NOTICE TO SUBSCRIBERS.
If you fail to receive your copy of The Times as promptly as you have in the past, please do not think it has been lost or was not sent on time. Remember that the mail service is not what it used to be and that complaints are general from many sources about the train and mail service. The Times has increased its mailing equipment and is striving earnestly to reach its patrons on time. Be prompt in advising us when you do not get your paper and we will act promptly.

HE OUGHT TO KNOW.
William Gibbs McAdoo, late of the Doug and Mary combines, would serve his country much better if he would explain how it comes that we have such heavy federal taxes. He was in office when money was being thrown around like so much water.

DON'T PAMPER YOUR BOY.
The boy has been a problem to his elders ever since the first sun-tanned—and hickory tanned—son of man ran barefoot through the primeval wilderness. And in nearly every period of history fathers have used much the same means of rearing their young. Men have always experienced sympathy akin to pity for the boy born "with a silver spoon in his mouth." It has been part and parcel of existence that lads who have had to rough it and fight their way have made the stronger, more self-reliant and companionable men. The Spartans took lads of seven from their mothers, made them wear the same scanty clothing summer and winter, sleep on the bare ground and train ceaselessly in the hard art of war. The Puritans trained their boys hourly by the Book. The fathers of today were reared by rule—and rod.

One cannot but look askance, then, at the prevailing custom of pampering the boy. Perhaps it is the price of prosperity that on every hand there are evidences that the lads of today are being humored more than those of any other generation of Americans. Everywhere chaps of 10 and 12 and the early teens are spending money with an abandon that would have amazed those of a decade ago. And the worst of it is that in most cases the money has been handed out by indulgent parents to youngsters who know all too well that there is more where it came from.

Many fathers who look back in pleasant reminiscence to their boyhood, when five cents was worth working an hour to earn and a quarter was a veritable fortune, will regret the present fashion. They will remember the days when there were no movies, no bicycles, no gymnasiums, no clubs, nor any of the other myriad interests that have become a part of everyday experience; and they will remember that without these alluring devices they had rolicking times together. They cannot but look with a bit of pity upon the lot of children who, in this highly organized age, often are miserable without the stimulus of expensive games and totally lack within themselves the power of entertainment and interest.

Myriad organizations are at work to reclaim so-called bad boys. But in the meantime the good boys are literally going to the devil in droves because they are being humored and pampered by indulgent parents. The father who in his school days wore patches on his pants—and sometimes patches on the patches—would not think of permitting William to be seen among his playmates with a torn stocking; he would fear that it would reflect upon his ability to keep William clothed.

So William rapidly becomes Willie. And the father who worked enthusiastically for a bit of spending money will not for a minute permit "his boy" to work for wages; he's quite capable of earning all his family needs himself, thank you! So he gives the chappie an abundant allowance without ever a thought of the near certainty that the lad will grow up selfish and a snob.

If democracy is to continue as the dominant inspiration of the nation, it must be taught in future generations from boyhood, and not merely by precept and example, but by experience. The boy who is permitted to rough it with his fellows will never lose his innate democracy. The boy who is taught the worth of money by being encouraged to work for it and permitted to spend it or save it at his discretion will never be a spendthrift or an aristocrat. But the boy who is being pampered—poor chap—has a hard row ahead when he goes from under the parental roof. Making it easy for the lad is making it hard for him.

WOULD CHECK SOCIALISM.
Speaking at the Rhode Island Republican State convention, Congressman Simeon D. Fess, chairman of the republican congressional committee, condemned the "marked socialism of President Wilson" and warned the country against the "trend toward nationalization of industries as suggested in his partiality to the soviet plan." "The republican party," said Representative Fess, "believes that the progress of a nation depends upon the freedom of initiative in the exercise of talent in invention and discovery. It condemns the marked socialism of President Wilson, who, under the stress of war, has extended government activities to cover all productive agencies and who has called to Washington the strongest polypot of socialists ever invited into positions of responsibility. We deplore his effort to destabilize the business of the country and warn the nation against the trend toward nationalization of industries as suggested in his partiality to the soviet plan."

A NEW YORK magistrate has gone on record as declaring that "love is insanity." What's the matter with hailing that magistrate before a lunacy commission?

BOILED DOWN, the conclusions of the Chicago scientist who declares that men are degenerating are that "the female of the species is more deadly than the male." Kipling beat him to it.

AND THE next thing we know the circus posters may be in full bloom.

TURN ABOUT is fair. Mexico complains that a Mexican was killed in Colorado.

MEN'S COLLARS are to be higher this summer. This is not a fashion note; it's a market item.

WILL NOT FURTHER BLOCKADE GERMANY

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE)
SAN REMO, Italy, April 24.—Premier Lloyd George and the allies are not considering a renewal of the blockade of Germany, it was learned this afternoon from a source close to the Supreme council. It was declared that the allied statesman do not desire to blockade Germany, because they hold that "Germany has been starved long enough."
If Germany is guilty of further breaches of the treaty terms, means to enforce the treaty will be found, it was declared, but the nature of such measure will depend upon the extent of Germany's non-fulfillment.

CROWN PRINCE TO ACT FOR FATHER

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE)
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 24.—Advices received at the Japanese Chamber of Commerce here said that on account of the indisposition of the emperor of Japan, the crown prince will act for him at the formal reception of the English ambassador, who has just arrived in Japan. The advices received by the chamber said that the emperor was now at his country palace. The cable did not indicate that the emperor's condition is serious and said the crown prince has been delegated only to act at the diplomatic reception on account of the absence of his father from Tokyo.

Something for the ear of the custom-tailored man

The custom-tailor's prices are rather high this season, eh? But you are almost decided to pay the fancy price.

Why? Just because you make the error of guessing that you cannot be fitted in ready-to-don clothes.

Give heed to this. You can be fitted as well in ready-to-fit clothes as in any the custom-tailor can make for you.

And here is something else—you can step in here, select the pattern and coloring and fabric that you like, the kind of a model best suited to you and see exactly how you look in the clothes—all within ten minutes' time. No taking a chance—no waiting—no time-wasting try-ons.

More—you can get the same quality of material and tailoring and far, far smarter style for two-thirds of the money the custom-tailor would ask of you. That's important these days. More—if the suit, in any way, fails to satisfy you, bring it back and get your money.

Could anything be fairer than that? Will the custom-tailor make you the same offer?

Better respond to the urge—today, at lunch time. Learn the modern clothes-getting way. Join the great contented army in
