The Music You Want

Not only music, the whole world of music, but amusement comes to you on Columbia records. Grand opera and vaudeville, symphony orchestras and bands, the great singers of the world and the great instrumentalists; the worlds of dancing, singing, playing, opera and concert, as well as Educational and Children's music are all to be found in the Columbia record catalog and on records you will find here.

The long line of Columbia Grafonolas, including a really marvelous array of Period Designs, will give you the exact instrument you wish. The Columbia Grafonola is a sound reproducing instrument, with a history of infinite research, and an inflexible and painstaking effort to achieve perfection, as experiment and research develops it. The Grafonola today is an interpreter and reproducer of music, both human and instrumental, which has satisfied the greatest musicians and the keenest ears of critic and music lover alike.
