The board of trustees were at Chicago Saturday examining some fire-fighting apparatus. At this evening's meeting most probably the necessary action to purchase same will be taken.

Tolleston will then organize a volunteer fire department. "Who is going to join?" The marshal is chief by virtue of his office. Ordinance No. 1 of the town records creating the office of town marshal also adds to his duty that of street commissioner and chief of the fire department.

Another step forward. That's right, fellow citizens, keep pace with the times. Always boom the town; do the best you can and don't worry.

"What have you got to say now, 'Rube' in Gary?" "Are you hearing something still regarding the progress of our town?" "Let us hear it, too."

ENGLEWOOD OFF FOR DENVER.

Victorious Chicago Eleven Leaves Butte to Visit Other Battlefields.

Butte, Mont., Dec. 21.—Englewood's victorious football eleven left here yesterday morning for Denver, where it is to meet the Longmont high school on Christmas day. The Chicago boys have taken the Butte people by storm, and there is nothing but praise for the team which downed the northwest champions here on Saturday.

The purple and white warriors will stop twelve hours at the Custer battlefield and will go over the entire ground where that great fight took place. At noon today the special car will be picked up again and the boys are due to land in Denver at noon on Tuesday.

With the exception of the entire squad is confident of winning from the champions of the Rockies on Christmas day. It is probable that Joe Pliska will not be in the line-up on account of his fractured nose, and if so, Captain Stelt will go in at half and Castagnio will take Stelt's place at quarter. Whether this will hurt the team's chances is a question.

Letters have been mailed to Professor Bowline, faculty representative of the Englewood squad, by the majority of the city officials and the leading business men complimenting the boys on their wonderful showing, while special attention is given to the gentlemanly conduct of the team while in Butte. The paid admissions to the game were 4,069.

LANGFORD CHOICE OVER FLYNN.

Const. Boxing Fans Wonder How Long Fireman Will Last.

San Francisco, Dec. 21.—Sam Langford rules a 2 to 10 favorite over Jim Flynn in the betting on their twenty-round battle which will be staged to night before the Washington A. C. Eight critics who have studied the form of both men in their training predict a slashing contest, fraught with tremendous slugging, but the heavy end of the action is made up of a probable number of rounds the fighting fireman will stand before the Boston whirlwind.

Flynn will have an advantage of fourteen pounds in the scaling, is almost four inches taller than his chunky opponent and in past contests has displayed wonderful ability to assimilate punishment. Langford, on the other hand, is credited with a fair amount of cleverness, but is known particularly as a terrific two-handed hitter capable of putting an opponent away with a single short-arm wallop.

Although the bout will be fought at catchweights involving no title, Langford expects to show the proper degree of form to merit an early match with Stanley Ketchel. The middle-weight champion has repeatedly turned down offers to meet Langford, but it is thought popular sentiment will force the Grand Rapids wonder into tackling Langford if the latter makes good his boast to dispose of Flynn within ten rounds.

Monte Attell and Jimmy Walsh will furnish the semi-windup. Both are clever, willing boxers with tolerable hitting powers and should set a merry pace.

THE BETTER WAY.

Chasing rainbows is thought to be a futile pursuit, but, after all, the fellow who will walk five or six miles a day in the open of this country, trying to locate the end of this arc of promise, will win large dividends in health.

Judge.

CORBETT MATCHED AGAIN WITH BROCK

Fighters to Meet in Second Bout at New Orleans Next Month.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 21.—Young Corbett and Phil Brock will meet again in a twenty-five round fight before the West Side Athletic club Jan. 14.

Before their match here a week ago Corbett was thought a suspect for the comic section, but when he fought Brock to a standstill he put one over on the old town. He said he knew everybody was laughing, but he knew he had a surprise in store.

The announcement that the fight would be held at the West Side Athletic club instead of the Southern Athletic club is interesting, as ten rounds are the limit at the city clubs.

The Corbett-Packey McFarland bout will follow.

SPLIT BETWEEN HARVARD AND THE NAVY PROBABLE.

Annapolis, Md., Dec. 21.—The close athletic relations which for several years past have existed between Harvard and the Naval Academy have been brought almost completely to an end by the fact that the Crimson baseball squad will not practice on the academy grounds this spring, as it has done for years, nor will the crew row here. It is not certain that a lacrosse team will be sent from Cambridge this spring or a football eleven next fall. The presence of the Harvard representatives has been the big attraction of the local season for the several sports. It has often been suggested that President Roosevelt's influence was behind the close relations of the two institutions.

LA BLANCHE WILL TURN TEMPERANCE LECTURER.

Fitchburg, Mass., Dec. 21.—George La Blanche, known as "The Marine," who defeated Jack Dempsey and had a great fight record in his prime, was arrested here for drunkenness yesterday. He had only 7 cents in his clothes. Once worth a fortune, La Blanche lays his head down to sleep. He declares he will swear off and go on the platform as a temperance speaker and out-do John L. Sullivan in his knocks on "booze."

After his arraignment in court La Blanche collapsed and asked for a physician, who said the former fighter's condition was serious and ordered him taken to the Burbank hospital.

SCHAEFER COMING BACK INTO THE BILLIARD FOLD.

"Wizard" Is Regaining His Health and Will Challenge Winner of Sutton-Slosson.

Jake Schaefer, for over thirty years the star of the billiard world, but at present trying to regain his health in Colorado, wired to Thomas Foley yesterday that he would challenge the winner of the coming match between Sutton and Slosson for the world's championship at 18.1.

M'GINNITY MAY MANAGE CLUB.

McGraw Would Place Giants' "Iron Man" in Charge of Some Team.

New York, Dec. 21.—John J. McGraw is anxious to place Joe McGinnity with some club as a manager. "He will make a good man for the position," said McGraw. "I am certain of it because I have watched him closely for a great many years and know his good points better than most do."

That means that the "Iron Man" will not be a pitcher for the New York club next summer.

"I did think that I would try to obtain another pitcher," said McGraw, as he noted on writing, "and the names of pitchers who are eligible for the Giants next summer."

The manager of the Giants intimated very broadly that changes will be seen in the outfield in 1909. Between the time of the beginning of spring training and the beginning of the National league season the New York club will put about twenty players with other leagues.
