The body of William Littlejohn, the colored man, drowned in Cedar Lake Monday afternoon, was shipped to Chicago for interment from the Geisen undertaking establishment this morning. A brother of the dead man arrived to claim the remains last evening and he will be buried under the auspices of the K. of P. lodge, of which he was

One on the Saloonman.

A good story is being told on a certain Whiting saloonkeeper, who was one of the fortunate ones to procure a license at the commissioners' court during the present session. The applicant in question was of Jewish descent and showed all the elation and exuberance of his countrymen at his good fortune in procuring the necessary papers. Going into a local store, the man in question called up his bartender in the Oil City and in his native tongue gave him directions and instructions for the house warming which was to be given his customers on his arrival. After instructing his drink dispenser how to prepare the beer, etc., he wound up with: "An' I say—'em all dat I got de lisenze; an' say—shust run down inter der zeller an' fill der viskey bottles haf ful von water."

Five applicants for saloon licenses fell under the ban of the county commissioners yesterday, and had their application refused. Two from Cedar Lake, Russell and Irons, and Stevens from Lowell, were refused for certain violations of the law. Two Whiting saloonkeepers were also put on the rejected list. Nearly all those who were successful in their attempt to secure the necessary papers, were given a good, fatherly talk at the hands of Attorney Matthews, who repeatedly warned them against further violations of the law.

The Crown Point baseball team will go to Hobart next Sunday to play a return game with the Hobart nine.

whom they defeated two weeks ago at their grounds here. A number of the loyal supporters will accompany the team and help carry back the victory. All bets point that way at present.

The town board met for their regular monthly meeting on Monday evening and transacted their regular routine of business. No important measures were presented and the allowing of bills and paving matters occupied the board's attention until adjournment.
