Deer Plunges Through Sky-light of Snowed-In Home

(STAFF CORRESPONDENT I. N. SERVICE)
LENOX, Mass., April.—The recent snow has made it possible for snow-bound farmers to get into town and tell some marvelous stories of deep drifts. Edward Witherow, a farmer on October Mountain, says his house was covered from doorstep to rooftop with snow and that he tunneled to his barn from a second story window to save his stock from starvation. One day a deer trying to cross the drift that covered his home, fell through the sky-light into the house and Witherow says the family had fresh meat for the first time in several weeks.

Couple Adopt 7 Children.

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE)
LOVELAND, Col., April.—No race sulcid tendencies will be noticeable in the family of James C. Anderson, even if the stork does fail to stop at the ranch door of his mountain home, west of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have formally adopted the seven children of Mrs. Charles C. Hacker, who died recently. The children range in age from 1 to fourteen years. Their father is living, but poor health prevents him from properly caring for the brood.

Sirloin Steak 20 Cents a Pound—In Panama

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE)
BOSTON, April.—Go to Panama for low cost of living. Sirloin steak sells for 20 cents a pound in a restaurant, automobile rides all over town cost only 10 cents, and washerwomen ask merely 10 cents an hour. Thus does Army Field Clerk James H. Hagan, of Cambridge, write to his Boston friends, who are complaining of the H. C. of L. And they have the six-hour day down in Panama, adds Hagan.

Couple Escape Drowning When Houseboat Sinks

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE)
PAWTUCKET, R. I., April.—Mr.

and Mrs. Walter Harris barely escaped drowning when the houseboat they were living in was sunk in the Pawtucket River. A log, propelled by the powerful torrents resulting from the rain, rammed a large hole in one corner of the craft. Fifteen minutes later the boat was resting on the river bottom with part of its roof protruding and the Stars and Stripes flying above.

The couple were roused from their slumbers when water rushed into the cabin. They snatched a few articles of clothing and clambered to a nearby wall.
