushed through the early morning darkness like a phantom car and finally ran off the end of the uncompleted track at the intersection of Gostlin street and the state line and turned over. A collision with a H. W. & E. C. car was narrowly averted. No one was injured. It was a strange sight that was witnessed by the few people who happened to be on Calumet avenue or on Hohman street near here the interurban line intersects.

NO CONDUCTOR ON CAR.

There was no car approach at all. There was no whistle of warning. A glance at the front of the car showed that there was no motorman in charge. Another glance at the car revealed two passengers who seemed blissfully ignorant of the fact that they were possibly riding to their death. The car was also without a conductor.

Two lone passengers on a runaway car riding blissfully to their fate, was a spectacle in real life that would have been the envy of Lincoln J. Carter and others of the writers of lurid melodramas.

The car passed Calumet avenue like a shot. It was nothing but a streak of light in the early morning darkness when it crossed Hohman street. It swung around the curve at this point and speeded on towards the end of the line, half a mile away.

PASSENGERS DIDN'T CARE.

The two passengers made no effort to leave their seats. They did not realize that they had reached and passed their destination. In another minute the car had reached and passed the point where the Chicago, Lake Shore & South Bend, the Chicago Junction rail-

Runaway Horse Found.
