Feathered Finery.

It would be rather refreshing to see a hat without a feather, so invariably has this ornament become, usually sticking out at an angle which seriously incommodates one's neighbor. It is amusing in its way so it is in a motor bus or in street cars, and watch the countenances of those who find a feather sweeping one side of their face, tickling their ear, and sometimes invading their eyes. According to character, the sufferer shows annoyance or hides it.

Why is it that women, who are supposed to be by nature gentle and inoffensive, should have developed during the last few years such opposite characteristics? Think of this obtrusive feather. At the opera it has become a perfect nuisance.

New Materials.

One of the newest and most delightful materials is made of mercerized cotton, which in the distance has the appearance of a patterned velvet. It is women somewhat after the style of a carpet with an open square mesh, either large or small, the large one being the most effective. An indefinite all over pattern is then printed on it. The colorings are very beautiful in this material. One may have blue or dark blue in it blue, pink, green and mauve on a white background, reminding one of the Paisley designs. Another has an orange-pink pattern outlined in black on a white background.

The fabric is to be much used for cuffs, collars and vests of the new spring suit. It is most attractive, lighting up the otherwise sombre costumes and giving them the touch of smartness required.

The Care of Colds.

Can cold sores be cured? Certainly they can. It all depends upon yourself. If you use unwise methods they will spread until your entire lip becomes fearfully swollen, whereas if you employ some common sense treatment you may confidently expect good results.

Are you curious to know what is considered common sense treatment? Yes? Then be curious no longer.

Be it known that cold sores always indicate some disorder of the stomach, so while treating them locally it is a wise idea to look after the general health. Be careful to chew your food well and see that it is prepared plainly. A quart and a half to two quarts of fresh, cool water should be taken during the day, as this flushes out the stomach, which is what it needs.

Now let us discuss external remedies for cold sores, as if let unmolested they will eat into the flesh, causing very noticeable scars.

A cold sore treatment which is simplicity itself is as follows:—Wet the unsightly blister with liquid camphor, then buff or sublimate of bismuth. In this way the sore is protected by a paste. After applying the healing paste the sore must be left to shed its scab. Disregard this precaution and you will bid fair to be a cold sore girl for ever and aye.

C. A. Taylor is Much Honored

One of the finest compliments ever paid a railroad man in this region, consisted in a farewell banquet, given last Saturday night at the Hammond Chamber of Commerce rooms, in honor of Charles A. Taylor, who resigned as local agent for the Indiana Harbor Belt to take a position in Winnipeg, Manitoba, as local agent for the Canadian Pacific. He is succeeded in the Indiana Harbor Belt office by H. A. McConnell, a veteran and popular railroad man in the Calumet region.

The affair of last Saturday night was delightfully informal. Officials and department heads of the Indiana Harbor Belt and the men and young women working under Mr. Taylor and his family had gathered for the occasion. Covers were laid for 100, the ladies of the Christian church having done the serving.

E. D. Mann, head of the car service department, presided as toastmaster, and among those he called on for short addresses were George Hannauer, general manager of the Belt; W. E. Osborn, auditor; J. W. Smith, assistant superintendent; Otto Gerbach, superintendent of maintenance of way; H. A. McConnell local agent; W. J. Myers, chief clerk; O. B. Lloyd, assistant general yardmaster; R. M. Burwell, trainmaster, and department heads in the local office among them Frank Hallett, Bert Anderson, M. Eversoll Ray Kergel, Ora Taylor, William Young, Miss Minnie Turner and Arthur Lawrence.

Gold Watch as Present. All were unanimous in expressing their regret at Mr. Taylor's leaving. Mr. Hannauer gave the credit for the splendid office system to Mr. Taylor, and on behalf of the office force presented the guest of honor with an elegant gold watch and a fob to match.

Mr. Taylor responded in well chosen words and dwelled with pleasure on the co-operation that he had had from his force and his superiors.

After the many speakers had finished roasting and toasting Mr. Taylor, the tables were cleared away and another two hours were spent in informal dancing.

Mr. Taylor left for Winnipeg last night, although his family will remain in Hammond until the close of school. In his new position Mr. Taylor will have in the neighborhood of 300 clerks under him. He accepted the Canadian position at the solicitation of J. M. Woodman, formerly of Hammond, who is now with the Canadian Pacific. Mr. Taylor has been with the Indiana Harbor Belt for about four years, having formerly been with the C. J. Railroad, chief clerk; O. B. Lloyd, assistant general yardmaster; R. M. Burwell, trainmaster, and department heads in the local office among them Frank Hallett,

CLUB WOMEN GATHER IN HAMMOND FOR DISTRICT MEETING

The reciprocity meeting of the Hammond Woman's club, held Saturday afternoon, March 29th, at the Chamber of Commerce was enjoyed by sixty-seven out-of-town guests, representing most of the Women's Clubs of the district. Mrs. Walker of the Gary Musical club opened the program with a solo very skillfully rendered after which Mrs. J. M. Turner of Hammond and vice president of the District Federation, welcomed the guests in her usual versatile way. Mrs. Frank Ross of Kentland, president of the District Federation, spoke more particularly of the federation work showing the present need of a county federation in order that the work of the clubs in the industrial part of the district may unite for better service, since the needs here are very different from those of the rural towns in the other and distant points of the district. She spoke of some of the legislation and civic movements already inaugurated, and showed that much more could be accomplished by a closer union. Mrs. E. Fifeid, president of the Forthright club of Whiting, told of the work they had accomplished under much difficulty and the benefit derived from their study in history, literature, travel and philanthropy. They have large plans for the future, and much enthusiasm and hope to be an active agent in the uplift of a needy community.

Mrs. Robinson, accompanied by Mrs. Harrison, sang in a charming manner, after which Mrs. Meade of East Chicago Woman's club spoke of the progress made by the union of the musical and literary clubs into a strong departmental club with 100 members carrying work in the departments of music, history, home economics and civics, hoping thereby to become a positive power in moral uplift of the city.
