FISHING SEASON AT HAND

These are the days of real Housler sport, the river banks and the lake will soon be lined up with men who love to fish and J. W. Millikan, the veteran State street sporting goods man, who is authority on all matters pertaining to the out-of-door life, says the fish will soon begin to bite faster than a corker can jump out of the water and land a big, say, fishing is one of the great American pastimes and from the way J. W. is selling fishing tackle and such you would think everyone in town is going to fish. Why even the old timers are getting the fever—there is Ted Deady, known around these parts for high ups forty years says, "boys, give me the pole and line and I'll make you youngsters sick at landin' 'em you won't know you're fishin'." Then there's the crabs coming up from the river bottoms, running up their fishing supplies and its the same story with all of 'em. The fish have had such a long sleep this winter when they get their lamps on they will swallow bait hook, line and fisherman. By the way, the Millikan fishing emporium is all fussed up these days, so that the old timers would hardly know the place. All new fancy show and well cases and the largest stock of sporting goods that ever came to town. He has cameras, so you can go home and have your picture taken by Max or your best girl. When it comes to window dressing, J. W.'s son Walt, who just returned from France and Ft. Wayne, can put the o in window and the g in dressing. He sure is there and if the calendar does

Frank Frisch, a rookie, has been started at third base by Manager McGraw of the Giants in the re-making of his infield. Right off the bat the youngster is making fandom forget the temperamental Heinie Zimmerman.

The World of Sport

The triangular track meet scheduled for tomorrow afternoon at Morris park won't be triangular after all. Whiting high school has dropped out, according to a letter received by Coach Veenker of Industrial High. East Chicago, however, will send its track men and the return of Murphy, fast sprinter and high jumper of considerable ability, to the East Chicago fold means harder sledding for Hammond. The meet will be called at 1 p. m.

The elimination of Whiting makes it a dual meet, but if East Chicago should follow Whiting's example and withdraw from the contest one might refer to them as a singular meet. Hammond alone would indeed provide a singular meet.

Tomorrow afternoon will usher in racing at Lexington, Ky. One of the big events will be the Kentucky Derby, May 5, when it is expected fully 60,000 people will attend.

Lexington hall park, home of the St. Paul American Association club, will be enlarged from its present seating capacity of 10,000 to 15,000 persons. New bleacher seats will number 2,500. The additions will make the St. Paul park the largest in the circuit.

When spring football practice at Indiana University begins next week fifteen of the huskiest candidates that have been seen at Indiana since the days of Phoebe Messick and Homer Dutter will don grid tugs for the first time.

Indiana University will have a swimming team next year to compete with Big Ten teams.

Well, it probably cost Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion, a little expedition to K. O. Alvie Miller in the seventh round of their scheduled ten-round scrap at Lorain, O. Wednesday night. Which only goes to show that Johnny can do it when he wants to.

Wabash valley will have a big day at Kokomo, May 2. You've got to hand it to the demonstrators for novel ideas in sports. In the morning the school will have its oratorical contests and in the afternoon a track meet. It'll be a test of wind in both events, anyway.

Golf players are happy once more in Massachusetts. A test case to determine the legality of Sunday golf has been noise pressed by the district attorney.

The Central League this year will be only a four-club circuit—composed of Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Muskegon, and Ludington.

'Blink' McCloskey Lost; Paris Fears Foul Play

PARIS, April 24.—"Blink" McCloskey, an American pugilist, who for the last nine or ten years has been prominent in flat circles of Europe, has been missing since March 8, and friends fear he may have been the victim of foul play. The torso of a man found in the Seine just outside of Paris recently has been viewed by men well acquainted with McCloskey and they have expressed the opinion the body may be that of the missing pugilist. McCloskey left his hotel on March 8, having $500 on his person, which he told Jimmy Coulton and "Ric" Mackay, also American fighters, he intended to convert into francs.

Levinisky Has Backers In Tilt With Melchior

Battling Levinisky will not be without backers when he steps into the ring in Kenoza Wednesday night with Tony Melchior. Chicago friends of Bill Brennan have received the tip to string with the Battler and already Levinisky money is making its appearance. Brennan sent word from the East that the Battler should coop before the ten rounds are over. Levinisky admirers contend that Melchior has only his wicked punch and that he will be unable to connect on a fast, clever ring general like Levinisky. Tony's manager scoffs at the idea that his charge possesses only a punch. He says Melchior is fast, clever and carries a wonderful head. Fred Valentine will bet $100 to $400 that Melchior lands a knockout.
