10 Cents and Worth It!

Table of Contents:

City Life Section.

RING LARDNER—Top-notch humorist in America, sends to his old Chicago cronies a few recipes. For what? You should ask. You know me, Al.

AMONG US MORTALS—By W. E. Hill, inimitable crayon cartoonist and master of clever satire. He pictures the queer traits of folks you meet every day.

ASHTON STEVENS—Alice Brady tells him what she'd do if she had to dress on "that silly press agent's five a week." Read Stevens' version of the quarrel.

TAD, the man who made over the English language so it could be understood. Read his picture story, "Home—That's All," and take a lesson.

OPPER, creator of Happy Hooligan, smashes the old-timer through a new series of adventures with his pal, Mr. Dubb, in a side-splitting cartoon.

BUGS BAER is so literally bugs that he's quit putting his nickname in quotes. In his story Sunday Mose on prohibition says: "When they says light wines, let me do the weighin'." You'll like Mose.

Editorial Section.

ARTHUR BRISBANE'S editorial, What happens to the great man of the moment and why you should shine while you may. A picture for ambitious men, and women, too. Mr. Brisbane is the highest paid editorial writer in the world.

WINSOR McCAY—There's a sermon with the preaching left out in every picture he draws.

CONAN DOYLE tells of his adventure with a rowdy "ghost." He cites it as an authentic case in his discussion of the influence of spiritualism on mortal mysteries.

SIR AUCLAND GEDDES, new ambassador to the United States from Great Britain, tells what's needed for a better understanding between the two nations.

FLORENCE WALSH'S latest fashions for women, sketched from gowns just unpacked by most exclusive importers.

SEUMAS MACMANUS, best known Irish writer, tells what the developments in Ireland really mean.

MAXIMILIAN HARDEN, famous editor of Die Zukunft, most powerful writer in Germany, discusses the Anglo-Japanese trade alliance; sees specter of dead idols fighting to rule the world which is seeking to progress.

DR. W. H. BALLOU, noted scientist and writer, tells of the discovery of the germ of insanity.

GUGLIELMO FERRERO—Famous Italian historian, whose opinion carries more weight with European diplomats than any lay writer in the world.

Contests.

In addition to the Doll and Limerick contests, we will also have the following:

TWO SHETLAND PONIES FREE—Sunday is the day when Marcelline will wear the costume which is to decide the winners of these two circus ponies.

NEW $100 PRIZE OFFER—For sporting page readers.

50 BASEBALL PASSES—Free to Sox and Cub fans.

16 Page Color Magazine Section.

ELINOR GLYN—New logic of love and happiness from the author of "Three Weeks." Read her gripping dialogue with a troubled wife.

HOWARD CHANDLER CHRISTY—Most famous American artist contributes a full-page drawing as the frontispiece.

HOW MULTIMILLIONAIRE SHONTS WAS "VAMPED"—The Duchess de Chauvines pleads with her father to break with Mrs. Thomas—only to have him hold up the so-called "Vampire" as a model for his daughters.

TURNING UGLINESS INTO BEAUTY—Interesting experiment in the milliner's art that made life worth while for Mary Dean, "the homeliest girl."

WHO KILLED ENID CARLTON?—What the gamekeeper had to tell in the gripping serial detective story, "The Mystery of the Summer House."

THE PARCEL POST BABY MYSTERY—Who put infant girl into the mails at Spokane, Wash., for trip across the continent and why?

BETRAYED BY A PERFUME BOTTLE—Another chapter in the love triangle of a man modiste, his alert wife and a pretty model.

THE JEANNE DE KAY DEATH PUZZLE—Even the discovery of her body in the cold waters of Lake Michigan has failed to clear the mystery of this Chicago girl's disappearance.

A CHINAMAN DISCOVERED AMERICA!—Science uncovers evidence of an Asiatic invasion 1,500 years before Columbus.

A ONE-ACT PLAY COMPLETE—George Middleton, noted playwright, contributes a problem story that two persons can act.

LADY DUFF-GORDON (LUCILE)—Foremost creator of fashions in the world, in a full-page illustrated article, presents the newest Paris ideas in intimate tea gowns.

MRS. CHRISTINE FREDERICK—Distinguished authority on household efficiency tells housewives how to maintain a better kitchen.

MARY LEE SWAN—Well-known writer and lecturer on cooking, makes preparation of the evening meal a delight with her scientifically tested recipes.

DRESS PATTERNS—Seven fashionable designs that will help the home dressmaker with her own and her children's clothes.

Comic Section.

JIGGS AND MAGGIE—By George McManus. Jiggs spends the night on a billiard table—just for trying to help a friend.

"MR. AND MRS. —"—By Clara Briggs. What to do after you fail even to notice your wife's new hat. "You say it—I stutter."

"THE KATZIES"—By Knerr. The kids stir up a sea of trouble that starts the Captain on his way.

CINDERELLA SUZE—By Jack Callahan. "Little Jimmie's" daddie, James Swinnerton, is down with the flu and will be back next week. Suze is a girl comic and you'll like it.
