SOLONS ARE AT THE CAPITOL

"Get Together Day" for the Democratic Members of Legislature Brings Out all the New Timber, and the Senatorial Candidates.

FEW PLEDGES OF SUPPORT ARE OUT

Sentiment Seems To Be Unanimous to Repeal the County Local Option Bill—Ellis Searles, Times' Correspondent, Says: "Watch Kuhn's Smoke for Governor."

(Special to THE TIMES.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 15.—It looks like about all the democratic members of the legislature will be able to do today at their "get together" meeting will be to get acquainted. It is a cinch that they will not get together on anything except a plan to repeal the county local option law. Thus far none of the democrats has come out in opposition to such a plan, and it is believed that none of them will do so unless it be Representative Sicks of Boone county.

There are more democratic statesmen to the square inch in Indianapolis today than there has been for a long time. In fact, statesmen are everywhere. They are all statesmen.

According to the call for the meeting the legislators were to consider any and all matters that might come before them relating to the action of the party during the session that opens next month. This, of course, is broad.

Senator Steve Fleming of Fort Wayne blew in yesterday afternoon and has been the busiest man in the crowd ever since his arrival. Fleming has engaged rooms at the Denison during the session of the legislature. This has caused some comment, because the Denison is Taggart's hotel and everybody knows that Taggart and Fleming have been at outs for several years. But the fact that Fleming will live at the Denison need not arouse any suspicion. There is no peace between them as far as is known now.

Nothing Hotted of Conn. Representative John S. Sweeney of Tell City was one of the early arrivals for the conference, and he made it known at once that he intended to do all in his power to bring about a repeal of the county option law. He says he will introduce a bill for that purpose early in the session and he claims it will pass.

John B. Stoll of South Bend is here with Shively and he is doing some late routing for him. He says he hopes to see Shively elected senator and he believes he has a good chance.

But nothing is heard of C. G. Conn of Elkhart, who had a boom for a few minutes one day a couple of weeks ago. There was a symptom at that time that Conn had decided to get into the fight and try to land the place, and this prospect proved pleasant for the grafters who always hang around a candidate that has money. A good many people rather expected Conn to show up at this meeting and look the ground over, but he did not show up, and this is taken to mean that he will not be a candidate.

Kuhn for Governor.

T. N. Kuhn of Richmond, who came so near to being elected to congress from the Sixth district that he scared the republicans, is here circulating among the legislators and distributing his smile. But he says he is not a candidate for senator. There was talk some time ago that he might stand where the lightning could find him, but he says it was a false alarm and that he is not after the job. He is merely mixing around among the boys getting better acquainted. And there are some who say that in refusing to get into the race for senator he has paved the way that leads toward the nomination for governor in four years. And why not? Take this from me: If L. Ert Slack is defeated for United States senator this year the fight for the democratic nomination for governor in 1912 will be between Slack and Kuhn. Things are shaping up that way. It is in the air.

Busy Day at Capitol.

The fact is that this is about the busiest day there has been in Indianapolis for some time, as far as meetings and conventions are concerned. The democratic legislators are here, and so is the Democratic Editorial association. And the majority of the states are here framing up a bill they will ask the legislature to pass permitting them to be re-elected. The county auditors and the county clerks are holding a meeting. The State Farmers' congress is in session mapping out a legislative campaign of its own. And there are several other things going on that are not political.

The democratic legislators will close conference tonight with a banquet at enough to cover a wide variety of subjects, among them being the speaker-ship, the senatorship, the question of floor leadership and legislation on many subjects. But the one overshadowing topic that is taking up the time of the legislators at this meeting is the senatorship. And they seem to be about as far away from any definite settlement of the question as they ever have been.

Few Pledges Are Out.

One of the developments of this meeting that has surprised some of the democrats is the fact that there are very few pledges on among the legislators on the senatorship. At least that is what they are all saying. Each district in which there is a candidate for United States senator ought, of course, to stand pat for its man and in some cases this will be done, but not in all. For instance, there are only four democratic members of the legislature from the First district, in which Major G. V. Menzies lives, and it is believed that Menzies will get only three of them. The other man said last night that he is for Kern and that he will vote for him if he can find a way to do it. And generally when a man wants to vote a certain way he generally finds some means of doing it.

But when the break-up comes and the final ballot is taken it is believed that the vote of the First district, with this one exception, will go to Slack, as is popular in the First.

John E. Lamb of Terre Haute is believed will come in with a divided delegation from his district, the Fifth. Kern will get a few votes in the Fifth and will get more on the break-up, though Slack will get a few.

Working for Shively.

The Fourth is not solid for Slack, either, for Judge Joseph H. Shea of Seymour, although not a member of the legislature, is working hard for H. F. Shively of South Bend and he said last evening that he will get some votes for Shively in the Fourth. If true, will be a sad blow to Slack, who has all along figured on a solid delegation from his district.

Kern may or may not get the Seventh solid. Slack claims one or two in this district, but it is doubtful if he gets them.

Edward G. Hoffman of Fort Wayne and B. F. Shively of South Bend are the only two candidates who appear at this time to be able to carry the solid vote of their districts. It has cropped out today that Hoffman will get all the democratic votes in the Twelfth and that Shively will do the same in the Thirteenth, but this does not indicate by any means that either of these men has a chance of election.

Candidates on the Ground.

All of the senatorial candidates are here for the big "do-ins." They have rooms at the Denison hotel. Tom Taggart's house, and it is here that the meeting is being held. The candidates are circulating among the members, and holding them right and left in the effort to get votes. But the members are making few pledges. This is worrying some of the candidates, for it makes it look like an independent vote when the time comes to make a selection.

Senator Steve Fleming of Fort Wayne blew in yesterday afternoon and has been the busiest man in the crowd ever since his arrival. Fleming has engaged rooms at the Denison during the session of the legislature. LOOKING ON THE SUNNY SIDE OF LIFE

A Narrow Escape.

The disputes which old "Square" Bemis was called upon to settle were many and various. He asked no fee. "All I require is that you'll abide by what I say or you don't ever come to me again," he told his Bushy clients.

"You've helped me out a good many times, Square," said Ephraim Grege, on one occasion, "and I look to you to do it now. Bill Henderson's colt broke loose and got into my garden yesterday, and what he's done, he's done up. I should say 'twould just take about four dollars to cover. Can you get it out of Bill, then?"

"That was a bird!" ejaculated the Englishman's host after the excitement had subsided.

A moment later a foul tip sent the ball flying back into the grand stand. "And what do you call that?" queried the Englishman.

"That is a foul," said his host. "Ah," returned the Englishman, "a foul, eh? Well, it seems to me that the language of baseball is most extraordinary. A foul is a bird and a bird is a foul, and yet you use those terms to describe two plays that seem to me to be diametrically opposed to each other. Do you call that logical?"

"Yes," said the American, "Ornithological."

The Englishman is still trying to think it out.—Harper's Weekly.

Christmas Crackers.

Do "plants" for making pretty gifts grow up to Christmas trees? And "trees" for making pretty gifts sent by salt sons of the seas?

Are Yule logs cut from snowdriftwood by Yuletide washed ashore? And could you stub a mistletoe against a parlor door?

Kindness.

Kindness is contagious. The spirit of harmony trickles down by a thousand secret channels into the inmost recesses of the household life. It is hard to be angry in the presence of imperturbable good nature. It is well nigh impossible to be morose in the face of cheerful and generous helpfulness.—Henry Van Dyke.
