MORNING AT CAMP

Trail-la-lai! What? First call so soon? Wonder who woke Camp Bugler Wedge up? I've got just five minutes to dress and get in line for breakfast! Better hurry! One, two, three, there goes the blanket! Say boys, it's cool!

Only a bathing suit on a morning like this? Gee it makes a fellow step lively. Lots of pep, that's us. Well, we get warm with the lively setting-up exercises, anyway. Then everybody lines up along the beach and somebody counts "One, Two, Three!" and we sprint in, and forty splashes tell of so many boys under. Better go clear under or it's two hours at the pump for you!

Run up to the tents and dress for breakfast. Smell the bacon or eggs, or biscuits, or coffee, or whatever it is! That Otto is some cook. Twenty-five years on the sea don't spoil him a bit.

There's mess call. Come and get it! First in line, first served. Oh, no, don't hurry at all! Well, we've never failed to have seconds yet, so never mind.

Last! Can't think a thing. Why? See this plate of grub. This is no time to think.

FOREIGN RELATION MEN VISIT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14—The senate foreign relations committee this afternoon decided unanimously to accept President Wilson's invitation to visit the White House to discuss with him the treaty of Versailles.

It was stipulated, however, that the president should be informed by Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, chairman of the committee, that any information the president might impart to the committee was not to be regarded as confidential.

The president was to be told that anything he might tell the committee as to what transpired at Paris and Versailles they would be at liberty to discuss or reveal later.

The committee also decided to resume its open hearings, although a proposal that Col. House, General Bliss and Henry White, as members of the American peace committee, be summoned to testify at the hearings, was voted down as a result of Senators Harding of Ohio and McChamber of North Dakota, Repub-
