

SEELY MAKES GOOD AT DIFFICULT JOB

Lake County people who admire public officials who fill their offices ably and take pride in having every detail of their work done thoroughly and well will be gratified to learn that Ray Seely is candidate for re-election to the office of County Surveyor.

In any county the job is no "snap" and in a county like Lake in which so many public improvements must be under way constantly together with the vast amount of other work which falls to this important office, the task calls for the best man available. His early training, coupled with his later association with the office, especially his Mr. Seely for the place he asks to retain.

Seely's life has been filled with hard work and earnest endeavor. He was born near Guthrie Center, in Guthrie Co., Iowa, May 10, 1874. He attended the public schools of Guthrie Co. and Des Moines, Iowa. He then entered Highland Park college at Des Moines, but was permitted to spend only two years there as the death of his father forced him to leave college and assist in the support of his mother.

His first job was as messenger boy in a local freight office. Not content with the job as he found it he spent his spare moments studying short hand and typewriting. He became the local freight agent's stenographer and showed such skill that he was eventually told down the job for the trainmaster and division superintendent. He resumed his higher education, studying the college subjects which specializing in civil engineering and land surveying.

While employed in the office of the railroad superintendent he developed his course and showed such ability in this line that he was transferred to the office of the chief engineer. This work brought him a wealth of experience in preliminary surveys for railroad construction and the actual experience in construction. He began branching out into other lines and was accompanying municipal work such as large sewer systems, paving and city planning. Later he had entire charge of the construction work for the Indiana Harbor Ry., when built between Indiana Harbor and Duna Park and he also laid the

Combining Won't Rid Hair of Dandruff

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arsenic, apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

Do this tonight, and by morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arsenic at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work—adv.

first tracks for the Gary Steel mills. Mr. Seely was deputy county surveyor of Lake County in 1908 and 1909 and in the following year was elected as surveyor. In the time he has held the office he has always tried to run it to the best interest of the taxpayers. He believes the people will show their approval of his work done thoroughly and well in the election polls next fall. During the war when trained engineers were needed by the army, Seely enlisted and was assigned to an outfit of sappers. He was discharged in December, 1915, with the rank of Captain of Engineers and now holds the commission in the U. S. Reserve.

In spite of the preparation which he made for his life work Mr. Seely's education did not stop there. It is a constant thing with him. At his home, 12 Elizabeth street, Hammond, where he lives with his wife and twelve-year-old son, he has one of the finest collections of engineer's books to be found in a private library. A large part of his evenings are spent in studying the work of the eminent engineers and teachers. He is a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, Western Society of Engineers, American Society of Testing Materials and the American Association of Engineers. He is also a licensed and surveyor for Cook County, Ill.

COMMONER TAKES FIELD FOR NOMINATION

(SPECIAL REPORT BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS)
WASHINGTON, March 17.—"I am not a candidate," William Jennings Bryan told the International News Service up on his arrival here today from the South.

"I do not desire the nomination," he explained, "and do not expect any conditions to arise which will present the subject in the light of a duty, and in no other light would I be willing to consider it."

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT I. N. SERVICE)
WASHINGTON, March 17.—William Jennings Bryan arrived here today, en route for the San Francisco convention via New York, Boston, Indiana, Illinois, Nebraska, Los Angeles and points between.

The Commoner's arrival coincided with the final spasm of the treaty wrangle in the senate and before nightfall his friends predicted he will have swung the whole weight of his influence into the balance for ratification on the best terms possible, in direct opposition to the wishes of President Wilson, Senator Hitchcock and other leaders of the Democratic party.

Bryan is scheduled to speak in New York on Friday night at a dinner tendered him by his followers there. In a way this dinner will mark the beginning of his campaign for the Democratic nomination. But St. Patrick's Day in Washington finds him at locked horns with the administration, vehemently opposing what he denounces as the "farce" of a campaign based on the treaty of Versailles.

Bryan's chances of swinging enough Democratic senators his way to bring about the treaty's ratification is considered by both Democrats and Republicans here as the most forlorn of a destined to meet again in Nebraska, in a bitter fight for a place in that state's delegation to the Democratic convention, has behind him 22 Democrats, who, it is believed, will not be budged an inch even by the commoner's eloquence, and with them, it is claimed, are sufficient "irreconcilables" to prevent the passage of the pact as amended by the Lodge reservations.

BRILLIANT JURIST IS FOUND DEAD BY SON

Jana. The deceased was the son of Judge Hiram A. Gillett, who came to Valparaiso from New York state in 1861 and who until his death in 1902 was one of the leading attorneys of Northern Indiana. He also served as judge of the old Court of Common Pleas in Porter county.

Judge John H. Gillett was born September 18, 1860, while the family resided in New York. He received his early education in the Valparaiso common schools and took advantage of all the opportunities which were afforded him to secure a fine education and training for the practice of law.

He was admitted to the bar in 1881 and immediately attracted attention as one of the best grounded men of his profession.

IN 1887 he was appointed assistant attorney general of Indiana and held that office until 1891 when he came to Hammond and took up the practice of law in partnership with the late Peter Crumpacker. Upon the resignation of Judge Johnson from the circuit bench, Mr. Gillett was appointed to serve the unexpired term. This was early in 1892. He was twice elected to the office, holding it until 1902.

He was appointed one of the judges of the Supreme court in 1902 and served as Chief Justice from 1903 until 1908. As Chief Justice he perpetuated his name by handing down to posterity some of the clearest and best decisions ever rendered by a justice in any state.

In January, 1908, he returned to Hammond and resumed his law practice. He and his son, Gerald, formed a partnership for a while and when the younger man had shown that he had profited by the teachings of his father and was fitted to hold his own in the profession the partnership was broken up. The son became affiliated with W. J. McKiever and Frank Dorsey, while the father and G. B. Sheerer became partners.

Ever since the death of Mrs. Gillett the judge has been failing. They were both companions and were always in each other's society and happy.

He leaves one son, Attorney Gerald Gillett of Hammond, and a sister, Mrs. Minnie Miller, of Chesterton.

A public funeral will be held Thursday. The cortege will start from the Hammond undertaking parlors at 1:30 o'clock and proceed to the Presbyterian church where the service will be held. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery. The body will be in state at the Hammond funeral chapel and may be viewed by friends until the time of the funeral. Pall bearers at the funeral will be V. S. Reiter, W. J. McKiever, Lawrence Cox, J. K. Robinson, George Sheerer, L. J. Bomberger.
